British Also Idi's Guests Wednesday

NAIROBI, Kenya — Ugandan President Idi Amin is apparently summoning Britons as well as U.S. citizens to a meeting with him Wednesday at Entebbe airport, reports reaching Nairobi said today.

British diplomats in both Kampala, the Ugandan capital, and Nairobi said they were checking reports that members of the 200-strong British community were ordered to attend with the 240 Americans

Britain severed relations with Amin's regime in August, 1976, but two British diplomats still handle British interests out of the French embassy in Kampala.

Amin earlier moved his projected meeting with the Americans from a conference hall to Entebbe airport, delayed it from today until Wednesday and warned the United States not to emulate its Israeli allies with an attempted commando rescue.

Meanwhile, a spokeman for Amin denied Sunday a Nairobi newspaper report that a Cuban military delegation had arrived secretly in Uganda last week to assess the country's military needs.

The Daily Standard said Saturday it had learned that a Cuban team headed by a Gen. Francisco Cabrera had gone to Uganda.

The Ugandan presidential spokesman said there is no truth to the report.

In Washington, President Jimmy Carter said the U.S. government is watching the situation "closely, trying not to upset President Amin, and trying to take advantage of his good wishes that he has expressed."

Amin said no U.S. citizens will be allowed to leave the country and ordered the meeting Friday, two days after he said the United States, Britain and Israel were involved in a plot to overthrow him.

The official radio also warned Ugandans to be alert for signs of an invasion. It said after the Israeli raid on Entebbe last July, the presence of U.S naval vessels off the Kenyan coast "must be taken seriously."

The United States said the nuclear-powertd aircraft carrier Enterprise and its escorts are cruising in the Indian Ocean off East Africa following a goodwill visit to Kenya last week.

In Dar-es-Salaam, Uganda's former president Milton Obote runs an intelligence service on Uganda and Amin. From what he's heard from spies and reports coming out of Uganda, he is convinced that Amin's tactic behind the gathering of the Americans is to create a smokescreen to conceal a massive massacre of Acholi tribesmen. FORGOTTEN AND ALONE . . . WAITING

Most are relatively happy but there are many who exist in isolation from the outside world, lonely and afraid, sitting in their rooms waiting to die.

Many come to Canada's retirement capital hoping to find peer friendship. Instead, they find they are simply old people whose past accomplishments are unknown and forgotten. Times reporter Paul Nicholson reports on their plight in the first of a two-part series today on page 9.

Attempt On Queen

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (UPI) — An off-duty policeman overpowered a man with a loaded air rifle today shortly before Queen Elizabeth was due to leave Parliament House.

Police said off-duty detective Bill Hooper, who has signed off 30 minutes earlier to watch the Queen open the second session of Parliament, grabbed the 28-year-old man from behind as he pulled the rifle from a gun case.

Hooper wrestled with him while other police pushed their way through the crowd of an estimated 10,000 persons.

The man had taken up a position about 30 feet from the barricades outside Parliament House and about 65 feet from where the Queen was due to pass after leaving the building.

Chief Inspector Roger Cotterill, security co-ordinator for the royal visit to Wellington, said:

"The man had already been spotted by our surveillance headquarters and police were quietly moving toward him when Detective Hooper arrested him."

Cotterill said the man was carrying a .22 air rifle.

"The rifle was loaded with a pellet and at close range it would be almost lethal," he said

VANCOUVER (CP) — The International Woodworkers of America has outlined 1977 contract proposals including a wage increase of $1 an hour which would mean a 30-per-cent package increase for 42,000 forest workers in B.C.

"We are going to negotiate in line with the economics of our industry," Jack Munro, the union's regional president, said after a three-day contract conference. "In our section, the economics are very good."

Munro said housing starts in the United States, a major B.C. lumber market, are improving and forest companies are showing more confidence.

He also said many union proposals such as pension benefits, health and safety and job reclassification are excluded from federal anti-inflation guidelines.

Other contract proposals include a master agreement for coast and interior adjustment improvements, guaranteed annual earnings, pension upgrading and a plan to allow research into health matters by the union.

The union also proposes joint investigation of industrial democracy — worker participation in company decisions.

Munro estimated the proposals amount to about $3 an hour. Under the agreements that expire in June, the average package hourly rate is $10.20, and the base rate is $7.01.

Negotiations for the new contract are expected to begin in late March, and Munro predicted a "difficult negotiating year."

"If the industry is concerned about their employees I think the chances of a strike are pretty remote," Munro said.

The union leader said the master agreement, pensions and the guaranteed annual income are extremely important and the union will only accept a one-year agreement.

The IWA hopes to have the specifics of a guaranteed income plan worked out by the time negotiations begin.

Munro estimated that by levying a cent an hour from employers for health research, a $500,000-a-year fund could be created which would be administered by the union.

He said northern and southen interior negotiators will be asked to join the coast negotiations this year, rather than settle separate agreements as has previously been the case.

There was little immediate reaction from the employers.

Fish Packer Strike Starts

The United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union have declared a strike in a pay dispute affecting tendermen — although there is no work to be striking at this time.

Union president Jack Nichol said the herring season is normally under way at this time but because of a low roe content in herring, the season is at least one week away.

However, the fishermen will press their strike in hopes of a quick solution to the issue.

The union and the B.C. Fisheries Association have agreed on new rates for fishermen at $283 a ton for gillnetters and $143.50 a ton as the crew's share on seiners but the fishermen will honor all picket lines of 500 tendermen who have not yet come to terms. (Picture, Page 2.)

Tendermen, who handle the transfer of fish from the fishings grounds to canneries, are asking an interim increase before the major contracts are negotiated for the salmon season in April.

The union asked for a six per cent interim increase. The association countered with a three per cent interim increase offer but has pressed its view that the tendermen should wait until a master contract for salmon is negotiated in April.

Union canneries were picketed today in Vancouver but there were no picket lines at B.C. Packers in Victoria as of 11 a.m.

Nichol said he would be in Victoria Tuesday to see if a picket line should go up here.

Talks were continuing today in hopes of resolving the dispute.

The strike began at 2 p.m. Sunday and all union workers honored the picket lines.

Some non-union fishermen went to sea but herring are not ripe for catching in many areas. The herring are caught for their roe (mass of eggs) which is shipped to Japan where it's considered a delicacy.

B.C. Nurse Strike Notice

British Columbia's 2,600 government - employed registered nurses will serve 72-hour strike notice Tuesday, union spokesman Jerry Miller announced today.

"We have no choice but to serve strike notice because the Government Employee Relations Bureau has rejected our request for binding arbitration," he said.

The nurses staff all the public health units in B.C. as well as eight major psychiatric hospitals, including Glendale Hospital in Saanich.

The strike notice is going to Mike Davison, chief negotiator for the Government Employee Relations Bureau by registered letter today and if received by Davison Tuesday, as expected, it would take effect in 72 hours, which would be some time Friday.

"This does not mean we will immediately go on strike," Miller said.

"We are repeating our request for binding arbitration and we are willing to meet Mr. Davison if he is prepared to sit down and begin serious negotiations. The key word there is serious. We have been in mediation for six months and nothing has been achieved."

The nurses sent Davison an ultimatum on Feb. 25 that they would serve strike notice

Supertanker Law To Top Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Supreme Court today agreed to review a Washington State law limiting the size of oil tankers on Puget Sound and other inland waters.

The justices said they will study a ruling by a three-judge federal court in Seattle that the state law is pre-empted by federal statures and presents an undue burden on interstate commerce.

Governor Dixy Lee Ray and other state officials asked the court to reverse that decision to protect scenic Puget Sound and the Gulf Island's, described as "resource of priceless value."

The court's eventual decision could carry considerable impact for other states with major ports.

Atlantic Richfield Co., which owns and operates an oil refinery at Cherry Point of Georgia Strait, and Seatrain Lines, Inc., a shipbuilding and ship operating firm, successfully sued the state in a challenge of the 1975 law.

The three-judge panel struck down the law last November, but state officials won permission from the supreme court to continue enforcing it pending the state's appeal.

The lower court ruled that the state pollution protection measure, drafted to "decrease the likelihood of oil spills," is pre-empted by the federal Ports and Waterways Safety Act of 1972.

In its appeal to the supreme court, the state argued that the federal statute "does not express a clear and manifest purpose to pre-empt state regulation."

U.S. DEFICIT WORST EVER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States suffered its worst monthly trade deficit in history in January as imports exceeded exports by $1.67 billion, the commerce department reported today.

Cold weather, which forced plant closings and hampered the movement of goods, was the major reason for the record deficit, the report said.

Seattle Blossoms with Our Daffodils

More than 2,000 Seattle residents were wearing Victoria daffodils today and 1,000 Tacoma citizens were due to get "pinned" Tuesday in a three-day Bloomin Blitz of Washington State.

Mayor Mike Young was up at 6 a.m. pinning daffodils on staff members at Seattle's Olympic Hotel, headquarters for the Victoria Chamber of Commerce tourist campaign.

At 10 a.m. he and Provincial Secretary Grace McCarthy strolled for three blocks handing out daffodils to pedestrians. At one point they climbed aboard a city bus and shook hands with the passengers and offered flowers.

They attended a two-hour briefing session Sunday night, conducted by Ald. Helen Beirnes and Dennis Eyolfson, in preparation for the flower blitz.

Eyolfson was up at 4:30 a.m. today organizing the early risers into teams to begin the flower assault.

First target, after the hotel staff, were the secretaries on their way to work. Teams of four went out at 8 a.m. and handed flowers to the secretaries, many of whom arrive for work at 8:30 a.m. The flowers contain a small banner reading: Victoria, Canada's best blooming city.

The teams went to major department stores at 9 a.m. to pin clerks on their way to work.

A series of television and newspaper interviews were being conducted featuring Young, McCarthy and chamber officials.

On Tuesday the team will head to Tacoma where an outdoor festival is planned to greet them at 10 a.m.

Bands and dancers will perform in honor of the visitors and organized by the Downtown Tacoma Association.

The chamber hopes the blitz will increase the flow of tourists, starting with the Victorian Days festival in May.

By TONY AVIRGAN
Manchester Guardian

DAR-ES-SALAAM — Former Ugandan President Milton Obote, Uganda's most eminent exile, spends much of his time grimly listening to Radio Uganda.

Dr. Obote is one listener who never smiles at the antics of Unganda's mercurial dictator, Field Marchal Idi Amin.

Obote and the small group of exiles clustered around him have become masters at reading between the lines of Radio Ugarda broadcasts. They are of the firm belief that an increase in clowning by Amin almost always coincides with an increase in the slaughter of Ugandans.

The Ugandan exiles in Tanzania are certain that the, on again-off again crisis currently raging around American residents in Uganda is a carefully calculated program aimed at diverting world attention from the slaughter of Acholi and Langi tribespeople.

The exiles listen to the radio and warn that the United States is in danger of allowing itself to be used in a cover up of continuing massacres.

When Radio Uganda announced Sunday that the meeting between Amin and the American residents has been postponed from Monday to Wednesday and the site changed from Kampalas International Conference Center to the airport at Entebbe, the exiles listend carefully and began their analysis.

Their conclusions, based on nothing more than an intimate knowledge of the way Amin operates, where that Amin, and not the American residents as stated by the radio, probably asked for the postponement and that the Entebbe airport site was probably chosen because Amin is worried about being attacked by aircraft from the U.S.S. Enterprise which is currently sitting off the Kenyan coast.

Obote

The exiles reason that Amin must have arranged the postponement "in order to keep this thing going as long as he can."

Exiles who had worked with Amin in Obote's government and under him after the 1971 coup, all agreed that Amin "must be worried" by the presence of the Enterprise. "We'll be nice to the Americans as long as that ship is in the area," predicted a prominent exile. "But once it leaves he'll begin his get tough-get nice game just like he did in the past with the British."

The exiles, some of whom had served in Amin's government until a week ago, said that the Uganda president has been "very worried" about being attacked ever since the Israeli raid on Entebbe airport last July.

Following the Israeli raid, the exiles said, Amin had large numbers of anti-aircraft guns placed around the Entebbe airport. The exiles speculated that fear of an American commando raid aimed at getting the American residents out during Wednesday's meeting was the motivating factor behind the change in site.

The Ugandan exile community in Tanzania have often been accurate in predicting what Amin's next move will be. Often the exiles are aided by documents smuggled out of Uganda on a regular basis.

Obote is the most devoted of these distant chroniclers of events in Uganda. But the information he gathers rarely gets beyond the gates of his heavily guarded house. Rules agreed upon with his Tanzanian hosts forbid him from having contact with more than a handful of people. The Tanzanians are fearful that if Dar-Es-Salaam becomes a centre for statements from Obote, Amin might respond with his Soviet MIGs.

So Obote spends his days waiting for the time when he can return to Uganda, listening to the radion, reading, playing scrabble and engaging in long, serious conversations. He also spend considerable time agonizing over events at home.

Despite the fact that they are often penniless, the Ugandan exiles in Tanzania manage well, partly through help from other Ugandans and partly because they are often well educated and skilled. The people Idi Amin has driven out of Uganda have been, for the most part, the country's intellectual and economic elite.

Almost all of the Ugandans see their stay in Tanzania as temporary. One refugee has not allowed his wife to purchase curtain materials for six years because his is certain that as soon as the curtains are hung conditions will be such that the family can return home.

Rhodesia Extends Draft To 38-50-Year-Olds

FISH PACKER workers walk a picket line on Vancouver's fishermen's wharf as vessels lie idle in the background. Fishermen belonging to the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union are refusing to sign their contract or work until an agreement is settled with the B.C. Fisheries Association.

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI) — The Rhodesian government said today about 12,000 men aged 38 to 50 would soon have to join the armed forces. It raised the possibility of giving women a greater role in the war against black nationalist guerrillas.

In a statement explaining recently introduced call-up measures, Minister of Manpower and Social Affairs Rown Cowan said available information indicates there are about 12,000 men in the 38-50 age group with no military commitment.

"It is the intention that the majority of these who are found to be suitable should be required to join the police reserve," he said.

"Details of the role which they will undertake are at present being worked out by the commissioner of police."

Cowan said the intensification of the four-year-old war makes it incumbent on the government to ensure the best possible use of available manpower.

"There is room for improvement in this regard and the possibility of the greater use of our womenfolk cannot be overlooked," he said.

A rift energed in the governing Rhodesia Front Party over Smith's plan to open up parts of the economy to blacks as part of his "internal" settlement.

A senior party official Sunday attacked Smith's proposal to amend the land tenure act and open some patches of agricultural, industrial and commercial land to any Rhodesian able to afford it.

Deputy Party Chairman Harold Coleman said the plan violated the guiding principles of the party governing this country of 275,000 whites and six million blacks.

"The ship of state is rudderless because the government no longer stands on any principles," Coleman told the Rhodesian news agency IANA.

GREEK STRIKE SEEKS SIESTA

ATHENS (Reuter) — More than half the shops in Athens were closed today by a 24-hour strike of employees who object to a government decision to abolish their three-hour mid-day siesta.

The government, trying to streamline opening hours to general European standards, has imposed a 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. working day on a trial basis until May 15.

Many hopworkers object, saying this will upset many of their living habits.

It will cost them more to eat lunch, they say, as they could go home during the long break. The siesta also enabled them to catch up on their sleep after a late night or go for a swim in the summer.

unless he was prepared to submit the dispute to binding arbitration by 10 a.m. today.

"We have not heard from Mr. Davison since December," Miller said. "It is typical of the lack of communication from his office that we had to learn from the Victoria Times that Davison had rejected our request for binding arbitration."

Miller said the nurses will seek a meeting with provincial Labor Minister Allan Williams to outline the impasse in negotiations. The nurses are prepared to negotiate if invited by Davihon but he earlier had said an offer of 10 per cent over two years was a take-it-or-leave-it offer.

Miller said Davison indicated nurses should be prepared to go on strike if they reject the offer of 10 per cent. The Registered Nurses Association of B.C. has asked for 14 per cent, which they argue is the amount allowed under the Anti-Inflation Board regulations.

"We would not strike any hospital that does not have emergency care facilities," Miller said.

"The care of patients must come first. But an important second consideration is that we have 2,600 nurses working on 1975 salaries."

Earlier, Davison said the government was rejecting a demand by the nurses for compulsory arbitration because it was premature.

"If the nurses believe in the collective bargaining process they should not be pushing so hard for compulsory arbitration. That should be a last resort," he said.

U.S. Sets 200-Mile Limit

BOSTON — With one reactivated cutter, eight C-130 Hercules airplanes and five HH-52 helicopters added to its force, the U.S. Coast Guard begins policing a vast new area of ocean at midnight tonight.

From that moment, foreign fishing boats will need permits to toss nets within 200 miles of the U.S. coast under a new law extending the country's fishing jurisdiction. Previously, the United States restricted foreign fishing only within 12 miles of the coast.

"The Gold Rush mentality has hit," said Dan Arnold, a craggy-faced, bearded fisherman who heads the Massachusetts Inshore Draggermen's Association. "New boats are being built. New money and new people are going into fishing."

Twenty years ago the rich U.S. coastal fishing grounds were thought to be inexhaustible. But in the early 1960s foreign fishing fleets began systematically to harvest them with sophisticated trawlers, electronic equipment and huge factory ships to process the catch.

According to the U.S. National marine fisheries service, "overfishing off U.S. coasts has seriously depleted approximately 20 species and threatened others." In the Atlantic, haddock, herring, cod, halibut and mackerel catches have declined to less than 10 per cent of former yields.

"Five years ago I'd catch 700,000 pounds of fish a year," said Arnold, who skippers a 57-foot trawler off Marshfield, Mass. "Today I'm not doing more than half that.

"Twenty years ago, there was an abundance of fish. But the foreign fleets came in and slaughtered several year classes (generations). The fishing has never been the same."

Canada has already declared a 200-mile coastal fishing limit. Canada has also agreed with the U.S. to allow mutual fishing of each other's waters for the rest of this year while officials work out a permanent sharing arrangement.

Cuba extended its fishing waters to 200 nautical miles today and declared itself ready to open negotiations with neighboring countries, a clear reference to the United States which extends its fishing waters to 200 miles at midnight tonight.

Courtenay Teen-Ager Awarded Million-Dollar Myth

VANCOUVER (CP) — The million-dollar accident award to a Courtenay woman crippled as a teen-ager has turned out to be a million-dollar myth.

Corrine Lissell, 20, now living at the paraplegic centre on Clarke Drive in Vancouver, is one of 50 to 60 survivors of road accidents in British Columbia who became victims of drivers with minimum insurance.

Five years ago, Miss Lissell was a sports enthusiast, doing well at school, and working part-time as a waitress near her home in Courtenay.

Then she was injured when the motorcycle on which she was a passenger collided with a car making a left turn.

Tody, her left arm is paralysed and she is paralysed from the waist down. She is totally dependent on other people and will be for the rest of her life.

Three years ago, after lengthy litigation, the motorcycle driver and the car driver were found to be at fault. A B.C. Supreme Court jury awarded her $1.1 million in damages.

The award was a million-dollar myth.

Miss Lissell received $100,000 because each of the drivers had the then-minimum $50,000 third-party liability. After legal fees and other expenses, she was left with $82,000.

"To me, there is no blame or bitterness to be laid on anyone," she says. 'Nobody set out to injure me. There was an accident. It just happened that I was the one who got hurt.

"But $50,000, or even $100,000 isn't very much to start a whole new life, which most people have to do when they are in any way seriously injured, as I was. Sure, I can buy a house. But after that, what's left of the money will dwindle away and then I will have no security because I have no guarantee of a job."

Miss Lissell is not alone. Each year, there are 50 to 60 cases of road accident survivors in B.C. who are so seriously injured they must receive care for the rest of their lives.

"If we paid half a million or a million on each of these (50 or 60 claims) the cost of insurance to the motorist would be astronomical," says Sandy Sanderson, executive of Autoplan claims for the government-owned Insurance Corp. of B.C.

Beginning Tuesday, the minimum third-party liability in B.C. is $75,000, but Sanderson says that only five per cent of the drivers buy the minimum. He says two-thirds carry freom $200,000 to $500,000.

"When you consider that these people (injured) get free rehabilitation care from the government, then you have to say to yourself what is the real need (for large damage awards)?" asked Sanderson.

"What is the real need of these people in terms of money? You can't restore the use of limbs—you can't bring people back to life — all you can do is to provide some economic recompense that society feels is equitable.

"And that doesn't necessarily mean providing them with everything they think they need," he says.

Sanderson says the insurance industry is concerned about the trend toward million-dollar awards and because it means premiums will increase.

"We have to be fair and reasonable at all times, both to the insured and to the claimants, but at the same time we have a duty to look after the public's money," he adds.

"There is no question in mind that the defendants in these cases are being overprotected," says Edmonton lawyer Ronald Cummings, who specializes in damages claims.

"The defendant is well protected. The court looks first at what the man has in the way of insurance and second at what he can reasonable afford and still maintain his home and family life intact.

"in other words he is saying: 'Look, I'm sorry I crippled this person for life, but I don't have any money, so will you you be so kind as to let me off the hook' — and the courts are letting him off," says Cummings.

"He walks and talks and drinks and plays at the lakes, but the plaintiff is not quite so fortunate."

The highest personal damage award in Canada, $1.5 million, was made in 1975 to Gry Thornton of Prince George, who broke his neck during a high school physical education class in a gymnasium.

Last July, the B.C. Court of Appeal cut the award in half, but that decision is being appealed to the Supreme Court of Canada and is expected to be heard in July.

"Gary is one of the more fortunate qaudraplegics I have acted for, in that whatever the amount of the award is, it will be paid," says his lawyer Robert Cummings. "At least Gary will get his money. I have many other clients who won't."

Cummings says it is a tragedy that quadraplegics, whose mental facilities are intact, should be forced to live their lives in institutions, very often in hospitals for the senile

"The reality of the situation is that the courts are imposing prison terms or injured people," says Cummings. "Actually it's worse than prison, because at least a prisoner can walk around."

In a telephone interview from his hospital room, Thornton confirms that privacy is important.

"You lose a lot when you live in a place like this," he says.

He is looking forward to buying his own house and being able to pay for professional help to live in it.

He also owns a van, which he isn't using because he can't afford the insurance, but when he can, he intends to have the $1 million liability..

Miss Lissell, meanwhile, pays $383 a month for room and board and $50 a month for an Easter Seal bus transportation to Simon Fraser University where she is studying English and History. Her only other income is $100 a month from a separate insurance policy.

"The amount Carrine has received will not be sufficient to keep her," says Rod Taylor of Victoria, Miss Lissell's lawyer

"Eventually, she is likely to become a ward of the state, so one way or another, the government is presumably going to have to look after her."

"The money seems to go really fast," says Miss Lissell. "I'm afraid one day I'll wake up and it will all be gone."

She had a little joke she repeats occasionally: "Next time I'll try to get hit by a millionaire, or at least someone with $1 million insurance."

IMPORTANT NOTICE

On February 8/9 an incorrect version of this advertisement ran in the Victoria Times/Daily Colonist. That advertisement referred to a price of $4,295 or less for the Monarch Special Edition 2-door sedan, which is the manufacturer's suggested retail price exclusive of transportation and handling charges. The advertisement should have shown a price of $4,589, which includes transportation and handling charges. Similarly, the price of the 4-door sedan was shown as $4,388 excluding transportation and handling charges, but should have shown a price of $4,682.

MERCURY MONARCH Ford

$4,589 OR LESS

Manufacturer's suggested retail price for the Monarch Special Edition 2-Door Sedan including transportation and handling. Provincial taxes extra.

It's hard to believe that a car of such class comes with such a beautiful price. But it's true.

The Monarch Special Edition is an extra-affordable version of the famous, classic Monarch...with a very special personality. Distinctive. Debonair. Fashionable.

It has pleated vinyl seats, a richly carpeted interior, steel-belted radials and front disc brakes. And trim-size, classic styling, five passenger roominess and a ride engineered by the Mercury specialists—all in one.

To please even the most economy-minded owner, a 200 cubic inch engine coupled with a 4-speed manual overdrive transmission is standard.

And like every Monarch, the Special Edition has the Ford of Canada DURAGUARD SYSTEM with a no-charge, 36 month, unlimited mileage warranty against rust perforation. Your dealer has full details.

Seeing is believing. The Monarch Special Edition 2-Door Sedan is priced less than the lowest-priced 1976 model Monarch. And so is the Special Edition 4-Door Sedan, just $4,682 M.S.R.P. or less. At your Mercury dealer today.

Island Trust Powder

Taking away Gulf Islands planning and zoning functions from elected regional districts and turning them over to the partially appointed islands trust will be cynically interpreted as a Social Credit move to pay off the province's real estate lobby for its vociferous "free enterprise" support in the last election. But one of the Socreds' campaign promises was to decentralize control and give local councils responsibility for their home turf — a pledge that hasn't been totally honored, especially in hospital matters. Perhaps this transfer of responsibility is a fulfilment of a tattered campaign promise, but there is more here than meets the eye.

Preservation of the Gulf Islands' agricultural and recreational lands will now ultimately depend on appointed trustees. On individual island matters two of the government-appointed members plus one local member form a quorum. That means appointed members always have a two-to-one vote advantage over the local member. This feature of the Island Trust Act was built into the 1974 legislation by the NDP, and one can only speculate as to whether the Socreds will use it to their own advantage. At present the appointed members of the trust are all islanders who have shown judicious respect for the unique charm of their area. But we have seen how quickly the government knife can gut its inherited agencies when they don't toe the line of Socred philosophy. The recent wholesale firings on the land commission is the most flagrant example.

Perhaps this cynical speculation is unwarranted, but the government's example over the last 14 months is not reassuring. Are we to watch the 10-acre Gulf Islands freeze go by the boards as rapacious developers are given a free hand to put up tacky recreational suburbs? A Gabriola trustee has said that if all the half-acre lots on his island were developed it would result in a population of 100,000 or more. Realtors would have no difficulty selling off the islands to those in quest of a retirement home or a recreational cottage. Such a rape would initiate colossal sewage and servicing problems, not to mention the tarnishing, if not total ruination of the islands' charm.

While there are many British Columbians who did not agree with the previous NDP government, its land preservation policies were among the most enlightened in North America. It is obscene to watch how the current administration slowly draws and quarters these good acts in the name of local autonomy and growth. Another question here is the government's apparent contempt for regional districts. Municipal Affairs Minister Hugh Curtis says one of the main island complaints revolves around being overgoverned. It is better to be overgoverned by those you can periodically throw out of power than to be dictated to by Victoria.

For Curtis to say this move will result in more local autonomy is farcical. Local autonomy for whom? The real estate industry and the developers? If the Bennett administration is really serious about fostering local autonomy it would strengthen regional districts, whose members are democratically chosen, not take away responsibilities and hand them to a body where government appointees carry the clout. There should be a further amendment to its new legislation providing for the direct election of all island trustees. That would provide meaningful local input instead of the heavy cosmetics this government is currently powdering around.

Aid to Vietnam

Politicians of all parties performed an act of faith in man's basic humanity three years ago when a resolution authorizing the expenditure of $2.25 million for medical facilities in war-torn Vietnam was passed in the British Columbia legislature unanimously.

Similarly, everyone can be proud of Premier Bill Bennett's determination that the spirit and letter of that decision will be carried out in full, even though governments and political parties have changed places. The resolution was an act of generosity from one people to another, unencumbered by protocol or formality.

If the government wants ideas on how to spend the remaining money, it could do no better than ask the Unitarian Service Committee for advice.

Through USC donations made through the Times' annual Christmas campaign, Victorians and British Columbians have already helped the people of Vietnam to get back on their feet.

As a result of USC director Lotta Hitschmanova's visit there last May, a program of aid totalling more than $800,000 for the first year has been established. Most of it will be drugs and medical equipment, but a large amount of milk powder and clothing will also be sent.

The contrast with the snail's pace of the B.C. initiative (admittedly the province is new to this kind of thing) is striking. It should not take half as long as the whole Vietnam war lasted to decide how and where to spend vitally needed medical dollars. Get on with the job, quickly.

Closer Relations Coming

WASHINGTON — When Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau tells Jimmy Carter, as he did during the formal welcoming ceremonies outside the White house, he is sure "our continental neighborliness will continue to flourish," and when Carter responds by commenting that "we share the resources of a continent," it is tempting to dismiss both remarks as standard examples of diplomatic blah.

Without pyramiding a general theory upon a single incident, those remarks do deserve a second, closer look. Both Trudeau and Carter used, unselfconsciously which is the point, that verbal no-no of Canada-U.S. relations, "continental," of which the adjectival swear word is "continentalist."

Within the bounds of diplomatic propriety the U.S. administration could not have made it much plainer that it prays that Canada will stay together.

Missile Crisis?

Indeed, U.S. officials regard Quebec's possible separation as the "worst proposition put to the U.S. government since Nikita Khrushchev invited us to accept the emplacement of Soviet nuclear missiles in Cuba," or so at least writes New York Times columnist James Reston. Reston got a bit carried away, as did the Canadian Press, when Trudeau at his press conference made a joking, ironic, reference to Reston's column.

Few gifts, in international relations, come without a price tag. The U.S. now is owed an IOU by Ottawa.

How, is the question that intrudes, will that be paid? Will it be settled by Canada dropping its "third option" of seeking closer ties with other countries as a counter-balance to our intimacy with the U.S.? Trudeau was asked this at his press conference, and denied it.

Trudeau did, though, drop one hint of how things now may go. Ottawa and Washington, Trudeau observed, will have to decide this fall on the best way to get natural gas out of Alaska and the MacKenzie delta. "Canadians," said Trudeau, "want to be as helpful as we can to Americans in this respect where the issue is American gas from Alaska to American consumers via a pipeline through Canada. We don't want to be dogs in the manger."

A less conspiratorial explanation does exist, its starting point is that Carter and Trudeau got along famously. Whenever foreign statesmen meet, word is passed out later that their encounter was cordial and open, even if in fact they passed their time shouting obscenities at each other.

The cliche, this time, was true. The one-time peanut farmer and the one-time philosopher prince clicked. "The chemistry worked," as U.S. national Security adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski put it.

The personal relationship between the pair shouldn't surprise. Remember that the ex-peanut farmer's passion is classical music and that the ex-philosopher prince has won more elections than any democratic leader now in office. They share in common a disciplined intellect. Both absorb documents and reports like a mental vacuum cleaner so that, in private, they could debate obscure subjects like the Great Lakes water agreement with almost as much familiarity as their officials.

Carter, to the surprise of the Canadian delegation, was almost shy in the presence of Trudeau. Diffidence is also Trudeau's style. "They so out-humbled each other, asking questions in so low a voice," commented an official, "that it became damn near impossible to hear what they were saying."

The two leaders liked each other, they liked also what they thought the other stood for. At his press conference, Trudeau praised Carter's determination "to have American foreign policy based on a set of principles which I think are very good." With a touch of wistfulness, Trudeau added, "it is perhaps easier to do this at the start of a new administration."

The most interesting exchange during their private meeting was when Carter asked Trudeau's opinion of the public letter he sent a week ago to the leading Soviet dissident, Andrei Sakharov.

In reply, Trudeau, contrary to some published reports, did not question the "effectiveness" of Carter's act. Rather, Trudeau cited Canada's "quiet diplomacy" approach which had persuaded the Russians to allow some Soviet citizens to rejoin their families in Canada, but added he was not himself at all certain that Canada's tactic was the right one. In reply, Carter candidly explained that he had doubts about his high-profile approach because the U.S. can offer no tangible protection to Soviet dissident existed among his own officials.

Somewhere between the extremes of personal chemistry (heads of government after all don't negotiate the details of "irritants" like the Great Lakes Water Agreement) and of continentalism (Carter stretched our famous undefended border to "5,000 miles") the realities of Canada-U.S. relations will work themselves out.

Hooded Fang

Only two things are certain. Those relations will be closer than they have been in a long time. Relations between the U.S. and its hemispheric neighbors, Canada and Mexico, will be the "foundation-stone" of U.S. foreign policy, said Brzezinski at a press briefing. For that same reason, the consequences of this hand-shaking across the boarder will bear watching mroe closely, and more carefully, than has been the case for a long time.

Mind you, what official Washington thinks and what Americans think don't necessarily connect. The U.S. press, which knows its public, got excited by only one event during Trudeau's trip: Margaret Trudeau's appearnce in a short dress at a formal White House dinner. The press also was mildly interested in the fact that a Canadian writer — Mordecai Richler of Montreal — wrote the book Jacob Two-Two Meets the Hooded Fang of which the film version was screened at the White House for nine-year-old Amy Carter and which she pronounced, "very good." Amy however, did not say whether she considered Trudeau, or Quebec Premier Rene Levesque to be the Hooded Fang.

W. A. WILSON

Energy Crunch in 1985

OTTAWA — It was a civilized and desirable action by the government of Canada to order very thorough studies of all aspects of gas transporation from the Arctic before coming to any decison on pipeline proposals.

That is not in dispute even among the men and corporations behind these proposals. It must, however be said that this approach has been exceedingly time-consuming, involving the study of a vast mass of minutiae as well as large issues. There has been some evident overlapping in the studies.

Mr. Justice Tom Berger was instructed to study the terms and conditions that should be imposed on a pipeline project, having in mind its social, environmental and economic impact. He was appointed back in 1974 and since then he has listened to more than 1,000 witnesses in informal hearings in the north in 35 separate communities, 200 more in Yellowknife and another 400 in 10 different cities in southern Canada. That is the micro approach with a vengence.

The National Energy Board has, among other aspects of the pipeline proposals, already studied financial questions and on March 1 opens its hearings on the environmental and public interest aspects of the proposals.

It will not reach the vital question of Canada's energy supplies and requirements, as fuels from the Arctic affect this crucial question, until mid-April. By lengthening its sitting hours, however, the board hopes to conclude its hearings by the end of May. Then it must weigh the evidence of its latest hearings — it presumably has already given consideration to earlier evidence — and make a recommendation for the government.

Canada must decide if and how to build northern gas pipeline.

Seven Tons of Paper

As to how detailed these studies are and have been, the action of one applicant provides a fair clue. Arctic Gas, a consortium of companies, chartered an airplane to deliver seven tons of documentation to Ottawa and Washington after it made its formal applicaion in 1974.

An implicit deadline for decision-making is involved because one of the major proposals, that of Arctic Gas, is to transport both American supplies from Prudhoe Bayin Alaska and Canadian from the Mackenzie delta in the same pipeline. The line would be built by commercial interests, the consortium of oil and gas companies behind it, but it would, in effect, be a joint Canadian-American project.

Perhaps because of the nature of the drawn-out hearings so far, publicity has been overwhelmingly tilted towards controversy over the social and environmental aspects of the projects, which are indeed important.

It will, nonetheless, be a relief when the National Energy Board reaches the critical supply and requirement question in the spring because much of the discussion has been conducted against an utter unrealistic background. By now a far better over-all perspective is required. That is the only way that the current imbalance of emphasis can be corrected.

Canada faces some brutal truths in the energy field and there is little evidence that these are being met with much sense of urgency.

Canada is rapidly approaching a period when its own production of energy will not meet its consumption. The range of possible developments is limited. James Bay, which is still far from the power production stage, is the last of the gigantic hydro developments possible unless Quebec and Newfoundland can come to some rational agreement on the transmission of power from expansion of hydro electric production in Labrador.

Thermal production of power, at today's oil prices, is very costly, as Nova Scotia has been finding. So is nuclear power. This year's stiff price increases by Ontario's Hydro reflect these realities. Oil production in western Canada, about 700 million barrels as recently as 1973, has already fallen to an estimated 550 million this year.

We still export some oil but the cost of our net imports of crude oil this year will have a marked influence on an adverse balance of payments already so large that it causes, or should cause, acute concern.

So far, there seem to be only three new sources of oil and gas for this country, within its own borders. The Alberta tar sands are one, but development is in a very early stage. The petroleum industry believes the geological formations off the Labrador coast are favorable but, because of water depths and ice conditions, difficult and costly to explore and, perhaps, to exploit. Significant gas reservoirs have been found in the MacKenzie delta but so far in quantities too small to justify an all-Canadian Mackenzie Valley pipeline.

This is why there is interest in bringing gas from Prudhoe Bay south in the same pipeline.

The Beaufort Sea is regarded as highly promising, although difficult, but if gas were found there it could be transported south in conjunction with that from Alaska and the Delta. There are large quantities of gas in some of the Arctic islands but transportation problems are so severe that exploitation is far from imminent.

Only Serious Now

Figures currently in use will certainly be tested by the National Energy Board when it reaches the crucial phase of its hearings but one estimate is that by the mid-1980s, which are not far away, we will face an energy shortage equivalent to 500 million barrels of oil annually. Depending on international prices, it would cost from $7 to $11 billion annually to import that much. It is eight years from now until 1985. It is not likely that Canada can expand its export trade so rapidly that it will be able to finance a bill like that and bring its present international payments deficit under control.

About 20,000 native people, Indians and Inuit, live in the Mackenzie delta and the valley of that river. Their legitimate interests demand careful and practical attention. They are far more likely to receive it if decisions and actions are taken when the energy situation is merely serious and before it reaches crisis dimensions.

Role of Government

In recent years the role of government in our lives has been forced upon our attention by startling and dismaying events in Washington, Ottawa and even in British Columbia. We are required to think as never before in recent times about the whole philosphy of government and our governors.

In this context, we must consider the importance of noble idealism in the realization of our hopes and strivings for good government. The queen of Canada and Great Britain is the symbol and the embodiment in her person and office of the finest and noblest idealism of not only her subjects in Canada and Britain, but in the world. In the maelstrom and amid horrendous assaults on the values and standards we have always cherished, in her 25 year reign, the queen has served as a shining beacon in a troubled world.

With personal pride and affection, God save the queen. — M. P. Paine 3620 Quadra Street.

UIC Regulations

I write this letter in the hope that I can bring about some awareness to fellow workers and the general public who believe in justice, equality and just plain decency concerning the injustice, inequality and indecency perpetrated on workers through the present Unemployment Insurance Act and its regulations.

Let me start by telling you briefly of one experience I have had. I was laid off due to a work shortage from C.F.B. Esquimalt (dockyard) in November, 1975. My average weekly earnings were less than the maximum insurable earnings, therefore I received less than the maximum benefits. I found work in a sawmill for two days during January and was successful in gaining full employment at the mill on Feb. 2, 1976. I worked there steadily until June 30 when the plant shut down for renovations. When I made my claim at UIC, they told me they did not need my record of employment as I still had a running claim and that my rate would still be under the maximum.

I did job searches like an honest person and was able to get work for one day a week for a period of three weeks which netted me approximately $55 per day. I then went back to full employment Sept. 24 only to be laid off again Dec. 29. This time even though I produced a certificate showing my hourly rate to be still in excess of the maximum required, UIC insisted that because I worked for three days in different weeks that my average weekly earnings were below maximum. I found to my surprise that my weekly benefit rate had dropped even further. I found work when I could for whatever pay I could get and generally being a good citizen I have been penalized to the tune of $13 per week.

I am now back to work again but should I become so unlucky as to be unemployed again within the next two or three months, I will still be on a running claim and still on a reduced rate. The question is, should I turn my other cheek and seek low-paid casual employment so that my benefits can be reduced even further, or should I be deceitful in order to hold my own against a discriminatory law? You be the judge. It seems unthinkable that the legislators of our country could contrive such a mess and call it social legislation.

It is high time that the public should demand of their legislators to put an end to these kinds of things and find a fair level of UIC benefits that any human being can exist on and put an end to discrimination to the honest and willing worker, put an end to the witch hunt that goes on in increasing intensity whenever there is an unemployment percentage point increase, and lastly demand that they initiate a law that is fair and just to all in place of the present one. — J. M. Gauti, General Delivery, Sooke.

Flimflam

I would like to commend Kathleen Ruff for her direct approach and lack of tolerance for flimflam. She is right on target when she says that "speaking out loud and clean on the issues upsets people." I should know; three years ago I appealed for help in fighting the then NDP government for equal pay for male and female janitorial staff. I was assured that I "had a good case." Today I am still making approximately $70 per month less than my male counterpart.

It seems like "just so much flimflam" to me. — J. Gottfred, Victoria.

U.S. Shifts To 'Sunbelt'

By CHARLES FOLEY

A milestone in the massive shift of political and economic power to the southern "Sunbelt" was passed in 1976. The census bureau reports that in the American bicentennial year, for the first time in history, more people lived in the South than the North.

The Sunbelt is, of course, that broad arc of the United States which stretches from golden California in the West through Texas, Arizona and New Mexico, Louisiana, Arkansas and Alabama, to Florida and Georgia in the East. Had some quirk of history made this area a separate nation, it would have been a mighty one.

Its economy would be based on six industries — defence, agribusiness, oil, technology, real estate and leisure. Its politics would be basically conservative, yet many of the leaders it chose would be strikingly liberal. Its gross national product would be second only to that of the Soviet Union. And it would be growing at a phenomenal rate.

The census bureau says that 85 per cent of this country's 11 million population increase since 1970 has been in the Sunbelt. Six years ago the North had eight million more people than the South. Today, the Sunbelt has the edge, albeit a slight one — a population of 107.4 million, compared to the North's 107.2. It's a turning point in the affairs of a nation that began as a small collection of northeastern colonies, and has traditionally thought of that area as the repository of America's wisdom, strength and wealth.

There are several reasons for this swing. Industry has been moving out of the overcrowded, expensive North in search of land and energy, and the people have followed. The space-age firms located in the Southwest have attracted tens of thousands of workers. Many blacks have gone back to a newly-liberal South that offers multiple job opportunities. The climate has drawn flocks of prosperous retired people and they have helped to build the immensely profitable "leisure-time-living" industries of Florida and southern California.

The aerospace industry, which took the U.S. to the moon and Mars, has its heart in the Southwest. It has known good and bad years over the past decade, but today the outlook seems bright. Troubled firms such as Litton and Lockheed are making strong recoveries. Defence spending is brisk. Rockwell will build the B-1 bomber in California — a $22 billion project involving more than 190,000 jobs, mostly in the Sunbelt — if the Carter administration gives its approval. (President Carter will give his verdict early this year.)

Some of the most striking examples of this industrial shift can be found in Texas. The landscape, once dominated by oil derricks, has changed dramatically. Dallas and Fort Worth have built themselves the world's largest, most modern airport, at a cost of $800 million. Houston and its 24-mile ship channel have become the nation's biggest refining and petrochemical centre. The docks are crammed with Japanese cars, the air dusty with grain for Russia. Out in the Gulf loom Exxon's oil platforms.

Growth on this scale and at this pace has taken its toll. It brings with it such ills as congestion, pollution, smog. Desert cities like Phoenix have suffered growing pains that include traffic jams, air pollution, urban blight in the south-of-the-railroad-tracks area. High-rise Houston has a serious water pollution problem caused by hundreds ot tons of sewage flowing into the waterway: It hasn't been able to keep up with its own growth. Los Angeles is the smog capital of the world.

But the Sunbelt metropolises remain better places to live, by and large, than their Northern counterparts; and they are solvent. California's Governor Jerry Brown has just unveiled a $15.2 billion state budget for the new fiscal year that is the highest in state history — and which tops New York state's budget by $4 billion. It increases state spending by $2 billion without increasing taxes. Indeed, it offers $480 million in tax relief, projects a surplus of $843 million and forecasts a 12.2 per cent increase in corporate profits.

Economic considerations apart, California appeals as a land of relative sexual freedom, a trend-setter in the matter of lifestyles, a mecca for writers, artists, thinkers, scientists. It also, of course, draws the political kooks of both left and right.

But whatever the antics of the lunatic left and the radical right, Sunbelt politics adhere on the whole to a firmly conservative ethos. The true measure of success is the dollar: hypocritical Protestantism, virile anti-communism and anti-unionism are the norm; for this, after all, is a society which grew out of slavery and ruthless economic buccaneering, however sophisticated it may be becoming.

One of the charms of this slightly guilt-ridden conservatism is that it now tends to elect increasingly liberal, oddball Democrats to guide it through the morass of contemporary politics. The Jerry Browns and the Jimmy Carters take occasional moral risks — they will oppose the death penalty, say, or suggest that persecuting homosexuals is a task best left to totalitarian Communists — but they know on which side their fiscal bread is buttered.

If Brown has become the most popular governor in the history of California, it is largely because he has proved himself a diligent keeper of the public purse, and a vigorous opponent of graft, influence-peddling and old-fashioned Eastern establishment politics.

In the years ahead, the Sunbelt is destined to make its political power still more deeply felt. After each new census, it gains seats in the House of Representatives (because of the population shift) at the expense of the Northeast; and any politician with an eye on the White House must, in future, devise his own version of Richard Nixon's famous "Southern Strategy."

How long will the great migration continue? Perhaps another 10 years. After that the Sunbelt will see a levelling-off, as its industrial attractions dwindle and become more akin to those of the North. But within that decade, most economists believe, the Southern rim will have firmly established it dominance over American life.

Commons Drowning In Sea of Words

By DOUGLAS FISHER

OTTAWA — In his Nowland memorial lectures Robert Stanfield made the point that gross government, complex government, had gotten beyond the capabilities of members of Parliament. That is, the House of Commons isn't any longer an effective maker of legislation (there is too much of it) or a good watchdog of government performance or spending.

The lectures as published in papers in whole or in part, hit a chord, especially in those who feel that the array of federal departments and agencies and what they do has become too much, too quickly not just for the understanding of citizens or the capabilities of parliamentarians but for the good management and effectiveness of the whole array or each of its parts.

The parliamentary dilemma in all this deserves further attention from the likes of Stanfield. One can come at it from many directions with very difficult questions.

For example, why has the Commons question period, each day for an hour, become almost the whole focus for the institution?

There was a mild story last week in the record-breaking speech by John Rodriguez. Six hours and some fraction. But the terrible record is that each session hundreds of hours are consumed by speeches to which no one really listens. No one reports these speeches and only a paltry fraction ever read them in Hansard. Indeed, in the last, long session of Parliament which ended last October Hansard took over 150,000 pages and over 17 million words to record all House proceedings.

For most of that record — say 14,000 pages and 15 million words — fewer than 40 elected politicians would be present, whereas the average would run to 140 to 150 for the hour of the record for each day known as question period.

The Commons question period is the bulletin board, the agenda, the show-case, the confrontation of politics, and the set-up or trigger for the majority of the Ottawa stories you see or hear on radio and television. It has become the essential Parliament. But other parliamentary activity is staggering, beyond either this question period or the debate to which nobody listens.

This newish session was only 67 sitting days old last Tuesday. It began in mid-October. Already the Hansard record runs to more than 3,500 pages. Each Monday the House prints an agenda and record known as "order paper and notices." Last Monday this "guide" alone ran to 268 pages. It listed most of some 1829 written questions which have been put to the government by MPs.

STANFIELD
. . . remedies needed

It shows there are several hundred public bills before the House that have been presented by MPs personally, over and above the more than a score of public bills sponsored by ministers. Some MPs have their own notices of motion on the agenda advocating certain courses of action which the House may, and likely will, consider.

More than 70 motions demanding the production of papers and documents by the government had already been put.

Meantime — one is tempted to say almost all the time — some committee is meeting somewhere on Parliament Hill. The unknown or little known ones are those of each party's caucus. These don't keep records or have public meetings. However, the formal committees of the House and the joint ones MPs share with senators are very open and busy.

For example, the one on the penitentiary system in Canada has travelled thousands of miles, held more than 20 hearings and rolled up several thousands pages in hearings records. It looks as if it will go on and on for months, a great involvement for its 13 MPs.

Another committee, that for Indian Affairs, has already tabled and had printed enough briefs on one matter alone — the James Bay native claims bill — to fill a couple of volumes the size of a small encyclopedia.

The fact is MPs are not drones; most of them are very busy. But as I see them most of them are scrambled and half-confused much of the time simply because their work is so diverse. So Parliament and what it tries to do is as fragmented as TV in Toronto.

Parliament has not stood still as government has grown and grown. More facilities, more employees and more expert advice, from PR to research, more hours of the day, more days of the year, all have been put into play, accelerating over the past eight years. Literally, the place is like a beehive. It's also a paper factory, spewing out print in a futile and losing match-up with the presses of the government's departments and agencies. Unfortunately, few read much of the stuff, few MPs, fewer ministers, fewer senior bureaucrats, and very few journalists.

Perspective, whether looking ahead or through hindsight, is in small evidence around Parliament. Except perhaps in terms of the next election or the last election.

What I'd like Robert Stanfield to do is offer some prescriptions for slowing Parliament down so that its members listen to each other, talk together more, and think a lot. Too busy people haven't time to think.

'Slips of Paper' Potent for RCMP

THE GLOBE AND MAIL
An Editorial

They've been banned in England for centuries; they're forbidden in the United States under the Fourth Amendment to the Constitution; the civil liberties section of the Canadian Bar Association has called them "illegal and repugnant".

★ ★ ★

But writs of assistance, mere slips of paper, continue to be issued to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, granting them unlimited licence to "break open any entrance or other doors, walls, floors, windows or gates and any chests or other packages" in search of violations of the Food and Drugs Act, the Excise Act, the Customs Act or the Narcotic Control Act.

Unlike search warrants, writs of assistance are not limited to a certain time, place or purpose. They may be used again and again. And their use, on each occasion, need not be justified in advance to anyone. The practice is unsettling and rarely discussed.

Mr. Justice F. U. Collier, a Federal Court Judge who recently issued 29 writs, said that he did no "reluctantly and despairingly". But he had no choice. Mr. Justice W. R. Jackett, now Chief Justice of the Federal Court, ruled in 1965 that the court has no authority to refuse an application for writs of assistance. The court must deal them out, however grudgingly, on request.

The RCMP currently holds no fewer than 935 writs. Last year, the force used them to conduct 4,212 searches, 477 of which produced no incriminating evidence.

★ ★ ★

The RCMP makes little effort to justify its need for the writs. The writs are used, an RCMP spokesman says, in times of urgent need. Sometimes officers have difficulties finding a judge to issue a regular search warrant, and that's when the writs — be they yellow with age — are thrust into action.

Omnipotence for the sake of convenience — it isn't nearly justification enough. In 1975, Judge Collier said that he was "shocked and incredulous" that the court would be asked to provide "an unknown government officer with such extensive, unlimited powers".

Are writs of assistance necessary? We don't know; no one has made a proper case. But we doubt it. Are they abused? We don't know that, either. But they certainly offer an ongoing, untrammelled invitation to abuse.

The Ontario Provincial Police have been forbidden access to writs of assistance for more than 15 years. Why is the RCMP treated differently? There used to be a reason. Canada adopted the writs in 1847 at a time when smuggling was common if not epidemic and at a time when the country's chief source of income was from customs. It could be argued that extreme measures were necessary in order to protect that income. But can the same argument be made today?

★ ★ ★

Revenue Minister Monique Begin promised in the Commons last week to find out but it is impossible to conceive of a case that would convince the courts and all Canadians that the threat to civil liberties posed by the writs is an acceptable threat. The sections of the four acts which authorize the writs should be hastily jettisoned.

Scaling the Heights

After his recent visit to Tokyo, Vice-President Mondale revealed that he and the Japanese had discussed a broad range of issues. Anyone who has ever gazed on this magnificent range can imagine the poetic nature of the Vice President's talk with the Japanese, for it is one of the most moving spectacles nature affords.

Rising majestically out of the bleak Areas of Responsibility, the Broad Range of Issues stretches from the amusing Height of Absurdity on the north to the historic Peaks of Achievement in the south. It is not clear whether Mondale has actually seen the Broad Range of Issues or whether his discussions were merely based on study of old National Geographics. The latter seems likelier, for few persons have survived the harrowing journey to that remote paradise.

T. E. Burton, who made the trip in 1923, with nothing more than six camels and a dictionary of cliches, kept a diary of the expedition. Although Burton met a dreadful death on his return journey when he fell into the roaring torrents of the infamous Flow of Information, his diary survived.

At his death, Burton was exploring for the mysterious Reliable Sources, where he believed the Flow of Information originated. Burton's expedition to the Broad Range of Issues started from the east and ran into trouble almost immediately as it passed into the steamy Erogenous Zones. His diary, feverishly sketchy at this point, describes months of struggle to climb out of the squalid Depths of Degradation, which pitted the Zone's landscape.

Indeed, he might have died there had he not seen, one cold winter night, an extraordinary display of the beautiful Rising Expectations light the western sky. Reinvigorated by this atmospheric spectacle, he hauled himself out of the Erogenous Zones and found himself breathing a strangely baffling air.

This, as subsequent geographers have discovered, was the inexplicable Air of Mystery, which blows off the mosquito-infested Miasma of Suspicion and Hate. Luckily for Burton, the sky was clear that night and he was able to navigate safely around the Miasma by following the familiar, if somewhat tired, Aura of Romance, which shimmered in the southern sky.

The southern detour, however, carried him directly into the dreaded Sands of Time, where he wandered for years, surviving only because his camels had taught him how to store water in his hump. One day he stumbled into an orchard. It seemed a mirage, for scarcely a hundred years distant lay another orchard. Burton sent his camels to explore it for reality, and as they stood there looking at his orchard and he stood looking at their orchard, he suddenly realized the magnitude of his accomplishment. He had discovered the Fruitful Exchange of Views.

Refreshed in spirit, he plunged ahead, ignoring the terrors of the notorious Political Extremes to his left and to his right, and noticed that he was approaching a series of well-defined levels. These, of course, were the well-charted Income Levels — Lower, Middle and Upper.

Then, in a terrifying instant of atmospheric violence, Burton was abruptly picked up into the air and just as abruptly hurled to the ground. We now know that he was in the grip of the whimsical Unanticipated Windfall, which is quite common at the Upper Income Level.

Burton, however, was determined to reach New Heights, an elevation from which, according to ancient lore, one could catch a glimpse of the Areas of Responsibility. Burton spent weeks struggling upward, always upward, and when he at last reached the summit, satisfied that he had reached either New Heights or the equally rewarding Higher Level of Understanding, he fell into a stuporous sleep.

On awaking, he found a graffito cut into rock. It said, "Chauvinist pigs to the wall." This was not New Heights. It was simply Raised Consciousness, and Burton realized that he was looking out on the world from the Feminist Viewpoint. "At last," he noted in his diary, "it is better than finding myself at the Unorthodox View."

The following year, Burton crossed the Chasm of Misunderstanding, canoed down the Labor Pool and hurled himself through the Language Barrier with such force that he plunged into the fetid Emotional Depression. Only his fierce resolve to enter New Fields of Endeavor kept him going, and when at last he entered the always stimulating New Fields, he met a speech writer who gave him his first glimpse of the Broad Range of Issues from the ancient Well-Balanced Perspective. "Some day," the awe-struck Burton predicted, "this range will be discussed even by vice-presidents." Not even Burton, of course, could have realized the Japanese would join in.

Que. Already Has Powers, Trudeau Tells U.S. Press

By PAUL WHITELAW
Times Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Quebec has all the essential requirements to become an independent nation, Prime Minister Trudeau conceded Sunday in a U.S. television interview.

But Trudeau said the province does not need to separate because it has power under Canada's constitution to achieve most of the economic and social reforms advocated by Quebec Premier Rene Levesque.

"As a French Canadian I think it would be terrible if we sort of ghettoized ourself rather than use the whole country as a sounding board for the French reality in Canada," the prime minister said on Meet the Press, an NBC program taped during his visit here last week.

Trudeau had been asked whether Levesque was "right" in telling an audience of American investors in New York last month that Quebec had all the "essential requirements" of nationhood, including a clearly defined territory, history, language, culture and will to maintain a national identity.

"Well, yes he is," replied the prime minister, "but what I don't think he realizes is that his argument boomerangs beautifully.'

Referring to the Quebec premier's speech, Trudeau said: "Everything he talked about ... referred to good government, cleaner administration, better industrial relations, perhaps even expropriation of one industry,, of one resource industry and so on.

"He has power to do all these things under the present constitution so to the extent that he wants to consider himself a nation I have no objection."

However, the prime minister said he did "object" to Quebec becoming an "independent state" because "that is not necessary."

Questioned during the program by a panel of four U.S. journalists, Trudeau also reiterated assurances that he would not lead Canada into civil war to keep Quebec in confederation.

The prime minister said he "would not be part of any movement to hold it (confederation) together by force, if the desire to separate were democratically and freely expressed in a convincing way."

Trudeau said Canadians in all provinces must be convinced it is to "their advantage to live in this great country and not break it up ... it would be undesirable to talk about forcing people to love their country."

The prime minister reiterated the message of his address to Congress that Quebec will not separate, noting that Levesque's Parti Quebecois campaigned for election on a platform of "good government" and reform rather than independence.

He noted that two previous attempts by the PQ to get elected on a separatist platform had been "very, very roundly defeated."

"Whenever separatism was put to Quebec voters as a question, 'do you want a separatist government,' they said no and they said no roundly. But when the separatist party said, 'well, we are not talking about separatism, we won't have separatism unless you have a referendum and you consent to it as a special operation, elect us an alternate government,' they were elected."

★ PQ Planning Language Curbs

QUEBEC (CP) — Legislation being prepared by the Parti Quebecois government will restrict freedom of choice in the language of education to citizens whose mother tongue is English.

Sources close to Cultural Development Minister Camille Laurin say there is general agreement in the cabinet on the new policy but many details have to be worked out before the legislation is tabled in the Quebec national assembly session beginning March 8.

The sources said the criterion used to determine the language of education will be that recommended by the Superior Council of Education before the adoption of the Official Language Act, commonly known as Bill 22, in 1974 by the previous Liberal administration.

Under the proposal the language of education would be French for all children except those whose mother tongue in English.

The sources also indicated there is agreement in cabinet about making French the official language in public administration, work, business and communications in Quebec.

Problems Galore —Levesque

MONTREAL (CP) — The Parti Quebecois government has had more problems to contend with in its first 110 days in power than any other newly-elected administration in Quebec history, Premier Rene Levesque said Sunday.

Levesque pointed out that his government has had only two months to prepare a budget and to get ready for the next session of the national assembly, which begins March 8.

Past administrations, including the Liberals under Jean Lesage and Robert Bourassa, and the Union Nationale under Daniel Johnson, came to power in the spring when budgets had already been prepared, the premier noted.

These governments also had from six to 10 months before their first legislative session, whereas the PQ was forced to hold an emergency session to handle pressing matters shortly after it came to power Nov. 15.

MORE LOANS WRITTEN OFF

OTTAWA (CP) — Poorer business conditions this year than at the same stage of 1976 may force the Federal Business Development Bank to write off more of its loans to small business, J. R. Murray, president of the federal agency, said last week.

Murray, appearing before the Commons finance committee, said about 1,600 accounts held by the bank are in serious trouble this year compared with 1,000 at the same time last year.

The bank, which was set up to act as a lender of last resort for small business, had to write off $4.5 million in loans last year. Its total assistance to about 32,300 businesses is valued at $1.4 million.

"This year, with business conditions the way they are, we'll be having a larger provision for doubtful accounts," Murray said.

He told MPs that of every 100 loans about 40 have some problems but the bank tries to help by postponing pay-backs, giving special management counselling or providing funds to buy needed equipment.

The last thing the bank will do is seize a business, he said.

"It is only when an account is in miserable shape that we move in."

UIC Target: Outright Fraud

OTTAWA (CP) — The Unemployment Insurance Commission (UIC) is clamping down on cheaters, commission officials say.

The commission said there were 445,884 overpayment cases in 1976, worth $62.8 million, compared with 327,868 in 1975, worth $48.2 million.

UIC officials said in an interview that overpayments amounted to only 1.86 per cent of the total benefits paid out in 1976, but the commission is pressing forward with programs to uncover fraud.

C. C. Tuck, commission chairman, said "the honest claimant has nothing to fear."

"We are after the small minority who are deliberately taking the unemployment insurance program for a ride."

Larry St. Laurent, director general of UIC insurance policy, said the commission is "increasing our detection of fraud and misrepresentation."

There is no attempt to cut off legitimate claimants, he said, but UIC officials have become more efficient "at picking the dirt out of the system."

Last year, the UIC recovered $54.5 million of the over-payments, up from $43.5 million in 1975.

"Defrauding the unemployment insurance program amounts to stealing — stealing from the public purse," Tuck said. "Honest people who pay unemployment insurance premiums have the right to be protected from this abuse."

Commission officials said about 41 per cent of the overpayments involve claimants who are not actually eligible to receive benefits. For instance, a claimant may report that he is available and capable of working but it is later determined that he is not.

About 39 per cent of the overpayments involve claimants who fail to report, or incorrectly report, other income received while they are getting unemployment insurance benefits.

Tuck said the commission plans to launch a public relations program to explain improper claims.

"We want to help honest people avoid a mistake," he said.

"But we want to warn the ripoff artists that they are very likely to get caught."

Visiting Ensembles Get Mixed Reactions

By AUDREY JOHNSON
Times Staff

Out-of-town ensembles had the spotlight at the Royal and McPherson theatres over the weekend. For Victorians, it was a first visit from the National Arts Centre Orchestra which has been flatteringly received in the east and the United States.

With distinguished Canadian conductor Mario Bernardi on the podium, the orchestra gave a single performance Friday for a considerably less than capacity audience.

Gilbert and Sullivan's popular Mikado brought two good-size audiences to the McPherson Saturday and Sunday. Staged by the Greater Vancouver Operatic Society, it was following up six successful performances in Vancouver.

From the NAC Orchestra the audience heard elegant Haydn, the Schmann A minor Piano Concerto with Vancouver artist Robert Silverman as soloist and a pleasant if not unduly challenging symphonic composition by contemporary Canadian composer Jacques Hetu.

Haydn's London Symphony was meticulously played, revealing a precision and discipline that gave the whole performance a crystaline clarity. Devotion to musical detail and a full and deep perception of character and thought marked the orchestral performance throughout the program.

As soloist, Silverman proved a fluent executant and an artist of sound musical scholarship.

Unfortunately The Mikado, which opened well with an excellent visual and lighting effect, did not live up to its early promise. Individual performances, such as Laara Drummund's Yum-Yum and Lenore Gibbs' Katisha, were both pleasing and competent. Eileen Wright, too, as the pert Pitti-Sing, carried the role well. But the male leads, while possessed of reasonably good voices, had trouble with diction.

Make-up on Don Wright as romantic lead Nanki-Poo made him look like a slightly aging mountebank, particularly with the poorly handled hair-piece. Probably the most effective part in the opera is that of Ko-Ko, the Lord High Executioner, and it is essential that this should be played by a man of medium or small stature.

Harry McCulloch is a big man and nothing he could do in the way of using a pic voice and a modest sense of comedy could compensate for the fact that he looked so very wrong, especially in those wonderful scenes with the imperious Katisha.

Clifford Cox's Mikado was one of the more successful performances, but the unimaginative use of the chorus, lack of comic invention and attack in this part of the production gave the whole thing a lack-lustre and low-tempo aspect.

SLIDING MUD BURIES TOWNS

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — At least 16 persons were killed and three were missing in a mudslide that buried two villages in northern Argentina during a rainstorm, officials reported today.

They said they feared the casualty toll would rise. It was the worst such occurrence in Argentina since an avalanche of snow in the Andes 11 years ago killed 43 persons.

Authorities said tons of water, mud and stones rained down before dawn Sunday on the villages of Zapla and Finca Carahuinco at the foot of the Andes 200 miles from the Bolivian border.

Clarify AIB Future—Williams

VANCOUVER (CP) — B.C. Labor Minister Allan Williams has called on federal Finance Minister Donald Macdonald and Anti-Inflation Board chairman Jean-Luc Pepin to clarify a Toronto report Saturday which claimed that wage and price controls will be withdrawn on a staggered basis beginning in October.

A Toronto newspaper said controls might be withdrawn about mid-October as collective agreements expire. The report also said profit controls would be similarly eliminated and would be tied to company fiscal year-ends.

Williams said he has been told the report is merely background material — just suggestions, and not policy. He said that any policy should be arrived at through federal-provincial consultations, and not be dictated by the federal government.

The labor minister said he is concerned about the effect this kind of report will have on the many contract negotiations due in B.C. this year.

B.C.'s finance minister, Evan Wolfe, said he is opposed to any suggestion of a staggered system of eliminating controls.

He said the controls should run their full course to December, 1978.

B.C. Federation of Labor president George Johnston said labor isn't going to wait until October, but will push for a much earlier end to controls.

PACKER DESTROYED, 2 FISHERMEN SAVED

Two unidentified fishermen were rescued unharmed when their fishpacker, the High Sea Queen, caught fire and burned to the waterline Saturday off Cape Beale.

A Pacific Rescue Co-ordination Centre spokeman said today the two men were picked up by the fishboat, the Bruce Luck, owned by Canada Packers, and taken to Ucluelet.

The incident happened shortly after 2 p.m. about three miles northwest of Cape Beale, which is at the southern entrance to Barkley Sound, 90 miles west of Victoria.

The Bamfield lifeboat was also alerted.

Hussein Denies CIA Payments

Times News Services

WASHINGTON — In what he called his first and very last words on the matter, Jordan's King Hussein has labelled as a "complete fabrication" a report that he was the personal beneficiary of millions of dollars in covert Central Intelligence Agency money.

The CIA payments were disclosed Feb. 18 in a story by Washington Post staff writer Bob Woodward. Hussein's disclaimer was made in a soon-to-be published interview with correspondent Arnaud de Borchgrave, of Newsweek magazine.

The Jordanian king did not deny that he received the CIA money, which amounted to as much as $15 million since 1957, according to some reports. However, he told de Borchgrave, "If you mean . . . the payments were made directly to the King for his benefit and with political conditions and obligations, this is a complete fabrication."

Hussein said the CIA's financial assistance "was designed only to enhance our intelligence and security capabilities, period."

The developments leading to and following the disclosure of the payments were "ridiculous and insulting," Hussein said.

In Georgetown, the Guyana government has denied that Prime Minister Forbes Burnham also received secret payments from the CIA.

"Its unfortunate that irresponsible and sensation-seeking reports of this sort are elevated to the level of attention of the U.S. media, as it gives rise to the suspicion that they are aimed at creating international tension," a statement said.

Hussein said he did not understand what all the fuss was about.

"What is a proper way to support a friend and ally is strictly your business," he said in the interview. "The subject never came up before and I was totally unaware that this assistance to Jordan had come into question last year. What is proper in some minds is apparently improper in others. As far as I am concerned, anything I can get for Jordan and my people is proper," Hussein said.

Body Found In Creek

MAPLE RIDGE (CP) — The body of a 22-year-old man missing in Golden Ears Provincial Park in Maple Ridge, was found Sunday in Gold Creek, about 10 miles from Haney.

RCMP said Donald Schill, of Maple Ridge, was found by members of the Emergency Measures Search group About 100 men from Haney, Coquitlam and North Vancouver took part in the search which was started Friday after the man's car was found abandoned in the park Thursday night.

WEARY BUT HAPPY, Dan Doherty and Barb Redford offer mutual support as they near the end of their 24-hour dance ordeal at Henderson Hall on the weekend. Twenty couples of the 67 who started, made it to the end of the marathon to raise funds for Operation Trackshoes—an annual track meet held for the mentally retarded. About $4,700 was raised in pledges. (Irving Strickland photo).

Soviets 'Threat' to Pacific

TOKYO (CP) — China maintains that the Soviet navy is "stretching its tentacles to the South Pacific," posing an aggressive threat to the region.

In a broadcast monitored here, Radio Peking quotes the official Chinese newspaper People's Daily as saying a number of countries — including Australia — have warned against Soviet "aggressive ambitions" and are strengthening their defences.

"The fast-growing Soviet naval strength prompted the new czars in the Kremlin to make a frantic attempt to realize the old czars' long-cherished dream of grabbing ice-free ports on the southern oceans," the paper said

"The Soviets have been very active in Tonga, Western Samoa, Fiji, and Papua New Guinea," it said

Soviet surface naval ships, submarines and "all kinds of 'scientific research vessels,' 'tourist vessels,' and 'fishing vessels' come and go frequently in the South Pacific on mysterious missions," it claimed

Peking also denounced Moscow for establishing a 200-mile fishing zone along Soviet Pacific and Arctic coastlines from March 1

Old Age: For Many It's a Long Lonely Wait

By PAUL NICHOLSON
Times Staff

Victoria, retirement capital of Canada.

Victoria, Canada's geriatric ward

Victoria, God's waiting room.

The city has all these titles, perhaps with some justification when the facts are considered.

The statistics show one in every five Victorians is over age 65. Our ratio of old to young runs about three times the national average.

And in James Bay, where an estimated 4,000 of the area's 10,000 residents are over 65, the ratio is five times the Canadian average. The figures are based on the 1971 census.

The detailed breakdown from last July's census isn't in yet but there appears to be no reason to believe the pattern has changed, unless to show an even higher percentage of older people.

The wisecracks about Victoria's senior citizens, the snide comments, contain a kernel of truth that makes them ugly.

If the majority of Greater Victoria's 26,000 senior citizens are relatively happy, have spouses, other relatives, friends or some social contact, but there are others—no one knows how many — who exist in isolation from the outside world.

They sit in their rooms alone and afraid: sit, some of them, alone and waiting to die.

Caroline Swanky has worked with senior citizens over the past few years as both a volunteer in Victoria NDP MLA Charles Barber's community office and as secretary of the James Bay Resources Board.

Born around the turn of the century: older brothers dying in the First World War holocaust, married in the 20s; a young growing family by the time the Depression strikes; a decade of hardship is followed by the agony of sending older sons off to another war.

During these times, the extended family unit is close and roles are strictly defined.

The woman is mother and housewife. The father is income earner, handles all the business, and for the most part the social contacts are the ones he makes through his job and other associations

Finally the family has grown, retirement comes and they are lonely. A decision is made to migrate to Victoria for peer friendship and a milder climate.

But Victoria, like retirement itself, often does not prove to be the long-sought dream.

Swanky says men usually die within five years of coming here.

And his widow, suddenly thrust into a new situation finds she can't cope. She will die soon after, usually within two years of her husband's death, Caroline said.

Women with a traditional background deeply feel the loss of useful function in no longer having a partner to cook and care for — skills which took a lifetime to refine and are no longer required, retired social worker Clare McAllister writes in her booklet Loneliness.

The new friends which took so long to cultivate are couples. Now the widow is shunned socially. How can you play bridge without a partner?

Other problems loom: How does a furnace work? A will? Whom should she call when something goes wrong with the plumbing?

Many are susceptible to ruthless sales techniques especially the newly-widowed whose husband handled all the business affairs.

Money worries become tantamount. The cost of everything is rising, but the pension is suddenly cut in half.

Even the banking system may be an enigma. Many widows have never written a cheque.

At the death of her husband, she enters into a period of private mourning.

This time is critical, Swanky suggests, because the longer the widow isolates herself, the harder it is for her to take that first step outside to begin living the rest of her life on her own.

Some never make it. They are too afraid to venture out socially. It takes all the courage they can muster to go to the store.

They become afraid to even answer the door.

Last summer University of Victoria student Gail Woodburn worked for the B.C. Directories knocking on doors to see if the same people occupied the address as the year before.

Gail's area included part of Fairfield and James Bay.

"I was surprised at the number of times — door after door — where I would catch a curtain move, or hear a sound inside, but no one would answer my knock."

Gail is an attractive young woman, wore neat clothes and worked during daylight hours. There is nothing frightening about her.

And yet the fear is so strong they are not willing to take a chance.

It doesn't occur very often, a veteran Victoria police sergeant said, but from time to time police get a call from a neighbor who hasn't seen old Mrs. so-and-so around for a while.

HANDICAPPED DEMONSTRATE

About 100 people — 30 of them in wheelchairs or on crutches — gathered outside the legislature this morning to protest the government's social assistance program.

The 30 handicapped people travelled to Victoria from Vancouver this morning to meet with Human Resources Minister Bill Vander Zalm, but instead got an unexpected meeting with Finance Minister Evan Wolfe

Protest organizer Bruce Erikson of the Downtown Eastside Residents Association in Vancouver said he was told by Vander Zalm's secretary this morning that the minister was out of town and instead, a meeting with Wolfe had been arranged for later today.

The protesters are attempting to get an increase in the allowances of all persons covered by the controversial Guaranteed Annual Income for Need (GAIN) legislation.

Many demonstrators carried signs proclaiming "GAIN is our LOSS."

NDP human resources critic Rosemary Brown said Vander Zalm's refusal to meet with the group was disgraceful.

She told the crowd the Social Credit government had kept its promises to the wealthy through its mining legislation and repeal of succession duties.

"Now it's time for him (the premier) to keep his promises to you," she said.

Cremation Protest By Clergy

A circular letter to Vancouver Island funeral directors from the Anglican Bishop of B.C. asks for their cooperation in contacting clergy before proceeding with cremation

Bishop Roy Gartrell says in the letter that occasionally, particularly in certain areas, cremation takes place and the ashes are disposed of immediately after the body is released from hospital, with no committal and no relatives present.

Only then is a priest contacted about a memorial service, for which the time and date have already been arranged by the funeral director

"In my opinion this is going beyond the limits of courtesy a director should exercise and beyond what any minister can tolerate without protest," he states in the letter dated Feb. 23

The bishop says Anglicans and others who look to Anglican priests for ministrations "should be sensitive to our convictions about death and burial, and about ministrations to the bereaved."

He notes it is Anglican custom to officiate at the committal of a body for cremation, either at the conclusion of a church service or sometimes with only the relatives present, before a public memorial service.

"In either case, the committal is an essential part of our service, and is vital in dealing with the grief process. To avoid it can lead to difficulties later with which the clergyman has to deal. In the end bereavement must be faced."

Reactions to the letter today varied widely among Victoria funeral directors.

Graham McCall, of McCall Brothers, said the sequence of events described by the bishop does sometimes occur at the request of relatives, but agreed that "it really isn't too polite to contact the clergyman after cremation has taken place."

But Laverne Sands, of Sands Mortuary Ltd., dismissed the letter as "just poppycock".

Pamphlets of the type enclosed with the letter to funeral directors have been circulated by the church for 20 years, he claimed.

"In other words don't spend anything on the funeral, don't spend anything on flowers, just send a straight donation to the church," Sands said.

McCall said the bishop's comment about "difficulties" subsequently arising from early cremation apparently refers to relatives of the deceased having regrets or second thoughts about the haste involved.

His firm has experienced such cases, he added.

"Psychiatrists' offices all over the country are filled with people wondering whether Mother, Dad, wife or whatever really passed away," he remarked.

McCall said the problem is difficult to resolve, if the relatives specifically request immediate cremation followed, a couple of days later, by a memorial service where there is no body present.

"It isn't really fair to the clergymen. Certainly they should be taken into the picture," he agreed, "but we can't do much else but take the instructions of the family."

As a result of Gartrell's letter, McCall said, "we are going to be more careful."

David Murphy, Victoria manager for First Memorial Services Ltd., which is the undertaker for the Memorial Society of B.C., said the arrangements are made in accordance with the family's wishes.

Archives Body Future 'Bright'

The future looks nothing but good for the Greater Victoria Civic Archives Society, city archivist Ainslie Helmcken said today.

He said the first annual meeting of the society Sunday night was an "outstanding success," attracting more than 60 people and an array of talented and willing volunteers who wish to help in the task of preserving Victoria's colorful history.

Among those present was Victoria MLA Charles Barber, and Helmcken said only a bout of flu kept away Recreation and Conservation Minister Sam Bawlf.

Officers will be elected by the directors themselves, said Helmcken.

He said among the projects to be undertaken by the society will be a history of public school education in Greater Victoria. It will be prepared by English, a former superintendent of education.

Gunman's Takeout Order $226

Police said the man entered shortly after 10 p.m. and pointed a revolver at Cathy Pearson, 17, who was working behind the counter.

No words were exchanged, but Cathy handed over the cash.

The suspect fled on foot. He is described as being six-feet, two inches tall, weighing 180 to 200 pounds, 20 to 24 years of age, clean-shaven with shoulder-length hair. He was wearing blue jeans and a blue ski jacket.

GYPSY TRIAL WITNESS DIES

A post mortem and a labratory toxological analysis will be conducted to determine the exact cause of death of 29-year-old Sharon Fleming, 1-2500 Dowler Place, who died suddenly Saturday, Coroner Edmund St. Jorre said today.

Mrs. Fleming was a witness in the "Gypsy" Dhillon murder trial under way in B.C. Supreme Court.

City police said foul play isn't suspected.

Mrs. Fleming, a friend of Mrs. Dhillon's, was a witness at her wedding two days before she was found dead in Esquimalt.

YELLOW TARGET SUB

Fire Costly

Smoke and heat caused $10,000 to $15,000 damage in a house fire at 538 Meredith at 5:30 p.m. Sunday, Saanich police said.

No one was home when fire broke out in the rumpus room of the house rented by Walter Tsumura. The home is owned by Gyula Karpati of 1770 Kenmore. Cause of the fire is unknown.

Canadian and U.S. naval vessels using the Canadian forces test range at Nanoose soon will have their very own yellow submarine to fire at.

The former USS Menhaden, a U.S. Second World War diesel electric submarine, is expected to arrive at Nanoose, north of Nanaimo in early March for Spring and Summer training.

The submarine will be used as a target, being lowered and raised from a buoy system for non-explosive torpedo testing. The sub has been painted yellow to help with post-trial analysis programs.

The unmanned target has been used on the Americans' navy range in Washington and is certified clean of all materials that might injure the marine environment.

It will display navigational markers and lights at all times on the Nanoose range and have a Canadian tug as a tender.

From a Team Effort, a Story on Film

ON A BROILING SUMMER afternoon, two young men tramped side by side along a pasture fenceline. The two were deep in conversation but they were not alone.

A television camera mounted on a dolly rolled on silent wheels down rails that paralleled their course. The soundman, headset snugged over his ears, crouched by his electronic box with fingers busy at its dials.

Stilt-legged lights and lightboards were spotted at strategic vantage-points in the pasture grass. The scene was set, the camera rolling.

"Cut!"

The actors ended their stroll. They looked inquiringly at Director Don Ecclestone. So did the cameraman on the dolly. Would this be yet another aborted effort added to the dozen that had preceded it?

"That got it," Ecclestone said. "It's a take." The sequence that had cost actors and production crew a toilsome hour had finally come out right.

The silence that prevails during shooting broke in a buzz of voices. There was a general relaxing, a drift toward the portable coffee and cookie bar that goes with a crew on location.

Another show in CBC-Vancouver's durable series, The Beachcombers, had advanced one more stage on the journey from writer's script to viewers' screens.

But before the script comes the idea; and as a writer learns to his sorrow, ideas that will carry a show don't dangle from every bush.

Months before that sunny day on location, an idea presented itself, though not to me. My wife popped it during one of our 'what-if' sessions.

"How about this?" Win said. "What if a Japanese Canadian boy from Ontario came to the coast looking for his father's old fishboat?"

"Great!" I said. "What if the boat's a beat-up old troller a long way from the water? A boat in a bottle, sort of?"

One outline and two tough drafts later, the Boat in a Bottle script was ready for production. It would not be the one-shot half-hour show originally planned, but a two-parter to run on consecutive Sundays.

Exit the writer, his part in a complex team effort over. Enter the production experts with problems of their own.

Locations must be bird-dogged and pinned down. A fishboat of the prescribed sort and vintage must be found. Also, a Japanese Canadian actor right for the role of the young inlander who would resurrect his father's troller must be hunted out.

The hunt for a boat went better than well. At Roberts Creek, a searcher lucked in on a venerable troller, which had been owned and worked by a Japanese Canadian fisherman until he was caught up in the shameful Second World War expulsion of his people from this coast.

But the third requirement was someting else again. The casting director searched her lists in vain for an actor to fit the part.

With time pressing and no prospect in sight, an appeal went out on television. It brought a swarm of applicants for auditions, and a call from a mother in Steveston.

Her UBC-graduate son was looking for summer work that would help him finance post-graduate courses in engineering. No, he had never done any acting. But she thought he might be suitable for the role.

An audition was arranged. Paul Kuriya checked in, a poised and pleasant-spoken young man who did not share his mother's optimism.

Again, the luck was in: the audition made that abundantly apparent. Paul proved to be more than merely photogenic. He was that rarest of birds, a natural actor. With minimum coaching, he would fill the bill.

So to that summer day on an island farm when two young men who had taken to each other and worked well together sweated out a scene with the camera's eye tracking them.

One was Bob Park, who plays Hugh in The Beachcombers.

The other was Paul — in actual life as well as in his television role, the son of parents once exiled from the coast.

The end of it?

Paul, the non-actor who could act, finished this stint and went on to pursue his post-graduate training. The show was filed away in a pair of film cans for later screening.

The old troller nuzzles a mainland float-string, while here in our fitfully-operative idea hatchery, Win and I test each new 'What-if' for its echoes.

High-Level Thieves Nailed By Undercover 'Fences'

Washington Post

WASHINGTON — Washington law enforcement officials charged 16 persons here and in five East Coast states who sold stolen paintings, priceless antiques, luxury cars and a trailer-truck load of liquor to an elaborate and expensive fake fencing operation run by city police and the FBI out of the Shoreham Americana hotel.

Known as "Highroller," the latest phoney fencing project is the third to be revealed here in the past year. Unlike the other two which dealt with street thieves and office burglars, the customers of Highroller were described as professional, high-level thieves and fences who bragged of connections with organized crime.

The Highroller's undercover officers operated for 14 months out of a plush suite at the Shoreham Americana. Law enforcement officials said the agents paid $169,000 for property that has been appraised for at least $2 million.

The undercover agents purchased 10 antique mirrors that had been in storage since 1854, when they were removed from the walls of the U.S. Capitol. Law enforcement authorities are still tracing the history of another purchase, an antique table on which various historical documents are said to have been signed.

Civil War collections, oil paintings, diamond rings, truckloads of yard equipment such as roto-tillers, stereo gear, diamonds, china, silver, stolen securities and an antique typewriter were also purchased by the agents.

The officers involved in Highroller had to reject numerous offers of property because of the prohibitiive cost, officials added. Top Washington FBI agent Nick Stames said the group dealt with one car theft ring that said it could supply between 300 and 400 luxury automobiles a month.

The operation was aimed at a "very sophisticated thief," Washington Police Chief Maurice Cullinane said in announcing the end of Highroller. In addition to the purchases made by the officers, the operation provided large amount of criminal intelligence about the operation of organized crime along the east cost, officials said.

U.S. Attorney Earl Silbert said it would take months for investigation to continue into the origins of the stolen property, and that additional persons probably will be charged. The tight secrecy surrounding Highroller so far has prevented the police and FBI from making detailed checks into the property and the persons who sold it, officials added.

The undercover officers who worked with the Highroller videotaped transactions in the Shoreham hotel suite. The videotape equipment was built into a piece of furniture in the suite's sitting room.

The Highroller, described by police officers as the most adventuresome of the fake fencing opeations revealed so far, differed in many aspects from the first two projects that were disclosed here.

The first one, which came to be known as the Sting, operated out of a grimy Northeast Washington Warehouse, and was run by law enforcement officials who posed as the Mafia. It was revealed one year ago this weekend.

The second operation was known as "GYA," for "Got Ya Again," and was announced on July 7.

Both previous fake fencing projects focused on street thiefs who would bring in typewriters stolen from offices, credit cards taken in armed robberies and checks stolen in the mail. Some thieves came to the previous operations as many as 50 times to sell stolen goods.

The Highroller made only 64 buys in its 14 months of operation. Its customers were dealing in property worth hundreds of thousands of dollars, and came to Washington from Maryland, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina and Virginia.

River Again Fouled By Cleaner

CINCINNATI (AP) — A second spill of carbon tetrachloride into the Ohio River system in a week has turned off many Cincinnati-area residents to tap water—to the extent that some people won't bathe in it.

Restaurants say diners are substituting coffee and tea for water with meals, while grocery stores report an increase of sales in soft drinks.

Some supermarkets reported a weekend run on bottled water which peaked during the weekend as Cincinnati, which has 450,000 residents, closed intake valves for 31 hours to its drinking-water supply.

The move came after 6,000 pounds of carbon tetrachloride was spilled accidentally Friday into the Kanawha River at the FMC Corp. near Charleston, W.Va.

The chemical, used in fire extinguishers and as a cleaning agent, can cause liver damage and is believed to be a cancer-causing substance.

Last week, a 70-ton slug of the chemical passed Cincinnati undetected, polluting the river where the city draws its water supply.

CHINA SECRETS?

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. state department officials say they are skeptical of a report that the Nixon administration made a secret commitment to end relations with Taiwan in order to establish relations with China.

Nonetheless, State Secretary Cyrus Vance said Sunday the state department is checking all documents pertaining to U.S. policy toward China to determine whether any such commitments were made by Henry Kissinger when he was state secretary.

State department officials said they knew of no commitments beyond those of the Shanghai Communique, which was signed five years ago today and which began a new era in Chinese-American relations.

Canadian Route Urged for Gas

ANCHORAGE (AP) — President Carter has been urged in a letter from 13 members of the senate to choose the Arctic Gas Co. proposal for a Canadian line to transport natural gas from the north slope to the lower 48.

In reporting on the letter Sunday, the Anchorage Times said the 13 senators have generally favored a Canadian route for north slope gas and in 1973 backed a trans-Canada line for oil.

They urged the president to accept the recommendations of Nahum Litt, federal power commission administrative law judge.

Litt recommended on Feb. 1 that the federal power commission grant Arctic Gas a certificate to build the Canadian route for natural gas.

"The decision of the administrative law judge was reached after 20 months of hearings, during which representatives of several states, environmental organizations, consumer groups and the three competing pipelines were permitted to cross-examine witnesses," the 13 senators told Carter.

"The 45,000-page hearing record provides conclusive evidence that the proposed Arctic Gas pipeline is the wisest of the three proposed delivery systems in terms of national energy needs, economics and environmental considerations."

The federal power commission is scheduled to make its recommendation by May 1. Other federal agencies and individual states may offer comments until July 1.

Before you invest in any RRSP ask about the guarantee.

All Registered Retirement Savings Plans guarantee to reduce your taxes but, with many plans, that is all that is guaranteed. There is no commitment to invest all of your deposit as part of it may be deducted for sales or administration charges. There is no guarantee against loss if your deposit is invested in stock or bond funds. In short, your RRSP investment may not be guaranteed to grow.

At City Trust we guarantee the growth of your RRSP

Every dollar you invest with City Trust is guaranteed to grow at a high interest rate for as long as five years. We do not charge fees of any kind, so all of your deposit is working for you. We invest your deposit in guaranteed investment certificates which City Trust guarantees against loss of capital. You invest for a set term, so we can guarantee a high rate of interest for the full term of your investment.

Here is what a City Trust Guaranteed RRSP can do for you

Invest $5,500 now. Assuming your contribution is invested for a five year term at 9½%*, interest compounded to maturity, your plan is guaranteed to be worth $8,658 at the end of five years.

Invest $1,000 every year in a City Trust Guaranteed RRSP. If the interest rate averages 9½%*, at the end of 30 years your investment of $30,000 will be worth over $163,900.

And every dollar you invest reduces your income tax.

If you invested in an RRSP and lost money because its value or earnings were not guaranteed, we can transfer your plan to City Trust and guarantee its present value and its future growth.

A guaranteed RRSP is the only kind we offer because we think it is the only kind you should invest your future in. Remember, high interest rate-guaranteed growth, coupled with no administration fees, no management fees, no sales commissions, in fact, no charges whatsoever.

There is a City Trust branch near you in Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton, Vancouver and Victoria.

Eberts Rink Remains in Race For Another National Crown

Times News Services

Tony Eberts of Williams Lake has retained the British Columbia mixed curling championship and will head for Halifax March 20-25 to defend his national crown.

Eberts, supported by third Elizabeth Short, second Clarke Glanville and lead Eleanor Short, scored a 4-3, extra-end victory over Darral Will of Kamloops on Sunday to finish the eight-rink, double-knockout provincial test with five straight victories.

The Eberts rink reached the final Saturday by trouncing Bernie Sparkes of Burnaby 8-3.

Will, beaten 7-5 by Eberts in the "A" final, earned his second chance at the Williams Lake foursome by coming back through the "B" side. Will climaxed his comeback by stealing a point on an extra end to defeat the Gord Carmichael rink of Victoria 7-6. Will had counted one of the 10th end to tie the score and then won the game when Carmichael wrecked on a guard with his last rock on the extra end.

It was Eberts who dropped Carmichael into the "B" bracket by defeating the Victoria rink 7-5 in the "A" semi-finals. The Island champs led 5-4 going into the final end, and with last-rock advantage, but Eberts counted three to pull it out.

Elsewhere in curling . . .

Another defending provincial mixed champion also made it back in Saskatchewan while a realtor from Edmonton will carry Alberta's hopes in the national finals.

Garnet Campbell of Avonlea, last year's winner in Saskatchewan, came back through the losers' side and defeated Duane Smith of Regina 7-5 and 6-5 in Sunday's showdown at Swift Current.

Don Sutton, 30, skipped his Edmonton Ottewell Club rink to victory in Alberta, finishing off the round-robin by trimming John McLeod of Calgary 9-5. Runnerup to Bernie Wylie of Calgary in last year's Alberta final, Sutton has Allan Hackner, Donna Shantz and Kay Savill on his rink.

Tigers Avenge Earlier Defeat

Victoria High Tigers are feeling better. Beaten by Reynolds in the playoff for the Lower Island high school girls' basketball title the previous weekend, the Tigers came back Saturday to defeat their rivals in the Vancouver Island final.

Sparked by Sandy Lewis, Tigers scored a convincing 60-41 victory over Reynolds. The six-foot-one Miss Lewis was named the most-valuable player in the eight-team Island tournament.

Vic High, Reynolds and Nanaimo Islanders, who defeated Courtenay to take third place, now advance to the B.C. tournament to be played in Penticton March 9-12.

Mt. Douglas Rambler finished fifth, followed by Campbell River, Parkland and Esquimalt.

WORLD TRACK MARKS FALL

SINDELFINGEN, West Germany (Reuter) — World records, featuring Olympic champion Annegret Richter, highlighted the West German indoor track and field championships Saturday.

Richter set a women's world 200-metre record of 23.22 seconds and anchored a Dortmund team to a world record time of 1:35.51 minutes in the 800-metre relay.

CRANBROOK BOXER WINS

Derrik Hoyt of Cranbrook defeated Jamie Ollenberger of Hastings Saturday in the most crowd-pleasing battle of a 12-bout amateur boxing card sponsored by the Victoria Athletic Association.

In winning, the 139-pound Hoyt earned a berth on the B.C. Team that will compete at the Edmonton Golden Gloves next weekend. Also making the trip will be Victoria's Mike Caird, who has been named assistant coach of the provincial team.

Carol, Emmy Lead Bowlers

Carol Currier and Emmy Plesch collected the coveted all-events crowns as the 36th annual championship tenpin tournament of the Victoria Women's Tenpin Bowling Association ended Sunday at Mayfair Lanes.

Carol nailed down handicap honors as she fired a nine-game count of 1,654 (560 in the team event, 539 in doubles and 555 in singles) and added a handicap total of 252 for a tally of 1,906.

Emmy bounced the pins for three-game series of 598, 552 and 579 to take the scratch all-events title with 1,729.

Irene set the pace in singles on a three-game count of 652 after rolling games of 208, 169 and 199 and adding a 76 handicap.

Pollock earned other individual honors during the tourney that attracted record entries in each event — 91 teams in doubles, 153 pairs in doubles and 217 singles entrants.

She fired the weekend's highest single game of 248 and notched the top three-game tally of 634.

Janet Hudson rolled the second - best single (234) and Pollock was followed on the three-game list by Darlene Cornett (584), Plesch (579), Darlene Williams (577), Morneau (576) and Sandra Wood (569).

Now Murray Knows the Record

Murray Keating, Debbie Scott, Tom Griffin and Joyce Yakubowich all won their specialities and a chance to compete for Canada in next weekend's tri-nation meet against the U.S and Russia in Toronto.

Keating, who set one of the seven senior records established during the two-day competition, may have to pass up his invitation. He had to return to Victoria today and may not get a chance to return to Toronto for the tri-nation meet.

Keating set his mark Saturday by throwing the 35-pound weight 19.88 metres, surpassing the old standard of 19.08 set by Gary Salmond of Burnaby in 1975.

Griffin won the men's 800 metres Sunday with a sparkling effort of 1:50.75, a time good enough to give him credit for three records The time bettered the previous Canadian indoor junior record of 1.51.8, set by Randy Makolosky of Calgary, who finished second to Griffin Sunday.

In addition, the time also gives Griffin the B.C. junior record as well as the B.C. senior open mark. Toronto's Bill Crothers held the previous B.C. open record, 1.51.1.

Scott won the women's 1,500 metres Saturday in 4:23.32, beating Montreal's Francine Gendron by almost four seconds. The Montreal miss, however, gained a measure of revenge Sunday when she beat Debbie in the 800.

Gendron's time Sunday was 2:06.82 compared to Debbie's 2:09.79. Scott's time, however, is considered excellent because she only recently resumed competing in the 800.

Mrs. Yakubowich captured her gold medal with a 54.39 time in the 400, defeating Marg Stride of St. Catherines, Ont.

Debbie Brill of Haney, a former University of Victoria student, won the high jump with a leap of 1.85 metres.

Saskatoon's Diane Jones set two of the records, she set marks in the shot put (16.23 metres) and the long jump (6.37), won the 50-metre hurdles and capped her brilliant performance by helping the 4x400 Prairie Golden team to victory in the relays.

In addition to Keating and Jones, other records were established by Claude Ferragne of Montreal in the high jump (2 25 metres, and erasing the 2.23 mark set by Olympic silver medallist Greg Joy of Vancouver); John Gamble of London in the men's pentathlon (3,639 points), Brian Saunders of Toronto in the men's 400 (48.21), and Jim Buchanan of Ottawa in the long jump (7.72 metres).

Diane Jones is a former Canadian women's pentathlon champion, but the title stayed in the family. Her younger sister, Joanne, won by amassing 4,031 points.

Keating admitted he was happy, but he did not seem to be overly excited about his record.

"I don't look for records," he said. "I try to do the best I can. I didn't even know what the record was."

Mikita Eases The Pressure

By The Canadian Press

The pressure was becoming too much to bear for Stan Mikita, even though he started scoring National Hockey League goals almost 18 years ago.

But at 13:56 of the third period Sunday night, Mikita beat Vancouver goaltender Cesare Maniago and reached a milestone only eight others have attained in the history of major league hockey—500 career goals.

However, the glamor of the triumph was tempered by the fact Mikita and his Chicago Black Hawk team-mates were beaten 4-3 by Vancouver Canucks.

"It was a thrill and a relief — a weight off my shoulders," said Mikita, 36, who joins a select circle including Gordie Howe, Bobby Hull, Phil Esposito, Maurice Richard, Frank Mahovlich, Johnny Bucyk, Jean Beliveau and Norm Ullman.

In other games Sunday, Los Angeles Kings dumped Buffalo Sabres 5-1, Montreal Canadiens trounced New York Rangers 8-1, Philadelphia Flyers edged Colorado Rockies 4-3 and Pittsburgh Penguins tied Boston Bruins 2-2.

On Saturday, Chicago edged the Rangers 2-1, New York Islanders blasted Atlanta Flames 8-2, Philadelphia dumped St. Louis Blues 5-1, Montreal whipped Cleveland Barons 5-3, Pittsburgh nipped Washington Capitals 2-1, Los Angeles shaded Detroit Red Wings 4-3, Minnesota North Stars blanked Vancouver 3-0 and Buffalo outlasted Toronto Maple Leafs 6-5.

Mikita recalled the first goal he scored, on Oct. 7, 1959, against Gump Worsley of the Rangers.

"I think Ted Lindsay shot the puck, and it hit me on the seat of my pants and went in."

On Sunday, he skated through Dennis Kearns and Larry Goodenough before backhanding a shot past Maniago. The Chicago Stadium crowd of 14,500 gave the 18-year veteran a five-minute standing ovation.

Bobby Lalonde scored twice while Dennis Ververgaert and Rick Blight got the other goals for Vancouver. The Black Hawks also got goals from Jim Harrison and Alain Daigle

At Buffalo, Marcel Dionne scored three goals to pace the Kings. He now has 40 for the season and, combined with 52 assists, stands in second spot in league scoring.

Murray Wilson collected two goals and an assist as the Canadiens extended their unbeaten string to 18 games, including 14 victories. Steve Shutt, the league's leading goal scorer, added his 49th of the season for the visitors.

HAPPY HAWK is Stan Mikita after firing 500th National Hockey League goal in Chicago Sunday night. All was not joyful for the 18-year veteran because Black Hawks were tripped 4-3 by Vancouver Canucks. (AP Wirephoto)

♦At Pittsburgh, Pierre Larouche's 26th goal of the season at 4:29 of the final period gave the Penguins the tie.

Referee Ron Wicks disallowed two potential first-period scores, one by Larouche and the other by team-mate Ron Schock.

Philadelphia erupted for three second-period goals, including Harvey Bennett's game-winner, to down the Rockies.

Colorado took a 2-1 lead at the end of the first period, but the visiting Flyers stormed back in the second, outshooting the Rockies 19-8 and taking a 4-2 lead before Paul Gardner's power-play goal narrowed it to 4-3 at 14:38 of the period

Lumber Girls Clear Decks For Shot at Second Title

The Jack Lusk-coached Victorians survived some exceptional outside shooting by the Crispy Critters to defeat the Vancouver club 80-78 in overtime Saturday and retain the British Columbia title.

Home Lumber won the first game in the best-of-three series 62-58 the previous weekend.

Lusk announced Sunday that Home Lumber will bolster its lineup with two players who helped the squad to victory in last year's national final.

Guard Wendy Grant, who played with Victoria last year before joining Vancouver BuzzBombs this season, and six-foot-two centre Gail Klaver of Simon Fraser will join Home Lumber for the trip to Saskatoon March 17-19.

Two foul shots by Angie Dobie, coming with less than a half minute left in overtime and with two Victoria starters on the sidelines, pulled off the victory.

Home Lumber lost Mary Coutts, their top rebounder, through fouls with about five minutes left in regulation time. Lorraine Tutte then fouled out in the overtime period.

But they had Dobie. The former national team player, who commutes from Nanaimo, was outstanding. In addition to providing the winning points, she rebounded strongly and contributed 32 points.

Lorna McHattie also came through in a big way. She scored 18 p-oints and the majority of her baskets came at crucial times.

SLICK SCORPION EFFORT, BUT BULLETS GO BETTER

VANCOUVER — Victoria Scorpions played an "above average" game Sunday but Burnaby Bullets managed to put together an "excellent effort and captured the B.C. senior "A" men's basketball title.

Bullets topped Scorpions 106-87 at Britannia High School Sunday after the Victoria club forced a deciding game in the best-of-three affair with a 110-91 victory Saturday.

Scorpions stayed with Bullets during the first half and trailed by only 49-44 at the break but the Burnaby club hit on their first three or four shots of the second half while Victoria missed and were never able to close the gap.

Warner Spann led Burnaby with an impressive 33 points, including 20 in the first half. Alex Devlin had 22, including 12 in the second half, and Gary Smith pumped in 12 of his 14 points after the break.

Burrows led Scorpions on Saturday with 23 points while Robinson added 21. Gord Hoshal, who had six Sunday, led efforts early in the second half Saturday with nine rebounds, including five defensive rebounds in a row. Hoshal scored 18 points Saturday.

SCORPIONS (87) — Bob Burrows 21, Gordie Hoshal 6, Gary Budd 6, Barry Birch 2, Don Burrows 11, Bill Robinson 21, Mike Bishop 4, Dave Mulcahey 4, Ken Shields 10.

Trouble on the Road

Western Canada Hockey League teams today make the turn into the final month of the season and Victoria Cougar owner-coach Pat Ginnell "wouldn't mind" if his charges improved their travelling style for the stretch run.

"We've got a good schedule the rest of the way," said Ginnell, "but in order to finish second in our division, we'll have to pick up a few points on the road."

Cougars have 13 games remaining, including seven at home. And home is where they have managed to acquire most of their points. Cougars have lost only twice in Memorial Arena this season but have said "ouch" 23 times away from home.

The success pattern was familiar at the weekend. Sparked by Gordie Robertson's two goals and the steady netminding of Murray Bannerman, Victoria defeated Flin Flon Bmbers 5-3 at the Arena on Saturday but dropped a 3-0 decision to the Winter Hawks in Portland on Sunday.

That split and one by Kamloops Chiefs created a look of extreme tightness in the Western Division. New Westminster Bruins are off by themselves, in first, but only one point separates the other three teams in the division — Victoria, Kamloops and Portland.

Kamloops dropped a 10-6 verdict in Medicine Hat on Saturday but rebounded Sunday by defeating Regina Pats 6-3.

In other games, New Westminster dropped Flin Flon 7-2 as winger Mark Lofthouse scored four times, and Lethbridge edged Saskatoon Blades 3-2.

Despite the loss, Bannerman was the standout in the game at Portland Sunday. He kept Cougars in contention by stopping 56 shots while rival Randy Ireland turned away only 23 to post his second shutout.

Tony Currie scored Portland's first two goals in a game marred by only two minor penalties, one to each team.

Robertson, despite playing with a bruised shoulder, hit the 30-goal plateau with his pair Saturday night. Paul Enquist, Gregg Anderson and Leroy Heck also counted for the Cougars, who meet Flin Flon again Tuesday evening.

Sauter, Lecuyer Out Indefinitely

CALGARY (CP)—Six Western Canada Hockey League players and one coach have been suspended following a brawl during a game Wednesday between Calgary Centennials and Lethbridge Broncos, league president Ed Chynoweth announced Sunday.

Lethbridge coach Mike Sauter and Calgary forward Doug Lecuyer were suspended indefinitely. Chynoweth said a decision would be made on their penalties at a special hearing Tuesday.

Sauter was ejected from the game for slapping Centennial forward Grant Morin after the Calgary player spit in the Bronco coach's face. Morin was suspended for four games for inciting the Lethbridge bench during the fracas.

Lecuyer drew a match penalty when he attacked Rocky Saganiuk of Lethbridge instead of going to the penalty box after a fight with Broncos' John Scammell.

Scammell, teammate Ray Munro, and Gary Rissling of Calgary were suspended for two games each. Kevin suspended for five games for suspended for five gates for being the first identifiable player to leave the players' benches during the incident.

In another incident involving the Centennials and Kamloops Chiefs Thursday in Calgary, Chynoweth announced suspensions to one player and coach Fred Hilts of Calgary.

Austrians Sweep Races in Japan

FURANO, Japan (CP) — Austrian competitors, with Monika Kaserer and Klaus Heideger leading the way, made a sweep of the Japanese leg of the World Cup ski series Sunday with victories in the women's giant slalom and men's slalom.

Kathy Kreiner of Timmons, Ont., the only Canadian representative in the Japanese series, wound up eighth with a clocking of one minute, 41.32 seconds after finishing 18th in Saturday's slalom.

The 24-yeaar-old Kaserer, her country's top slalom specialist, defeated World Cup leader Lise-Marie Morerod of Switzerland with a time of 1:37.32.

Morerod, who leads the women's race with 258 points, placed second in 1:38.54 with Annemarie Moser-Proell of Austria finishing third in 1:40.02.

Moser-Proell is second in the points department with 226 well ahead of Kaerer who has 181.

Regina Sackl, 17, won Saturday's women's slalom for Austria and Hans Hinterseer took the man's giant slalom Friday.

Heidegger won the men's slalom by 23 hundredths of a second over Ingemar Stenmark of Sweden, moving to within 11 points of the leaders.

Heidegger had runs of 52.50 seconds and 1:05.15 for a total of 1:57.65. He earned 25 points and raised his total to 134 to retain his third-place standing.

Gottfried Tops Vilas In Final

RANCHO MIRAGE, Calif. (AP) — Brian Gottfried of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., came back from a first-set loss Sunday to defeat Guillermo Vilas of Argentina 2-6, 6-1, 6-3, and capture the singles championship of a $225,000 tennis tournament.

Coho Girls Sparkle

Judy Newman and Lawrence Wright of Juan de Fuca Cohoes collected six Victories each to lead the list of multiple winners in the Vancouver Island region swim meet at the weekend in Centennial Pool.

Miss Newman dominated the senior girls competition with firsts in the 50, 100 and 200-metre freestyle races and claimed laurels in the 200 breaststroke, 400 individual medley and 100 butterfly events.

Wright, competing in the boys's 13 and 14 age bracket, won the 50, 200 and 400 freestyle events and the 100 butterfly, 100 backstroke and 400 individual medley races.

Three other Coho swimmers came up with more than two victories.

Lorraine Morrison won the 13 and 14 girls' 50, 200 and 400 freestyle events and the 100 backstroke.

Brothers Dale and Paul Sparrow each picked up three wins. Dale won the senior boys' 200 freestyle, 200 breaststroke and 400 individual medley while Paul finished atop the 11 and 12 boys' 100 freestyle, 200 backstroke and 200 individual medley races.

Double winners were Steve Foss of Cohoes (senior boys' 50 and 100 freestyle), Wendy Boellaard of Cohoes (11 and 12 girls' 100 freestyle and 100 breaststroke), Boyd Grealy of Victoria Amateur Swim Club (10 and under boys' 100 butterfly and 200 individual medley), Jeanne Helgeson of Victoria Flying "Y" (10 and under girls' 200 individual medley and 100 butterfly) and Holly Addison of VASC (10 and under girls' 200 freestyle and 200 backstoke).

Gary Gets 'Rolled'

. . . faded at finish

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — "I sort of steamrolled ahead," was the way Jack Nicklaus explained winning the $250,000 Jackie Gleason-Inverrary golf tournament Sunday—his 61st Professional Golfers Association title.

Nicklaus, 37, fell one shot behind playing partner Gary Player of South Africa on the eighth hole Sunday with his second consecutive bogey. Then he outshot Player by seven shots on the next nine holes to win the $50,000 first prize.

Nicklaus had a final-round two-under-70 for a 72-hole total of 275.

Where Nicklaus really won the tournament was on the 532-yard 15th hole. He got an eagle three with a 30-foot putt to move four shots ahead and said: "I figured I could just walk home from there."

Player, who ended at eight-under 280 with a 73 Sunday, took second and won $28,500. Gil Morgan finished the day with a four-over 76 and shared third place money of $13,250 with Jim Simons and Fuzzy Zoeller at six-under 282. Simons closed with a 70 and Zoeller à 73.

Nicklaus now is tied with Ben Hogan for second spot on the all-time victory list behind Sam Snead's 84 triumphs.

He is the first established veteran to win this year. Previous winners on the West Coast were Bruce Lietske twice, Tom Watson twice, Jerry Pate and Tom Purtzer.

Philly Finds Some Defence

By The Associated Press

There was more to Philadelphia '76ers on Sunday night than Julius Erving and George McGinnis.

Caldwell Jones made his presence felt, dominating inside play with 15 rebounds and six blocked shots, as the '76ers whipped Seattle SuperSonics 93-85 in a National Basketball Association game.

"I thought this was a tremendous game defensively for us, especially the job that Jones did," said Philadelphia coach Gene Shue. "Defence is something that we've lacked in the last few games."

McGinnis and Erving also were noticeable. McGinnis tied Jones for the high in rebounds and Erving led the '76ers with 22 points.

In other NBA games, Golden State Warriors defeated New York Nets 104-98, Denver Nuggets walloped Boston Celtics 121-100, San Antonio Spurs blasted New Orleans Jazz 135-118, Washington Bullets whipped Buffalo Braves 117-105 and Los Angeles Lakers edged Houston Rockets 106-101.

On Saturday, New York Knicks downed Indiana Pacers 129-115, Atlanta Hawks beat San Antonio 119-111, Chicago Bulls topped Cleveland Cavaliers 104-98, Washington downed Milwaukee Bucks 105-102 and Boston defeated Phoenix Suns 108-104.

Philadelphia, which scored only 14 points in the third quarter, regained its offensive momentum and tightened its defence in the fourth quarter, blasting Seattle 27-12 in the final 12 minutes.

Phil Smith scored nine of his game-high 24 points in the final six minutes, rallying Golden State past the Nets. The Warriors blew a 15-point lead before making their comeback.

Elvin Hayes scored 11 of his 40 points in the final four minutes, leading Washington past Buffalo. The Bullets, who swept the four-game season series from Buffalo, trailed by as many as 18 points in the first quarter and did not take the lead until 7:49 remained in the game.

Yarborough Wins Again

Cale Yarborough muscled out of the pack, then held off Darrell Waltrip for victory Sunday in the $75,000 Richmond 400, which ended at 244 laps when rain hit Fairgrounds Speedway.

It was the second victory in three Grand National stock car races this season for Yarborough, who is off to a strong defence of his national championship.

Waltrip was only a car length behind when rain came for the second time in the afternoon. Benny Parson, the only other driver on the lead lap, was third.

Nina Close to Upset In Duel with Wendy

By MAX LOW
Times Staff

Wendy kept the record straight. And it was almost a repeat of last year's final in the men's singles final when the third annual Island Indoor Classic tennis tournament ended Sunday night.

Almost, but not quite.

Victoria-born Don McCormick, who now hails from Vancouver, downed Tony Bardsley of Vancouver in the final of that one last year but this time around the harder-hitting Bardsley reversed things. He won the final 6-3, 6-7, 6-3 in a match that was a bit of a disappointment for the 200 or so fans.

Rather than a battle of serves between the two nationally-ranked pros, it became a struggle of service breaks and a match riddled by far too many unforced errors. Rather incredibly, there were six service breaks in the first nine games!

Neither was playing at his peak and both appeared a little tired.

"Oh well," said McCormick, "it is the middle of winter, you know!"

Far more exciting for spectators was the women's "A" singles final where Wendy Barlow took the court as hot favorite to take the title over Nina Bland. There had seemed little doubt in it because Wendy had played Nina at least 10 times before and had never been beaten by her.

It seemed certain this would be 11 contests without a loss when Wnedy cruised to a 6-1 victory in the first set. But astonishingly, Nina came bouncing back and swept the second set 6-0 and then, with the Island Indoor Tennis Centre bubble hushed, had match point in the tiebreaker with the games at 6-6 in the third and final set.

But Wendy's power and persistence won out — she took the tiebreaker eight points to six.

The appearance of the whole University of British Columbia men's and women's tennis teams and of players from Washington State made for record entries in this Molson-sponsored event. there were 52 players in the men's "A" singles and 31 in the men's "B"

Three Tied for Lead

HALIFAX (CP) — Carole Topp of Quebec, Myrna McQuarrie of Alberta and Dorothy McKenzie of Manitoba hared the top of the tanding with 2-0 record after two round of the Canadian women' curling championhip Sunday.

Topp, repreenting Montreal' Caledonia Curling Club, edged Donna Alexander of Yukon - Northwest Territorie 7-5 in a econd-round game and outlated Newfoundland' Karen Cole 6-4 in a firt-round match.

McQuarrie built a five-point lead in a round-one game with Phylli Drydale of Prince Edward Iland, then held off the Charlottetown entry for a 6-4 verdict. That followed a 10-4 round one win over Heather Kerr' Britih Columbia rink from Richmond.

McKenzie tole ingle point on the final two end to trip B.C. 8-4 in a econd-round match while taking only ix end to dipoe of Ontario' Nini Mutch 11-3 in the opening round.

In other econd-round action, Mutch, repreenting Humber Highland club of Toronto, humbled Cole of St. John' 13-3 in even end and Grace Donald of Fredericton, after a firt-round bye, trimmed Jean Skinner of Sydney, N.S., 12-3 in nine end.

Other firt-round core howed Nova Scotia with a 10-5 win over P. E. I. and Crytal Brune of Prince Albert, Sak., with a 9-3 win over YukonN.W.T. in eight end. Sakatchewan had a econd-round bye.

"We're really urpried," aid McQuarrie, who built a 4-0 lead before P.E.I. could get on the board. "We got the jump on them and then I made a mitake in the eighth. I went for a plit and didn't do it and Phylli got an abolutely perfect shot in behind and got two."

"We got three in that one and we kind of relaxed. They (Nova Scotia) didn't recover and we stole two more in the second. That probably made all the difference."

Curling Champs

LETHBRIDGE (CP) — University of Saskatchewan women's and men's rinks, skipped by Pat Crimp and Cam Hutchinson, scored victories Saturday to capture the Canada West University Athletic Association championships.

Crown for Khalsa

MISSION — Khalsa of Victoria came from behind twice Sunday to win the British Columbia senior "B" men's volleyball crown.

Khalsa downed Okanagan 13-15, 15-9, 15-1 in the final after easing past Prince George 6-15, 15-9, 15-2 in the semi-finals.

Dave Shoker, who is also an outstanding basketball player for Spectrum Community School, and Surjit Sal led Khalsa's spiking attack while Kuldip Virk came up with an outstanding setting effort.

In the quarterfinals, Khalsa topped the University of British Columbia 15-13, 15-4 while two other Victoria squads, Great Pumpkin and Namdor, lost out to Mission and Prince George, respectively.

Multigrade, the other Victoria team entered, was eliminated in the round-robin preliminaries

Bears Grab 'Goodies'

EDMONTON — Shooting of the University of Victoria Vikings went sour and the Canada West University Athletic Association men's basketball "goodies" went to Alberta's Golden Bears.

The Bears, winners by a 61-59 margin Friday, swept the best-of-three championship series in two straight by whipping Vikings 69-55 Saturday.

Alberta now heads for Halifax as the CWUAA representative in the Canadian intercollegiate championships next weekend.

As in the opening game Friday, Vikings experienced dismal shooting success Saturday. Only Grant Boland, who hit on 58 per cent of his shots from the field, and forward Lee Edmondson, with 56 per cent, enjoyed any degree of success.

Overall, Vikings scored on only 30 per cent of their shots compared to Alberta's 46.

The biggest disappointments for Victoria coach Ken Shields were the usually-reliable Jim Dudderidge and guard Robbie Parris. Dudderidge hit the target at a 25-per-cent clip, while Parris didn't connect on any of his 11 field goal attempts.

Doug Baker sparked the Golden Bears. Scoring on a resounding 81-per-cent of his shots, Baker pumped in 28 points, and Pat Rooney added 13.

Edmondson, with 15, and Boland, with 12, topped the Vikings.

Vikings started out strongly despite Alberta's full-press defensive tactics. Victoria bounced into a 10-2 in the opening minutes but Baker then began to connect, Viking shooting cooled, and Alberta led 39-22 at the half.

Alberta picked off 32 rebounds to Victoria's 28 although UVic committed only 12 turnovers to the Bears' 17.

It's the second time in three years that Vikings have had to settle for runner-up honors in the West. Two years ago while coached by Gary Taylor, Vikings lost to UBC Thunderbirds in the final.

Acadia will represent the host Atlantic Conference in next weekend's nationals after clipping University of Prince Edward Island 84-82 in the East Coast title game

VIKINGS (55): Grant Boland 12, Mickey Welder 8, Robbie Parris, Jim Duddridge 8, Chris Hebb 2, Lee Edmondson 15, Ted Anderson, Tom Watson 2, Ian Hyde-Lay, Dale McLaughlin 2, Warren Wagstaff 6.

Lake Girls Whip Vics

LAKE COWICHAN — Lake Cowichan ended Victoria's domination of the Vancouver Island junior women's basketball title with an impressive sweep of the best-of-three series at the weekend.

ANGIE'S NANAIMO CLUB ROLLS PAST VALKYRIES

Nanaimo A & B Construction, coached by Angie Dobie, used its height and strong conditioning to good advantage in breezing to the Vancouver Island senior "B" women's basketball championship at the weekend.

Opening with an 83-41 victory over Comox, Nanaimo then trounced Victoria Valkyries 94-34 and wrapped up the four-team, double-loss tournament by defeating the Victoria squad again, 91-46, Sunday at Mount View.

"Rocky" Kinahan was named the most-valuable player while three Nanaimo clubmates — Stern, Hillary Bitten and Julie Lindsay — were named to the Island all-star team. Ruth Evans of Duncan and Marg Barber of Victoria were other all-star choices. Mary Summerville of Comiox and Duncan's Karen Chaster received honorable mention.

Although eliminated by Victoria, Duncan will join Nanaimo in advancing to the provincial finals. Duncan makes it as the host team for the March 18-19 playoffs at Lake Cowichan.

Lansdowne Takes Two Hoop Titles

Lansdowne's teams enjoyed an all-winning weekend in basketball.

Flyers blew a 19-point, half-time lead but held on to edge Belmont Sun Devils 54-52 Saturday in the Island final at Belmont. Russ Mosher scored 14 points to spark Lansdowne while Craig Barnes topped Belmont with 18.

Lake Trail of Courtenay defeated Gulf Islands 57-49 to finish third while John Barsby of Nanaimo finished fourth

Mosher scored 33 points as Lansdowne dropped Lake Trail 77-38 to advance to the final.

Lansdowne's girls captured the district title by defeating Colquitz 59-38. Diana Thornton paced the winners with 24 points while Heather Boyd topped Colquitz with 10.

Both teams advance to Island finals, to be played next weekend at Parkland. A third South Island entry will be determined tonight after Harbor View and a Sooke-Saanich squad play a special challenge game at Harbor View.

Kirzinger Wrecks Trilec

North Shore Mountaineers, sparked by the performance of a former Oak Bay high school standout, defeated Trilec Installation of Victoria 83-74 and 82-76 to sweep the best-of-three British Columbia junior men's basketball final at Mount View at the weekend

Dave Kirzinger, an Oak Bay grad now attending UBC on a football scholarship, paced North Shore with 18 points Saturday and then erupted for 33 more on Sunday. Kirzinger was selected as the most-valuable player in the provincial series.

Steve Prescod scored 26 points for Trilec in Sunday's game and Darryl Johnson added 13. Both were named to the all-star team along with Bob Walter, Pat Kelly and Vic Grundy of North Shore.

ALBERTA'S SWINGIN' SUMMER

Like costume parties? Here's a chance to put on a store-bought cowboy hat and act like you're on the set of a western movie. Or get all gussied up in home made ruffles, or vest and high hat.
Hi there, Klondike Kate. Hi, Cowpoke!
Like dancing? Well come and square dance in the streets. Or polka. Or waltz. Or boogie in a night spot that's never been livelier.
Like parades? Big name entertainers? Chorus lines and comedy? Midways? A little fling in the casinos? A wager on a horse with your luckiest cousin's name? Carryin' on 'till all hours?
All you have to do is be here — in Alberta — this summer. Anytime between July 8th and July 30th.
There isn't another party like it. Over a million Albertans get involved, starting in Calgary then moving on to Edmonton.
It's a party in the streets, in the stores, in restaurants and nightspots, in apartments and homes, in front of the grandstand, on the ferris wheels and rocket rides, in a 16,000-seat coliseum — and in the air, if you just left the back of a wild Brahma bull. (Some party, eh?)
It covers 200 miles and more than three weeks of sheer fun and excitement. The Calgary Stampede and Edmonton's Klondike Days.
© 1975 TM
There's nothing like it in North America. And you're invited.

You'll make new friends. (If it takes more than five minutes, that's unsociable.) And you'll have more to see, do and enjoy than anywhere else we can think of.
What are you waiting for? If you're planning your summer vacation, make sure all or part of it is in Alberta while our big party is in full swing.
On the other hand there's no way to miss a good time, because you'll find lots of the spirit that makes Klondike Days and the Stampede so much fun, anytime you come. If you're with a large group, we can even stage a mini Stampede or Klondike Days for you.
For planning information, just write The Biggest Party in North America, P.O. Box 16000, Edmonton, Alberta, Canada T5J 2P4

Vikings Out of Steam After Mauling Oregon

Unfortunately, Vikings didn't seem to have as much steam Sunday in the Vancouver Island Rugby Union and dropped a 12-6 decision to Cowichan in a first division match at Duncan.

Gary Grant scored four tries to lead Vikings to victory and the UVic club held a 26-0 advantage at half time.

In other first division matches Saturday, Oak Bay Wanderers moved into third place with an 8-6 win over Castaways and leading James Bay Athletic Association romped to a 66-0 shutout over last-place Saanich Velox.

Nanaimo blanked Velox "A" 34-0, Oak Bay topped Cowichan 9-6, Royal Roads and Castaways battled to a 7-7 deadlock and Velox "B" nudged Agrarians 11-6 in second division play Saturday.

In third division matches Sunday, Oak Bay topped Royal Roads 21-3, Castaways edged UVic Saxons 9-8 and Vampires tripped Cowichan, 18-8.

SPRINT CROWN SURPRISES SYLVIA

ALKMAAR, The Netherlands (CP) — Winnipeg's Sylvia Burka rebounded from the loss of her world speed skating title two weeks ago to win the women's world sprint championship Sunday with a total of 177.15 points.

Burka, 22, who won the 1,000 metres and finished second in the 500 metres Sunday after winning a bronze medal in the 500 and gold in the 1,000 metres Saturday, said her performance was surprising.

"I'm not really a sprinter," she said. "I wasn't nervous because I didn't expect to do so well, and this made me skate freely without tension."

Burka lost her world speed skating title to Vera Brindzej of the Soviet Union when she fell in the last race at Keystone, Colo., two weeks ago, but the tables were turned Saturday when Brindzej fell during the first heat of the 500 metres.

Burka held a slim lead over Kim Kostron of the United States after Saturday's competition, but her sizzling first-place time of one minute, 27.91 seconds in the 1,000 metres wrapped up the championship.

Leah Poulos of the U.S. was second with 179.545 points while Haistske Pijlman of the Netherlands finished third with 180.495. Kostron was fifth.

Eric Heiden of the U.S. grabbed his third world title in three weeks by taking the men's sprint championship with 157.455 points.

The 18-year-old University of Wisconsin student won the two 1,000-metre series and placed second and sixth in the two 500-metre races.

CUT OPERATING COSTS WITH YOUTHPOWER!

If you own a business, run a farm or operate a non-profit organization, here's your chance to put British Columbia's students, unemployed youth and disadvantaged youngsters to work for you this summer.

It's called the Provincial Youth Employment Program. They work for you, we'll help pay their wages:

Here's what it can do for you:

It can help to tide you over the staff vacation period. Or you can start a new, short-term work project at about half the cost for staff. You can add the hard-working people you need for that peak period on the farm. You can get the staff and funds you wanted for that worthwhile community project.

And most important, you'll be providing much needed skills and experience for the young people of this Province.

Have you ever said "why don't the youngsters do something for me for a change?" Now's your chance!

Just check the list below and call the Ministry of Labour Field Co-ordinator nearest you. Ask for an application form and program regulations. It's that simple. Applications are also available from any other Ministry of Labour office or Provincial Government Agent.

Wests Back in Front

Victoria West, sparked by some standout goaltending from Jim de Goede, gained the upper hand in the premier division of the Vancouver Island Soccer League by blanking Victoria Athletics 3-0 Saturday at Royal Athletic Park.

Wests won the battle between the last two Canadian Club championship squads before approximately 500 fans and moved back into first place, one point ahead of Athletics and with a game in hand.

In Sunday matches, Nanaimo City blanked DaVinci 2-0 at Topaz Park, UVic Vikings topped Gorge Molsons 4-2 at UVic, Oak Bay dropped Gorge United 5-1 at Heywood Avenue Park and Powell River Villas tripped the visiting Cosmopolitan Royals, 3-1.

Mike Sails scored on a penalty shot at the 16-minute mark to give the 1976 Canadian-champion Wests a 1-0 lead at half time. Sails was tripped while attempting to cut in on the net.

Rob Williams booted in the rebound of a drive by Steve Forslund at 73 minutes and Gary McLaren closed out scoring for Wests with three minutes remaining.

Athletics, who won the national title in 1975, played an aggressive game but couldn't crack the defensive barrier erected by de Goede, who made several spectacular saves. One of the thwarted shooters was Bob Bolitho, who leaves soon to join Vancouver Whitecaps of the North American Soccer League.

Ray Clarke and Don Attig connected for the Nanaimo goals which moved the Hub City side into a tie for third place with Molsons.

John Leier set the pace for Vikings with two goals while singles were added by Gordon Manzini and Doug Purich. Dan Green scored both goals for Gorge Molsons on penalty shots.

At Heywood Avenue Park, Clayton Booth, Derek Paul, Jose de Bruin, Joe Milligan and John Hughes connected for Oak Bay while Clayton's brother, Greg, averted a shutout for Gorge United.

Winnipeg Wins

WINNIPEG (CP) — University of Winnipeg Wesman won the Great Plains Athletic Conference women's basketball championship Saturday night with a 78-46 victory over University of Regina Cougars.

Winnipeg took the best-of-three final in straight games, having scored a 69-47 triumph Friday night.

RANKIN RECORDS SECOND VICTORY

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Judy Rankin, who set an all-time money-winning record last year on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour, shot a final-round 69 Sunday for a four-shot victory over Clifford Ann Creed in the $100,000 Bent Tree golf tournament.

The 32-year-old Texan finished with a 7-under-par 209 to claim $15,000 and her second victory in three tour stops this year. She lost a playoff in the season opener two weeks ago in Miami and won last week in St. Petersburg.

Creed shot a 69 for a 213 in her last tournament before beginning a job as head professional at a hometown Sulphur, La., club this week.

Pam Higgins of Palm Springs, Calif., who had a final 73 for a 214, was the only other player under par.

Beth Stone of Miami, co-leader with Rankin after 36 holes, stumbled to a 77 and finished in a three-way tie for fourth with Jane Blalock and Sandra Palmer.

Canadian-born Sandra Post blew to an 81 Sunday and finished with a 227 total to pocket $490 while Dale Shaw of Victoria failed to make the cut for the final round with a 160 total, including Saturday's round of 78.

THAILAND HALTED

SINGAPORE (Reuter) — Singapore beat Thailand 2-0 in their Asian group one World Cup preliminary soccer game Sunday.

ANDERSON SALUTED

NEW YORK — Marian Anderson, who overcame racial bias to become an internationally renowned opera singer, was honored on her 75th birthday Sunday in a concert at Carnegie Hall attended by First Lady Rosalynn Carter.

Young Audiences, a nonprofit educational performing arts program which tours schools throughout the United States, presented the concert as a tribute to the retired singer, who has worked closely with the group.

Mrs. Carter, in her first official visit outside Washington as First Lady, watched the concert from a box at Carnegie Hall with Miss Anderson.

During the second half of the program, Mrs. Carter read a message from her husband to Miss Anderson, in which the president noted that both Houses of Congress last Friday authorized a special Congressional gold medal to be struck by the U.S. Treasury in her honor. She was the first black to receive the honor.

Mayor Abraham D. Beame presented the singer with the Handel Medallion, the city's highest cultural medal, and a representative of the United Nations presented the one-time U.N. delegate with a U.N. Peace Medal and read a congratulatory statement from Secretary General Kurt Waldheim.

Labor Boss Missing, Nevada Police Baffled

LAS VEGAS — An investigation continues into the mysterious disappearance of Nevada's most powerful labor boss, Al Bramlet, and police said Sunday they have no clues to his whereabouts. "I hope we don't have a Hoffa case on our hands," said an investigator, referring to the disappearance 1½ years ago of former Teamsters' leader Jimmy Hoffa. Bramlet's wife, Barbara, said her husband telephoned a hotel executive last Thursday and asked him to deliver $10,000 to a Las Vegas casino. But she said she did not know why he wanted the money. Bramlet has ruled the powerful Local 226, Culinary Workers Union, in Las Vegas with an iron hand for about 25 years. Last year, his 22,000-member local went on strike at 12 resort hotels on the famed Las Vegas Strip. The union members stayed out for three weeks and won major concessions from the hotel management. The walkout cost the local economy an estimated $26 million.

PARIS — More than 1,000 followers of rebel Archbishop Marcel Lefebvre occupied a Roman Catholic church in the heart of Paris Sunday and staged a "tradionalist" Mass in Latin despite attempts by the organ player to drown them out. The traditionalist Catholics, who have been holding their services in sports stadiums and banquet halls, vowed to stay in the Left Bank church of Saint Nicolas du Chardonnet until state authorities give them a church of their own.

They reportedly spent the night inside the church praying. Witnesses said there was no violence but a scene of utter confusion as the traditionalists, led by Msgr Francois Ducaud-Bourget and Father Louis Coache, surged into the church at the end of the regular Sunday service. As they streamed in, they chanted Latin canticles and shouted, "Catholic and French forever," while the church organist stubbornly tried to drown them out.

LOS ANGELES — Millionaire industrialist Robert McCulloch died from a combination of barbiturates and alcohol, the coroner said Saturday. County Coroner Thomas Noguchi said an autopsy shows the cause of death was "short-acting barbiturate intoxication." He said a behavioral scientist will be asigned to the case to investigate whether the death is a suicide.

ALICE, Tex.—The two teenagers who dug up half a million dollars but cannot hang onto it may strike it rich again. Percy Gargia, 16, and Dean Bridges, 15, still had $486,000 when police chanced across them last month. The money now is in a bank, pending resolution of the bizarre case, but the Internal Revenue Service has placed a $300,000 lien against it. However, the fortunes of the two high school sophomores may be looking up. "What the Internal Revenue has taken, Hollwood will return," says Antonio Santillan, a Los Angeles movie producer who has the two youths under contract for rights to a movie.

PERON TO EXILE?

BUENOS AIRES — Former Argentine president Isabel Peron, charged with misusing government funds, may be freed by the ruling military junta in March and go into exile," the newspaper Cronica said Sunday.

Mrs. Peron has been under arrest at various military prisons since the coup that ended her government March 24. She became president after her husband, Juan Peron, died in 1974.

POM ALL WET

SYDNEY — Englishman Michael Speed claimed a world record Sunday after an eight-day shower, and said he hopes he has put to rest Australia's image of the "unwashed Pom."

Pom is Australian slang for a Briton

Poetic Policeman A Paradox

When he was a "typical long-haired, bearded, hippie freak," he got cracked over the head by a truncheon-wielding cop in Chicago, he said in a recent interview.

Later, as a Metropolitan Toronto policeman, when he was getting a coffee for a young radical brought into the station for questioning, the young man pushed all Jewinski's notes for poems in a pile and burned them.

The two incidents, however, had one good result for the policeman who wears a "Cops are tops" button when giving one of his frequent poetry readings.

The incidents provided the inspiration for poems, he said.

The policeman's life has provided other rich material for the 30-year-old who has managed to achieve success in both spheres of his double life.

He has guarded the Rolling Stones from hungry groupies, given mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to corpses, been at robberies, drownings, domestic disputes and tavern brawls and become friendly with hookers and drunks.

Indian Woman Named Citizenship Judge

VANCOUVER (CP)—Judge Marjorie Cantryn takes on her appointment to the Court of Canadian Citizenship with the congratulations and blessing of the native Indian community, to whom she has devoted half her life.

More than 50 friends and relatives gathered at the Indian Education Centre to honor Judge Cantryn, 40, who last week became the first native Indian in Canada appointed to the citizenship court.

It was also was a celebration of her heritage, with Indian ceremony, dance and potlatch.

"My new position is a lot different than the work I've been doing with my people," she told her friends

"I used to be able to run around and help my people, but now I'm going to be stuck in a court and my other activities are going to be limited for the next three years."

She assured her friends that she would be there to lend support to their work in the Indian community.

"I think it's fantastic they have got an Indian as a citizenship court judge," she said in an interview. "We are the true Canadians, and as an Indian on the bench welcoming people, I think it's a wonderful feeling.

"Our culture is very dear to me, and I'm sure those coming to Canada from other backgrounds are very proud of their own cultures."

Judge Cantryn's appointment comes after 20 years of involvement in British Columbia native organizations.

She has been a court worker and family counsellor, founded a half-way house for native Indian former prisoners, was on the police commission and has supported programs for youth and native women.

In addition, she worked to establish a referral and social service centre in Vancouver, and a provincial association of Indian friendship centres.

Judge Cantryn, who lives in Burnaby with her husband and two children, grew up in Bamfield on the west coast of Vancouver Island is a member of the Ohiat Band.

She came to Vancouver in 1956 to complete a practical nursing course. After two years as a nurse in an island hospital and at the residential school she had attended in Port Alberni, she returned to Vancouver, becoming involved in the Indian community here.

EATON'S WRONG ON NAMES: MAIR

KAMLOOPS — Consumer Affairs Minister Rafe Mair says it is dangerous and wrong for Eaton's to rent names and addresses of catalogue sales customers to the junk mail industry.

Members of his staff are going to investigate the situation and make recommendations, Mair added.

He said he disagrees with the company's contention that names and addresses are public information, and said the practice shows that large organizations sometimes forget that personal privacy is important.

The store's catalogue-sales department, which went out of business last year, had names of 2.75 million Canadians. The list now is being rented without knowledge of those customers.

A spokesman for Eaton's said Friday that the national department store chain didn't ask permission of its customers to rent their names because "your name and address are really public information, anyway."

"People don't legally have property rights to their names so we don't see any problem," said Vern Reynolds in a telephone interview from Toronto.

Competition Cut

TORONTO (CP) — Gene Amdahl, United States computer manufacturer, says domination of the computer industry by International Business Machines Corp. of New York is inhibiting further development of large-scale computers. He said computer users have invested $200 billion to develop systems based on IBM products and IBM could not upset the investment by introducing a radically new form of computer architecture.

Quakes Set Fairbanks Trembling

FAIRBANKS (AP) — A lightly settled area southeast of here has the shakes, literally. For the last two weeks, minor earthquake have kept the ground in almost constant motion.

As many as 100 tremors a day have been recorded in the area since Feb. 10, when they began without advance build-up. "We woke up one morning and there they were," said Larry Gedney, a University of Alaska geophysicist who has been monitoring the quakes. "It was very unusual for an earthquake swarm. Usually, they sort of build up, then taper off. But not in this case.

"They've been going on for two weeks now, maintaining a relatively constant level of intensity. That's why I regard this series as so unusual."

The vast majority of the quakes have been so small that they have gone unnoticed by residents of the so-called Badger Road area, about six miles from Fairbanks.

"There are dozens and dozens of them that nobody feels," Gedney said.

But several have been large enough to cause apprehension, such as the sharpest jolt of the swarm thus far, a Quake of 3.7 on the Richter scale recorded shortly after the dinner hour last Wednesday.

The Richter scale measures ground motion as recorded on seismographs. Each increase of one number is a tenfold increase in magnitude, thus a reading of 7.5 reflects a quake 10 times stronger than one of 6.5.

Gedney says the quakes originate from a 10-mile segment of a deep fault that runs south of Fairbanks on a line between Nenana, 45 miles southwest of here, to the head of the Chena River, 55 miles northeast of Fairbanks.

"We have gone over the area with a fine tooth comb, and we can't find any ground breakage," Gedney said. "And we've been looking for 10 years."

Fairbanks last has a major earthquake on June 21, 1967, when a jolt measuring 6.8 on the Richter scale caused some minor structural damage, but no injuries.

Gedney says he doesn't believe the current swarm of tremors presages another quake of that magnitude.

LOSS OF $5,000 is estimated after fire destroyed a barn and about two tons of hay at 3730 Press Avenue Saturday afternoon. Saanich firefighters said the wooden barn was so dried out it was fully engulfed before they arrived. The hay was owned by Joseph McDonald. (Irving Strickland photo).

B.C. FOOD INDUSTRY INQUIRY SOUGHT

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Consumer Affairs Minister Rafe Mair said Saturday that there should be an inquiry into the food industry.

The minister said an inquiry should be a wide-ranging and a look at the entire food industry, not just food prices.

Mair said he is sure that Agriculture Minster Jim Hewitt agrees with him and the two will go before cabinet in the next week or so with suggested terms of reference for an inquiry.

He added that he believes that ranchers and farmers should be put into a position where they can make a decent living on their own without government assistance.

Acid Increasing In Rainfall

TORONTO (CP) — The amount of acid in the rain and snow falling on Eastern Canada has been increasing in recent years and scientists believe it contributes to the weathering of buildings and vehicles and damages plant and marine life.

Scientists say the sulphuric and nitric acids in rain and snow may come mainly from gases produced by burning fossil fuels. The sources include power plants, incinerators, smelters and automobile exhausts.

T. C. Hutchinson, head of botany at the University of Toronto, said Sudbury, Ont., is the most seriously affected region in Canada.

He said the smelting of copper and nickel over the last 80 years has resulted in emissions of acid-producing gases "on a scale unmatched elsewhere in the world."

University of Toronto researchers studying lakes near Sudbury and in Killarney Provincial Park 50 miles away have found acid concentrations in the lakes much higher than normal, he said.

As a result, phytoplankton, tiny organisms that form the basis of the marine food chain, have been depleted and heavy metals have been shown to be present in toxic concentrations.

Hutchinson said attempts to reduce local pollution by building higher smokestacks have been a major reason for the spread of acidic precipitation throughout the northern hemisphere.

Tall stacks put the gases higher into the atmosphere and they are dispersed over a much wider area by winds. Consequently, Toronto's acid-producing emissions get blown to Algonquin Park and Quebec and Sunbury's range as far as Greenland.

Hydroelectric Growth Essential, Says Shrum

KAMLOOPS (CP)—British Columbia should develop its sources of hydroelectric power wherever possible, Dr. Gordon Shrum, former chairman of B.C. Hydro and Power Authority, said at the meeting.

"I see nothing on the horizon to replace electricity as a general source of energy," he told a panel discussion at the annual meeting of the B.C. Institute of Agrologists. "It is clean and convenient

"We can't oppose everything. We have to say what we are for or we will have to accept a lower standard of living and less jobs."

Shrum ran into opposition from John Zaharadnik, chairman of the department of bioresource engineering at the University of B.C., when he promoted nuclear power plants including a proposed nuclear generating plant on Vancouver Island.

"The ecological cost of running water through these power plants can't be stopped with simple cursory reponses," Zahradnik said in reference to the method of disposing of the heat generated by the nuclear-generating process.

Shrum said increasing the temperature of the water would not be a problem.

"The public is afraid of nuclear power because it was first used as a bomb," he said. "If electricity was first used in the electric chair, we would likely have substituted it with some other source of energy."

Zahradnik said it is doubtful whether there will be sufficient energy for food production by the year 2000 and alternate energy sources such as solar and coal must be considered.

"We are buying time and don't have the answers," he said. "Turning back the clock won't work—we can't go back on our hands and knees."

Alberta University Aims for Indians

EDMONTON (CP) — The University of Alberta must present a more human face if it wishes to attract and retain native students, the university's senate has been told.

Marilyn Buffalo MacDonald, the university's adviser on native affairs, said at least 50 native students are expected to attend the university this fall, a substantial increase from the current figure of 33.

But unless counselling services and facilities are upgraded, the drop-out rate will be high, perhaps as much as 94 per cent — the current drop-out rate experienced among Indian students in grade school.

"Native education is so far in the past it can't wait for the future," Mrs. MacDonald noted.

Mrs. MacDonald's remarks were presented as part of the senate special force interim report on native students.

No formal recommendations were presented to the full senate Friday but approval was given to continue the study, with a final report to be submitted in November.

Doll Doctors Making Comeback

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A renewed interest in refurbishing dolls — both for sentimental reasons and for antique collections — is bringing more patients to a small and, until recently, diminishing group of "doll hospitals."

Doll doctors aren't new but they have been making a comeback in the last few years because of the trend toward nostalgia.

"I'm just inundated," said Betty Kilgore, 50, who operates Betty's Doll Shop and Hospital in suburban Huntington Park. Most of the year her shop is open five days a week, but during the Christmas holiday season she stayed open three days to have the rest of the time to work on dolls slated to be given as gifts.

One of the youngest local doll surgeons, Engrid Knudson, 28, said the busiest time in her shop is after Christmas.

family

"People go to visit their Aunt Harriet and she gives them a doll she got from her grandmother. And the next week they're in here asking me to restore it."

The type of doctoring the dolls need ranges from replacing torn-off limbs to transplanting hair. One wooden doll had a bad infection of termites.

"There's a lot of satisfaction in this work," Mrs. Kilgore said.

"You can take a doll that has been badly battered and some one was going to throw away, and you can fix it up again."

James White, 69, said most of the people who come to his American Doll Hospital and Toy Shoppe are collectors and most of the dolls they bring are of the wood-and-sawdust composition genre popular in the 1930s, many of them styled after such actresses as Shirley Temple, Deanna Durbin, Margaret O'Brien and Judy Garland.

"Some of the dolls that were least popular in their day are the most popular now," said one doll restorer, "probably because there were so few of them made that they are collectors' items."

WIFE-BEATING ON INCREASE

VANCOUVER (CP) — A study by the United Way shows that battered wives are an increasing problem which society has not faced.

It is difficult to assess the size of the problem because existing services generally are fragmented and not oriented to the violent family, the study says.

Between 1968 and 1974, 7.3 per cent of all murders in Canada were classified as domestic.

The study says Vancouver-area social agencies reported 1,361 cases of physical abuse took place between Dec. 1, 1975, and May 1, 1976.

Stairway wall serves as gallery wall, too

Don't Overlook Stairway

By PAULINE GRAVES

Frequently, when a home is being furnished, the architectural features of that home are overlooked or ignored. We take for granted stairways, doors and windows, and forget that they offer design potential. As a case in point, we show a stairway in an apartment by architect Jim Wark.

The stairway is a happy blend of not dominating the room yet contributing to the over-all scheme. The upward thrust of the staircase becomes an important element by its natural wood finish contrasting with the surrounding white. And a 6-inch wide stripe, painted on the wall behind, echoes the railing's slant.

Even the stair treads add their bit. The natural wood steps and the dark carpeting create an interesting zigzag pattern that cuts across the tall staircase wall. Furniture fits nicely into this setting, a desk and two chairs against the side of the stairway, conveniently available but separate from the room's mainstream.

A low landing, although small, adds nothing to a room's eye appeal. A narrow Mexican chest, in scale with the landing's proportions, rectifies this lack and rounds out a grouping of Mexican paper flowers and a small picture, without interfering with foot traffic. The slender iron pedestal standing on the lower step balances the entire arrangement with its narrow height and see-through quality.

By LYNN and JOEL RAPP

Dear Lynn and Joel: I have a beautiful spathiphyllum plant and have had several flowers bloom from it. (Actually, these are not flowers, they're botanically known as "spathes.") When the flower dries, it leaves a hard, brown, burr-type spike which I presume contains seeds. If it does, how do I go about propagating them? Any other information about this plant would be deeply appreciated Thank you for a fine and informative column. — J.G.

Dear. J.G.: A far as propagating any plant from seed, the method is essentially the same: Take the seeds and place them in a planting mixture, such as perlite or vermiculite, which you have put in some long, flat container, perhaps a glass pan or a plastic shoe box. Sow the seeds about an inch below the surface, dampen the entire mixture, cover with a plastic wrap to create a greenhouse atmosphere and place in a good, indirectly sunny spot.

When first signs of shoots appear, transplant to small (2 inch in diameter) pots, water frequently, and the seedlings will do the rest practically by themselves.

As for the beautiful spath plant, we love it because it is a double-duty plant — that is, it will grow well, although not produce blooms, in low light situations and, as yours has done, bloom profusely and well in good light. Its only real need is lots of water.

No Magic Baldness Cures

By JENNIFER ANDERSON

Hair is never more appreciated than when it begins to thin or bald spots begin to appear.

The anxiety created by this problem has kept the manufacturers of fraudulent cures for baldness in business for centuries. These "magic" preparations all have one thing in common — they don't work.

DEAR JENNIFER: I have just recovered from a long illness. Now my hair is falling out so rapidly I'm worried I might go bald. Is there anything I can do?—Florence.

Medical problems and their treatment can affect your hair. High fevers, certain medications, general anesthesia or x-ray treatment of the head can cause excessive shedding of hair. A rate of 10 per cent of the hairs in the head are shed normally and are not even noticeable in the general appearance of the hair.

The type of hair loss you have described doesn't mean you'll be bald. It is usually a temporary condition, and normal growth will occur in several months.

To help that new growth along, avoid hair coloring for the time being, as well as hot blowers, curlers or curling irons. Don't sleep in rollers or pincurls but try to find a hair style that needs no special care other than a gentle washing with mild shampoo.

DEAR JENNIFER: I have worn my long hair pulled back into a neat chignon for years. It is almost a trademark, and I have felt fortunate not to have to bother with trips to a beauty salon.

My problem is that my hair is getting very thin around the hairline. It is actually receding, and I am only 40 years old. Will I go bald?—Sue J.

Hair that is under tension can break off or pull out, creating a bald spot. Your elegant chignon can be as much to blame as a ponytail.

The hair that is under tension is most likely to break first, and that happens along the hairline.

Your receding hairline has nothing to do with age. Your hair will grow back as soon as you change your hair style. You can have the same off-the-face look by cutting the hair to shoulder length and clipping it back in a long tortoise barrette. Or try the new up-do that is soft and full with the hair loosely coiled at the nape.

B.C. Women Outline Need For Matrimonial Law Change

elizabeth forbes

Third in the four major issues of concern to women throughout British Columbia, I have been discussing with you in the past week is legal and matrimonial rights.

When Lynne Pearson headed a travelling van, sponsored by the International Women's Year secretariat, that visited 91 communities in the province outside the lower mainland area, women of all ages spoke to her about the need for more information on their legal rights and of their concern regarding matrimonial property rights.

In her report of van findings, issued last year, Lynne said that "often they talked about how they, or their friends, had gone through a separation and divorce, and discovered they had no idea of the legal rights and responsibilities related to marriage."

They had assumed that they would receive half of any matrimonial property, even though their name might not be on the title.

The report points out that in B.C today, even where the wife works for years in the home and on the land, unless she can prove that she either contributed financially or was meant to receive partial interest in the property, if it is held in her husband's name, it belongs solely to him.

In every part of the province, and in every age group, Lynne said, women spoke about the need for change so laws could better reflect marriage as a partnership.

While other cases have been publicized since, it was actually the case of Iris Murdoch that did a great deal to make the women of this province aware of the situation with regard to matrimonial property rights.

This Alberta woman, as I'm sure you will remember, discovered after she had worked for many years on a ranch with her husband that she had no right to part of the property at the time of separation, because she had not contributed to it financially.

As far back as April, 1975, the British Columbia Royal commission on family and children's law tabled a report on matrimonial property in the provincial legislature.

That report recommended the implementation of a system of full and immediate community of property in a proposal that would have had the following effects:

1. All property brought into the marriage by the spouse would remain his or her separate property;

2. All property acquired during marriage, with the exception of gifts and inheritance, would be community property Under the system of "separate property" (which exists now), all property acquired by either spouse during marriage remains his or her separate property;

3. Both spouses would have an equal right to deal, with the exception of real estate and household goods over $2,000, which would require joint participation of consent of both spouses;

4. Upon separation, all property brought into the marriage by either spouse would be returned to that spouse, and all property acquired during the marriage would be divided equally between spouses.

Throne speech at opening of the current session of the B.C. Legislature in January hinted at some form of change in laws affecting community property.

Attorney-General Garde Gardom also intimated recently in Vancouver that some changes in legislation will soon be proposed.

As this column is written, however, it's a closely-guarded secret as to what those changes will be or how they will be implemented.

In a recent issue of the Victoria Status of Women's monthly news letter, SWAG's family law committee states that "if the proposed legislation is for community property upon divorce, it will probably not be of much help to women."

It then goes on to say that the Berger Commission recommended that all property accumulated by a couple during the marriage be community property.

The assumption would then be that marriage is an economic partnership Each spouse would be responsible for large expenditures, investments, etc.

The last of four major concerns, as women of British Columbia see them, relates to the image of women.

They believe there are areas in which they are "put down" and not seen or portrayed as intelligent, capable human beings who are equal to men, namely in home making, in education and in the media.

Many women in the province have chosen not to participate in the labor force. They prefer to manage their homes and be with their children full time.

They are happy with their choice but are concerned about the lack of respect given to homemakers, especially in advertising where they are often portrayed as "dumb" or as "shrews."

Their contribution is given little recognition. They have no opportunity to participate in the Canada Pension Plan where they would have future financial security and recognition of their social and economic contribution to our society.

While it was conceded that the image of women and girls is beginning to change in school readers and text books, it was also pointed out to Lynne Pearson that the majority of these materials "still portray girls in passive or supportive roles and boys actively meeting challenges and solving problems."

In the media, many advertisements play on the myths related to women and, in them, they are "often shown in the role of fool, shrew or crafty man-eater."

The media also has a tendency to play up the sensational aspects of changes related to the status of women, rather than the serious plans for action that develop from conference and congresses that women attend.

Self-Esteem Returned to Drunks

MONTREAL (CP) — Unemployed, homeless alcoholics, for whom the winter brings only cold and grief, can thank a new social services group for funding a home for alcoholic drifters.

The Group l'Avenir, backed by the United Church of Canada, has established a drop-in centre and workshop to allow homeless alcoholics to reorganize their lives and make enough money to look after their immediate needs.

Although the 10-room house can accommodate only eight lodgers, the nearby workshop can employ as many as 50, letting them regain some self-esteem by earning money and paying for meals at the house if they can.

MacDonald House, part of the United Church's Montreal City Mission, initially provided $6,000 to cover costs of the home and workshop, says social worker Jacques Laurin

The group now plans to extend home services to include medical and legal help.

"There are several problems we have with these men," said Laurin. "They have problems finding food, lodging and work and they often have health and leisure problems as well."

Jean-Guy Berube, vice-president of Group l'Avenir, said the group is "always looking to the future and planning programs for the future."

"We are trying to involve the men more in the solution to their own problems," said Rev. Bill Jay of MacDonald House.

"Many people despair once a man is on the bottle and say he can't be helped.

"But we believe he can. We may have a lot of failures, but we'll have a lot of successes too"

IMF LOAN FOR EGYPT

CAIRO (AP) — The International Monetary Fund (IMF) has agreed to extend $600 million in credit to Egypt during the next four years, Cairo radio and television reported Sunday.

The broadcasts quoted Abdel Moneim Kaissouni, Egypt's economy minister, as saying the IMF agreement "is an international testimony to the soundness of the economic steps taken by the Egyptian government to improve its sagging economy."

The IMF agreed to loan Egypt $150 million this year to reduce its balance of payment deficit, the radio reported, and will loan an additional $450 million during the next three years.

Abridged Funeral Leaves Her Angry

DEAR ABBY: My Irish wife isn't speaking to me. Here's what happened: Her father, who lived to a ripe old age, was buried last week. I was a pallbearer. It was pouring down rain when we got to the cemetery, and we were all ankle-deep in mud.

There was some kind of mixup on the hole they had dug, so after half the services were said at the wrong hole, we were advised of the mistake, and the funeral party had to walk a very long way to the right hole. What a mess! All the pallbearers took turns slipping and falling in the mud as we carried the casket, and the priest fell twice.

I held an umbrella over the priest's head as he started the prayers again, and I leaned over and whispered, "Father, let's have the short version."

My wife heard me and claims I was very disrespectful to her father. Also she thinks that because of me the priest left out a lot, and her father didn't have a proper funeral. How can I get my wife to start talking ot me? — SORRY

DEAR SORRY: Send her some flowers. They're the best bloomin' silence-breaker known to man.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have a bet on, and we need you to settle it. Are you divorced, or aren't you? I say you are, and my wife says you aren't.

The loser has agreed to send $25 to a charity of your choice. Thank you — MAC.

DEAR MAC: You lose. I am NOT divorced, and God willing, come July I'll be married to the same wonderful man for 39 years. (P.S. send your contribution to your local animal shelter.)

DEAR ABBY: CAROLINA CONTROVERSY says she is constantly being complimented on her clothes, which she makes herself, but her husband tells her she's foolish for telling people her clothes are "homemade."

How ridiculous! The well dressed man of today who can afford to have his clothes custom-tailored isn't ashamed to tell people that HIS suits are handmade. In fact he's proud of it. So why shouldn't a woman be proud to say that HER clothes are "handmade"? MY TWO CENTS

DEAR MY: She SHOULD be. But "homemade" and "handmade" have an entirely different ring — on the cash register, that is. It's funny how most people want their clothes to look expensive, but don't like to spend a lot for them.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 22-year-old unmarried woman and I'm not bad-looking. A delivery man for my office, who comes about once a week, has shown an interest in me. About two weeks ago he brought me a box of candy. I accepted it, but in a nice way tried to get it across to him that I wasn't romantically interested in him. It didn't seem to put him off because the next week he brought me some flowers!

I really enjoyed getting these presents, Abby, but I feel guilty — like maybe I owe him something. Do I?

Maybe I shouldn't have accepted the gifts in the first place, but I didn't want to hurt his feelings. He is really nice, but he's not my type, and I have no intention of going out with him. So what should I do if he asks me? — STUMPED.

DEAR STUMPED: Turn him down diplomatically and don't feel guilty. When he gets the message that you aren't interested in him (and he will), he'll quit bringing you presents.

How to Handle Tricky Plastic Coating hand around the house

One of the most intriguing finishing materials on the market gives a clear, ultra-glossy finish with tremendous depth. And it goes on with almost no effort at all. This new two-part plastic coating is being sold under various brand names.

The material was originally developed for decoupage work, but more and more craftsmen are using it for other purposes including bar, table and counter tops. It can also be used on fishing rods and on wooden plaques.

It comes packaged in kits composed of two bottles containing thick, syrupy liquids. Mix the two liquids together and they'll soon set up into a clear glossy plastic that will stick to just about any material. For example: Wood, paint, varnish, leather, stone, cloth, paper and ceramics.

Since the liquid mixture is so thick, it's hard to brush on evenly. This problem is aggravated by the fact that the liquid begins to set up in about 15 minutes, too short a time for careful brushwork.

You solve these problems by using a special application technique. Instead of brushing the two-part polymer, you pour it into place, then "squeeze" it out. The liquid will flow out and level on its own, then set up hard. But this technique works only on level surfaces. If the surface being coated isn't level, the liquid will run downhill, creating drips. That's why the polymer is used mostly on table tops, plaques and the like.

The technique is simple, once you get the hang of it, but it's best to try it on small projects before tackling a table top. Here's how it goes, using a wooden plaque as an example:

Give the bare wood a coat of urethane varnish. This will seal the pores and prevent bubbles from rising out of the wood to be trapped in the thick plastic film.

When the varnish is dry you are ready to coat with plastic. Spread some papers on your work area and place the plaque on a support a few inches above the work surface. Make sure the plaque is level.

Now mix the two liquids together. Eight ounces of mix will cover about three square feet, so mix accordingly. Wear rubber or plastic gloves; the polymer can irritate skin. Careful mixing of the two liquids is important, so follow the directions accompanying the product.

COATING WITH CLEAR PLASTIC

When the mixing is complete, quickly pour the mixture over the surface of the plaque. Then spread it around using a card or piece of stiff paper as a squeegee. Be sure to cover the entire surface of your work. If there are bubbles in the liquid you can collapse them by breathing softly onto them. The carbon dioxide in your breath does the job. Skilled workers sometimes use a torch to achieve the same results.

Now place a large box upside down over the plaque to keep dust from settling onto it while the plastic cures. If you don't have a large enough box, place the plaque in a cabinet or other dust-free enclosure.

Special tips: Using this technique, you'll find that the finish will drip down over the edges of your work. If you want the edges coated, be sure to squeegee or brush some liquid onto them. If not, cover them with masking tape before you pour.

You can often prevent dripping on other than level surfaces by constantly turning the work while the plastic sets. Fishing rod builders, for example, turn a rod slowly via a barbecue spit motor. This lets them apply a thick coat to the rod without danger of dripping. You can do the same thing by hand; after the plastic begins to set (about 15-30 minutes) the danger of dripping is past. You can set your work down and relax.

Ignore the Advice And Lube the Car

by MICHAEL LAMM

DEAR MIKE: I have a 1966Ford LTD with 185,000 miles on it. It's been a very good, reliable car — very few repairs. I've only lubed it once, though, since I've owned it, and now I wonder whether it's due again. Some garage people tell me to leave it alone — the grease will only make it wobble and shimmy. What do you say? — UNLUBED.

DEAR UN: I say lube it, because if it does start to wobble and shimmy, this indicates problems you ought to fix soon. Better find out the worst now, under controlled conditions, rather than by accident at 55 m.p.h. on the highway.

DEAR MIKE: About two weeks ago my car's ammeter started showing a high rate of charge. The needle mostly sat on 60 amps. I checked the battery. It was empty, so I refilled it with lukewarm tap water. Today the battery is empty again, and the needle still sit on 60 amps. What should I do? — ZAPPED.

DEAR ZAP: Sound like your voltage regulator is shot. Go to any of the larger chain stores that sell batteries and let them check your car's charging system. You probably won't need a new battery yet, but you might need a new voltage regulator. And try always to use distilled water in your battery — never tap water.

DEAR MIKE: I'm buying a new 1977 American automobile and am curious about these "electronic ignition" systems they have now. I though all spark ignitions are electronic. What makes the new ones different? — CURIOUS.

DEAR CURIOUS: True, they all use electricity. But instead of ignition points, which physically touch to fire each sparkplug, electronic ignition systems use a tiny light beam — like an electric eye — that's interrupted by a slotted, rotating cup inside the distributor. Each interruption is amplified and eventually causes the spark. Advantages include nothing to wear out, very little maintenance, sharper timing, and a fatter spark.

DEAR MIKE: You mentioned a few weeks ago that Ford's 390-cid V-8 wouldn't swap easily for the earlier 239-312 block. That's not so. It's almost a one-to-one swap and very few minor ones. — — no major changes needed FAITHFUL READERS.

DEAR FAITHFUL: You're right. The original letter asked whether the 390 V-8 would fit into a 1959 Ranchero that presently had the 312 V-8. I said yes, but it meant a lot of revision. Actually it entails relatively few revisions. The 390 is a member of the Ford family of engines having displacements of 332, 352, 406, and 417 cid, and any of those will go into earlier Fords with 239-312 engines.

MARK TRAIL

The Bridge Expert

By FRED KARPIN

Quite frequently, at a game contract, declarer finds himself in the position of being more worried about one of the opponents' obtaining the lead than he is about the other. More specifically, one of the opponents is known to be "dangerous", while the other is recognized as being "nondangerous." Logically, declarer's approach is to prevent the dangerous opponent from obtaining the lead. How he accomplishes this objective can be observed in today's deal.

NORTH
♡ A 8 6
◇ K 4 3
♣ J 7 4 2

WEST
♠ A J 8
♡ 9 7 4 3
◇ Q J 10 6 5
♣ 5

EAST
♠ Q 10 9 4 2
♡ J 10 5
◇ 9 7

SOUTH
♡ K Q 2
◇ A 8 2
♣ A K 9 8 3

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Queen of ◇.

After West had opened the diamond queen and the dummy came into view, declarer perceived that his line of play had to be geared towards keeping East out of the lead. Although declarer hadn't the slightest idea as to what the precise setup was in the spade suit, he knew that if East obtained the lead and got his fingers on a spade, South would be ruined if West happened to possess the spade ace. But if West obtained the lead, declarer would have no worries with respect to the spade suit. Thus East was "dangerous"; West was not.

South won the opening diamond lead with dummy's king, after which he led the deuce of clubs. When East followed suit with the six, South inserted his nine. When the nine won the trick, South cashed the ace and king of clubs, felling East's queen. He now had ten top tricks.

The rationale behind declarer's "abnormal" play in the club suit was this: he needed four club tricks to fulfill his contract; and even if his "finesse" of the nine lost to West's ten (assuming West's five-spot had been the ten), South's ace and king of clubs would fell the queen no matter how the remaining clubs were divided. Declarer was perfectly willing to lose a club trick—if he could make sure that he lost it to the "nondangerous" West defender.

If declarer had made the "normal" plays of cashing the ace and king of clubs at tricks two and three, he would have lost control of the situation, since he couldn't now bring home four club tricks without permitting East to obtain the lead via the club queen. And if East then led a spade, it would be curtains for declarer.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

Astrological Forecast for Tuesday, March 1

By SYDNEY OMARR

ARIES (March 21 - April 19): Entanglements are featured, business and emotional. Significant changes occur — member of opposite sex is very much in picture. Open lines of communication — express yourself in articulate manner. Gemini, Virgo persons are part of your personal scenario.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Highlight versatility — be optimistic, expand horizons. Accent on visits, relatives, short trips. Gemini, Sagittarius individuals figure prominently. Leave details for another time. Obtain overall view. Grasp picture as a whole. You'll understand!

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Stick to facts without being painted into corner. Means know the rules, but don't permit red tape to strangle you. One who understands basic requirements, has excellent credentials will aid you in achieving goal. Know it and be quietly confident.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Air of excitement persists — cycle is high and popularity is on increase. Gemini, Virgo, Sagittarius persons figure in picture. Dialogue opens with member of opposite sex. You learn — if willing to listen.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22): Change of heart is expressed by loved one. Be receptive — Avoid attitude of "I told you so." Instead, co-operate in bringing about adjustment in home, domestic area. Taurus, Libra persons are in picture. Money question will be favorably resolved.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Love, Illusion, the beauty of creation — these are now to be part of your personal panorama. Some wishes flirt with reality. Key is to separate fancy notions from legitimate aspirations. You get at truth and it will make you strong.

LIBRA (Sept. 2-Oct. 22): Organize priorities. Study Virgo message. You have more "clout" than might be supposed. Know it, be confident and don't permit any person to downgrade you. Professional superior pays meaningful compliment and will aid in elevating your position.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Finish project. Don't be placated by one who wants you to settle for second-best. Stick to principles. Aries individual is your "secret ally". Long-distance communication is featured. If you have a plan, idea, concept, manuscript — submit it!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Highlight originality, aggressiveness, confidence, individuality, independence. Personal magnetism flows — members of opposite sex are drawn to you. Leo, Aquarius individuals figure prominently. Dig deep for information—you could strike pay dirt.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Build bridges of good will favors will be returned. Know it and act accordingly — one who stands tall will lend you a helping hand. Emphasis on obligations, legal affairs, co-operative efforts and marriage.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Avoid direct confrontations; take ring roads. Examine various aspects of project, problem question. Travel is in picture and so is a major question — that will be satisfactorily answered. Keep diet, health resolutions. Talkative associate does have genuine information to impart.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Creative energies come forth; you are able to express, to imprint style. Young persons are in picture. Money and how it got that way— that is major subject of discussion. Do some reviewing, revising. Become familiar with tradition, basic material, fine print.

IF MARCH 1st IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are sensitive, independent, temperamental, creative, stubborn, attractive to opposite sex. New start indicated this year—July should be your most significant month. Leo, Aquarius persons play important roles in your life. You sense when something of importance is to occur. You have "bedroom eyes" and aching feet. You got rid of a burden last year. Don't feel guilty. On the contrary—celebrate!

FUN WITH FIGURES

By J. A. H. HUNTER

"Not a regular job. I just worked three days to make a few bucks before Xmas," said Fran. "It was fun and I earned ninety-eight dollars."

Cathy smiled. "Not bad. About thirty-three bucks a day. As good as union rates."

"That's right," her friend agreed. "The first day I made $1.20 more than two-thirds of what I earned the second day, and the third day I made two-thirds of my total for the previous days."

How much the third day?

Jerusalem Artichokes Useful, Too

Jerusalem artichokes serve a useful purpose while they grow in the home garden as well as being a delicious vegetable of high quality nutrition.

Early March is still a good planting time if you failed to get a half dozen tubers into the ground during the wonderfully mild days of this past month.

To start, let us find a good place for them so that they will serve other purposes while producing a good crop.

Think of the ultimate height of this artichoke. It easily reaches five or six feet, for the Jerusalem artichoke is of the Sunflower family, and like it grows a single straight sturdy stem topped in early fall with insignificant sunflower blooms. I think it likely these only appear when we have a warmer than usual summer, for I have no recollection of seeing the flowers here.

Fortunately the root crop of tubers is colossal and is not dependent on whether or not the plants flower.

Deep soil rich in humus is needed. This is similar to the deep soils of the western prairies where the grasses rotted down each winter with snow and provided ideal conditions for this native plant to spread. Artichokes, and sunflowers, were two of the principal foods for wagon trains of pioneers on their long cross country journeys. The seeds of the sunflowers contained a rich oil as well as other nutrients which help to round out the meagre rations.

In our home gardens, and allotments, Jerusalem artichokes need the same rich soil — rich with rotted plant wastes from the compost heap plus old cow manure.

Although the plants grow tall they are not bushy. Nor are the leaves wide enough to create a dense shadow. However the moving shade of a half dozen plants on a summer day will be appreciated by vegetables such as lettuce and squash.

In the early spring growing season, sunshine will reach the young lettuce plants, and warm the soil sufficiently for encouraging squash to become re-established after their start indoors.

Later as the sun passes from its highest point on June 21, the artichoke plants will cast a graceful shade by mid-afternoon.

See that you have ground space vacant now to the northeast of your artichoke tubers planting. Or in other words, plant the tubers in a row to southwest of where you want the squash plants later. Lettuce seedlings can fill in between quite easily for they will be there for only six weeks or so.

Most people plant artichoke tubers along a fence line but unles it just happens to be the right spot for providing the shade you need, you may end up by shading plants belonging to a neighbor that should be getting full sun. And another thing, it isn't always easy to prepare a narrow strip of soil along a fence, nor to be sure that the plants receive their full needs of water.

If you've not tried tuberous artichokes you may not know they are a crisp vegetable, not mealy like a potato for they contain no starch. They have been likened to water chestnuts, and may be substituted for them for the same texture in skillet vegetable cooking. As well as being baked or boiled, Jerusalem artichokes are good in salads when grated or chopped fine. A balcony gardener will get a usable crop from one tuber in a deep planter against the balcony wall if there is lots of sun.

Science Fears 'Repression'

DENVER (NYT) — Fears were expressed here last week that the freedom of inquiry that has enabled science to flourish since the Renaissance may become repressed as it was in the Middle Ages by pressures inside and outside the scientific community.

At the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, George Ball, senior managing director of Lehman Brothers, the investment banking house in New York, described the threatened constraints in terms of "a new medieval church."

His fears were echoed by Lord Zuckerman, former chief science adviser to the British government. The two men, with Charles Hitch, president of Resources for the Future Inc., in Washington, D.C., took part in a session on the possible role of science as "the key to our political future."

Ball said the field of science should be self-regulatory, as in the past. He cited the controversy in which the Cambridge, Mass., city council had debated how to regulate manipulation of genetic material in bacteria at research laboratories in that city.

The California legislature is considering a proposal to regulate the science of genetic hybrids known as recombinant DNA research. Such research involves the extraction of genetic material from one organism and its insertion into another organism such as bacteria. Critics say such research could create new and dangerous forms of organisms.

Checks and balances within the scientific community itself, Ball said, should have been adequate to deal with the problem. It never should have come before a city council.

Lord Zuckerman said that if regulations now being proposed in some quarters had been in effect earlier "we would still have yellow fever with us." He recalled attending a lecture in 1926 in which a way was described to perform microscopic surgery on a living cell, including its nucleus.

"A man got up trembling," Lord Zuckerman said, overcome with fear that the scientists had "gone too far." Yet in the half-century since then, such micromanipulation has become a standard research tool.

Ball mentioned prehistoric and classical times when mankind was imbued with a fear of probing too deeply into nature's secrets.

After the Renaissance, the quest for scientific knowledge brought answers that led at the end of the last century to the belief in "the infinite perfectability of man." It was a mood, Ball said, that crumbled in the "despair" that came after two wars, the subsequent threat of a nuclear war, and, finally, the Vietnam war and the doubt "that anything we were doing was any good."

Citing the earlier misgivings about too much knowledge, he said, "There has been a restoration of this original brooding fear." He said that the attempts to control the directions of research had resulted "because of real or fancied fears of social consequences or because such work might undercut an ideological commitment such as some form of "egalitarianism."

His plea for freedom from outside interference, Ball said, referred primarily to pure science rather than to applied research. He said the government must become involved in research where large sums of money were required.

PAPER PAYROLL MET

All employees of the Cowichan Leader, the weekly newspaper at Duncan, were paid by Saturday morning, a spokesman said today.

She said no delays are anticipated for this week's payday.

There are about 32 employees, requiring some $6,100 weekly to meet the payroll.

Publisher Andy Bigg said last week the paper was short of cash due to an economic slump and the fact that some advertisers had been slow paying their 30-day accounts. He said they were to be circularized this week.

U.S. Breakthrough In Laser Weapon?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States made a recent breakthrough in high-energy laser research which indicates the concentrated light beams could make successful weapons in space, according to a weekend defence department report.

In the report to a House armed services subcommittee, George Heilmeier director of the Defence Advanced Research Projects Agency, described programs involving lasers that eventually may be beamed at targets in space both from the ground and satellites.

Heilmeier said the high-energy laser is "a potential system to defend our satellites against anti-sattellite threats" such as the killer satellite which has been tested by the Russians. It also might be used to detonate missile warheads in space, distrupt communications and destroy bombers.

The scientist said the biggest advance in U.S. research since last June was development of the ability to increase electrically generated lasers using the rare gas halide from a power of one joule to 350 joules. A joule is the amount of energy expended in one second by one ampere of electric current.

"The breakthrough of operating visible pulsed lasers in the hundred of joules regime provides substantially increased confidence that such laster devices are possible," the report said.

It gave no details of Soviet laser programs, but noted DARPA was working on a project aimed partially at recognizing potential threats from laser technology by "any foreign power."

There have been reports Russia has outstripped the United States in laser research and speculation that the temporary blinding of U.S. satellites above the Soviet Union in 1975 could have been caused by high energy lasers.

"It is my belief the high energy laser in space could represent a Sputnik-like event — a technical achievement which could influence the perceptions of foreign countries as to who is the leader in defence-related technology," said Heilmeier, referring to the pioneering Russian satellite.

The report said DARPA plans in fiscal year 1978 to further increase the power it can concentrate in a single pulse of one millinth of a second with the halide laser as well as working on high-power operation with repeated pulses.

Heilmeier also said progress had been made with hydrogen-fluoride chemical lasers, which he termed the most promising for use aboard satellites because of "high power per unit system weight."

The high-powered flashes of light which blinded two types of U.S. satellites over the Soviet Union in October, 1975, were described as having characteristics like those of a hydrogen fluoride laser. Former defence Secretary Donald Rumsfeld attributed the flashes to major gas pipeline explosions in Russia, but some intelligence and scientific experts have disputed that conclusion.

The Defence Department is seeking $24.9 million in funds for next fiscal year to continue laser research.

WITNESSES SOUGHT IN DEATH

Police said Mrs. Kebalo was struck by a car backing out of a parking space in the Burnside Plaza at Burnside and Tillicum about 2 p.m.

Coroner Edmond Jorre De St. Jorre has ordered an inquest into the death which was the third pedestrian fatality in Greater Victoria this year.

CFB Ratings Against Fire

Results of the competition, in which there were 66 entries, were announced on the weekend.

The competition is based on efforts in fire prevention, encouraging greater use of modern techniques in public and private fire prevention efforts.

Food Wrap Blamed For Cancer

NEW YORK (UPI) — An American Cancer Society official says a chemical in plastic food wraps has been linked to cancer in mice, but adds "consumers at this point need have no worry."

Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, chief epidemiologist of the cancer society, discussed the finding at a news conference with Dr. Cesare Maltoni, a cancer researcher from Bologna, Italy, who made the discovery.

Hammond said the announcement was made to "protect the public from a possible risk" from the chemical, vinylidine chloride.

But he said he, personally, would continue to use plastic food wraps and "it is my personal opinion consumers at this point need have no worry."

Vinylidine chloride is related to vinyl chloride, which already has been proved to have cancer-causing properties under certain circumstances.

Maltoni told reporters he exposed mice, hamsters and rats to the chemical for two years. Some animals inhaled it in gas form and others were fed it through stomach tubes.

Reservists Delayed

The men were returning home after a weekend naval exercise dubbed Spring Thaw but the armed forces Hercules aircraft in which they were to fly broke down.

Another Hercules was sent from CFB Edmonton. CFB Esquimalt supplied the stranded with box lunches and the reservists were finally airborne by midnight.

Seal Clubbing 'Shame'

LONDON (CP) — With a huge billboard reading "Canada's shame," British opponents of the Newfoundland seal hunt have taken their campaign almost to the doorstep of Canada House. The billboard, measuring 30 feet by 10, was erected this week on the sidewalk across the street from the Canadian government building, just off busy Trafalgar Square.

It depicts a seal pup about to be clubbed to death by a hunter, and is part of a growing campaign in Britain to persuade the Canadian government to stop the annual hunt.

The fund, with other conservation groups, has held a series of events to protest the hunt, which gets under way in a couple of weeks off Newfoundland's north coast.

Canadian High Commissioner Paul Martin said today he senses more public opposition to the seal hunt this year than in the past, and has received a number of phone calls himself on the issue.

They arrived in Paris today, and will hold news conferences in Brussles and London later this week.

U.S. Urged to Ban Boycott of Israel

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Cyrus Vance called today for legislation to prohibit U.S. firms from engaging in an economic boycott of Israel.

In a prepared statement for a Senate banking subcommittee, Vance said: "We deplore discrimination on the basis of race, religion and national origin."

At stake is an Arab boycott which requires U.S. firms doing business in the Middle East not to trade with Israel.

Vance told the subcommittee that while the Carter administration is aware of the economic importance of the Arab nations, "we believe that carefully directed legislation combined with diplomatic action can protect our interests."

The secretary said legislation should outlaw any foreign boycott based on religion, race or national origin and U.S. firms should be prohibited from refusing to deal with any foreign country or any other U.S. firm in relation to the foreign boycott.

Lebanon Truce Sought Again

BEIRUT (AP) — United Nations observers were trying today to arrange a ceasefirt between right-wing Christians and leftist Moslems battling for strategic hills in southern Lebanon.

Refugees from the battle area, about three miles from the Israeli border, reported that Palestinian guerrillas and leftist Lebanese Moslems recovered Tall Massoud (Lucky Hill) Sunday night and were battling the Christians for control of the adjacent Tall el Madafen (Hill of Tombs).

The refugees said at least six guerrillas and two Moslems were killed. There was no word on Christian casualties.

The United Nations has no official role in the Lebanese civil war or its ceasefire. But government sources said observers from the Israeli-Lebanese Armistice Commission, established in 1948 to monitor truce violations along the Israeli-Lebanese border, were trying to mediate the dispute.

Earlier this month, Syrian tanks pounded the camps, reportedly to stop fighting among rival guerrilla groups and seize heavy weapons from the civil war combatants.

"The Arab deterrent foces have been unable for international considerations to enter south Lebanon, disengage combatants and police the Israeli border," he said. "So a UN deterrent force should be sought to force Israel out of south Lebanon."

Anderson Grit Rep

Anderson, who left active politics when he lost his Victoria seat in the 1975 provincial election, last week was elected a vice-president of the Victoria Liberal Association, along with Doug MacFarlane.

Anderson, member of parliament for Victoria before becoming provincial Liberal leader, is assembling a brief for B.C. Wildlife Federation, which will intervene in upcoming Kitimat oil pipeline hearings.

FARMLAND DECISION DELAYED ONE MONTH

DUNCAN — A recommendation to exclude 65 acres from the agricultural land reserve has been delayed for at least another month.

Ald. Margaret Robertson, North Cowichan regional director, has asked the Cowichan Valley Region Board to reserve decision on the Timbercrest Estates Ltd. property until a review of the south-end community plan is completed by municipal council.

North Cowichan municipality is appealing directly to the provincial cabinet to have the property excluded because it claims to have some heavy investment in servicing and multi-phase developing in the Timbercrest property.

Airy Gym Opens At Malaspina

NANAIMO — You can't blame faculty and students at Malaspina College here for feeling puffed up. They have what is believed to be the biggest bubble in Canada.

The bubble, inflated last week, will serves as the school's all-purpose sports gymnasium and will house basketball, tennis, badminton, handball, volleyball and jogging on a track around the perimeter.

A semi-circular roof, anchored to a two-foot high wall and containg 22 half-inch steel cables for added rigidity, provides 24,000 square feet of floor space when inflated

It cost $628,000. A conventional gymnasium would have cost about $1.5 million, Malaspina information director Peter McMullan said.

"There ns no danger of it collapsing," McMullan said, pointing out that continuously running air pumps keep the pressure at five pounds even if the skin is punctured or doors are left open for any length of time.

The skin itself was made by Cidair of Chicago and cost $80,000. McMullan said the fabric is guaranteed for five years and should last at least 15 years.

The height from floor-to-ceiling at the centre of the bubble is 40 feet. The bubble also has rigid, rather than sloping ends. Indirect lighting will reflect off the roof fabric from poles on the floor

The inferior is due to be finished in two months.

Cobble Hill Bylaw Still Not Decided

DUNCAN — A challenge of a B.C. Supreme Court decision quashing a Cobble Hill zoning bylaw is being considered by the Cowichan Valley Region Board.

The board plans to contaact Attorney-General Garde Gardom and Municipal Affairs Minister Hugh Curtis before deciding to take appeal procedures.

The regional board passed the bylaw Aug. 26 and was initially upheld by Justice Davie Fulton of the Supreme Court. However, Fulton reserved his decision 10 days ago after discovering that the weekly Cowichan Valley News, in which the bylaw notice was published, does not meet the definition of a newspaper.

Fulton discovered that the paper is not sold to the public or to regular subscribers on a bonafide subscription list.

The challenge has been initiated by a group of Cobble Hill businessmen, who want some commercial areas included in the rezoning.

Region Board chairman Ken Paskin said the decision, based on a technicality, not only affects other bylaws in the Cowichan Valley advertised but also affects other bylaws in B.C.

UVic Debating Team Wins Tournament

The University of Victoria debating team won the University Cup Debating Tournament held on campus last week.

A combined Pearson College-Claremont High School team placed second followed by the University of British Columbia and Royal Roads Military College.

In the individual awards competition, Daphne Gray Grant of UBC placed first; Chamkaur Cheema, UVic, second; Brian Casey, UVic, third; Alan Daniel, UBC, fourth; and David Hourigan, Pearson College, fifth.

The English Speaking Union tournament will be held at the University of British Columbia in March.

Wallace Didn't Speak

A story in Saturday's Times incorrectly said Progressive Conservative leader Scott Wallace was out of the legislature Friday when a controversial natural gas bill was debated.

Wallace was present but did not participate in the debate. He voted with the government and Liberal leader Gordon Gibson.

The bill, given second reading by a vote of 23 to 12, would eliminate an arrangement that has the provincial government paying income to the federal government on behalf of natural gas producers.

Capital Decrease

TORONTO (CP) — Directors of Pitts Engineering Construction Ltd., Toronto, have approved a decrease of $1.8 million in the company's authorized capital. The action, taken because of surplus capital, will reduce shareholders' equity to $26.4 million from $28.2 million.

COWICHAN VACANCY

COWICHAN BAY — Electoral area director Jev Tothill has resigned from the Cowichan Valley Region Board because he is moving to Cobble Hill.

Tothill, whose term expires in November, has been director or alternate director of the Cowichan Bay electoral area since the inception of regional board in the province in late 1960s.

Canada 'Needs' Merchant Fleet

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canada needs a deep sea merchant marine to maintain control of its Arctic territory, to protect itself against increased nationalism in shipping and to stimulate the industry, the president of Canada Steamship Lines (1975) Ltd. said today.

Paul Martin told a transportation seminar at the University of British Columbia that "the greatest challenge to a merchant marine" is protecting Canadian sovereignty in the Arctic, an area which is a "secure source of fossil fuels and mineral resources."

A deep sea fleet would also protect Canada against nationalistic actions such as the proposed United Nations 40-40-20 Rule, whereby any two trading nations would agree to share transport of exports 40-40, with the remaining 20 per cent going to any other ships.

The industry would benefit through increased ship-building, employment, and related services such as brokerage, insurance, financing and legal advice.

Martin said government and industry inaction on the issue results mainly from a bias toward rail transportation.

This national bias is mirrored in Ottawa because so many employees of the transport department come from the railways. The department could be called "the Ottawa branch" of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways, Martin said.

Many manufacturers have been against developing a deep sea fleet because they are well served by foreign fleets and do not want to risk the higher-cost alternative, he added.

"Only labor has been a consistent and long-time positive voice for the creation of s deep sea fleet."

Martin said the solution lies in getting the government to help the private sector develop a deep sea fleet by providing tax breaks.

British Also Idi's Guests Wednesday

NAIROBI, Kenya — Ugandan President Idi Amin is apparently summoning Britons as well as U.S. citizens to a meeting with him Wednesday at Entebbe airport, reports reaching Nairobi said today.

British diplomats in both Kampala, the Ugandan capital, and Nairobi said they were checking reports that members of the 200-strong British community were ordered to attend with the 240 Americans

Britain severed relations with Amin's regime in August, 1976, but two British diplomats still handle British interests out of the French embassy in Kampala.

Amin earlier moved his projected meeting with the Americans from a conference hall to Entebbe airport, delayed it from today until Wednesday and warned the United States not to emulate its Israeli allies with an attempted commando rescue.

Meanwhile, a spokeman for Amin denied Sunday a Nairobi newspaper report that a Cuban military delegation had arrived secretly in Uganda last week to assess the country's military needs.

The Daily Standard said Saturday it had learned that a Cuban team headed by a Gen. Francisco Cabrera had gone to Uganda.

The Ugandan presidential spokesman said there is no truth to the report.

In Washington, President Jimmy Carter said the U.S. government is watching the situation "closely, trying not to upset President Amin, and trying to take advantage of his good wishes that he has expressed."

Amin said no U.S. citizens will be allowed to leave the country and ordered the meeting Friday, two days after he said the United States, Britain and Israel were involved in a plot to overthrow him.

The official radio also warned Ugandans to be alert for signs of an invasion. It said after the Israeli raid on Entebbe last July, the presence of U.S naval vessels off the Kenyan coast "must be taken seriously."

The United States said the nuclear-powertd aircraft carrier Enterprise and its escorts are cruising in the Indian Ocean off East Africa following a goodwill visit to Kenya last week.

In Dar-es-Salaam, Uganda's former president Milton Obote runs an intelligence service on Uganda and Amin. From what he's heard from spies and reports coming out of Uganda, he is convinced that Amin's tactic behind the gathering of the Americans is to create a smokescreen to conceal a massive massacre of Acholi tribesmen. See story on Page 2.

FORGOTTEN AND ALONE . . . WAITING

Most are relatively happy but there are many who exist in isolation from the outside world, lonely and afraid, sitting in their rooms waiting to die.

Many come to Canada's retirement capital hoping to find peer friendship. Instead, they find they are simply old people whose past accomplishments are unknown and forgotten. Times reporter Paul Nicholson reports on their plight in the first of a two-part series today on page 9.

Attempt On Queen

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (UPI) — An off-duty policeman overpowered a man with a loaded air rifle today shortly before Queen Elizabeth was due to leave Parliament House.

Police said off-duty detective Bill Hooper, who has signed off 30 minutes earlier to watch the Queen open the second session of Parliament, grabbed the 28-year-old man from behind as he pulled the rifle from a gun case.

Hooper wrestled with him while other police pushed their way through the crowd of an estimated 10,000 persons.

The man had taken up a position about 30 feet from the barricades outside Parliament House and about 65 feet from where the Queen was due to pass after leaving the building.

Chief Inspector Roger Cotterill, security co-ordinator for the royal visit to Wellington, said:

"The man had already been spotted by our surveillance headquarters and police were quietly moving toward him when Detective Hooper arrested him."

Cotterill said the man was carrying a .22 air rifle.

30% Pact IWA's Goal

VANCOUVER (CP) — The International Woodworkers of America has outlined 1977 contract proposals including a wage increase of $1 an hour which would mean a 30-per-cent package increase for 42,000 forest workers in B.C.

"We are going to negotiate in line with the economics of our industry," Jack Munro, the union's regional president, said after a three-day contract conference. "In our section, the economics are very good."

Munro said housing starts in the United States, a major B.C. lumber market, are improving and forest companies are showing more confidence.

He also said many union proposals such as pension benefits, health and safety and job reclassification are excluded from federal anti-inflation guidelines.

Other contract proposals include a master agreement for coast and interior adjustment improvements, guaranteed annual earnings, pension upgrading and a plan to allow research into health matters by the union.

The union also proposes joint investigation of industiial democracy — worker participation in company decisions.

Munro estimated the proposals amount to about $3 an hour. Under the agreements that expire in June, the average package hourly rate is $10.20, and the base rate is $7.01.

"If the industry is concerned about their employees I think the chances of a strike are pretty remote," Munro said.

The union leader said the master agreement, pensions and the guaranteed annual income are extremely important and the union will only accept a one-year agreement.

The IWA hopes to have the specifics of a guaranteed income plan worked out by the time negotiations begin.

Munro estimated that by levying a cent an hour from employers for health research, a $500,000-a-year fund could be created which would be administered by the union.

He said northern and southen interior negotiators will be asked to join the coast negotiations this year, rather than settle separate agreements as has previously been the case.

There was little immediate reaction from the employers.

Fish Packer Strike Starts

The United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union have declared a strike in a pay dispute affecting tendermen — although there is no work to be striking at this time.

Union president Jack Nichol said the herring season is normally under way at this time but because of a low roe content in herring, the season is at least one week away.

However, the fishermen will press their strike in hopes of a quick solution to the issue.

The union and the B.C. Fisheries Association have agreed on new rates for fishermen at $283 a ton for gillnetters and $143.50 a ton as the crew's share on seiners but the fishermen will honor all picket lines of 500 tendermen who have not yet come to terms. (Picture, Page 2.)

Tendermen, who handle the transfer of fish from the fishings grounds to canneries, are asking an interim increase before the major contracts are negotiated for the salmon season in April.

The union asked for a six per cent interim increase. The association countered with a three per cent interim increase offer but has pressed its view that the tendermen should wait until a master contract for salmon is negotiated in April.

Union canneries were picketed today in Vancouver but there were no picket lines at B.C. Packers in Victoria as of 11 a.m.

Nichol said he would be in Victoria Tuesday to see if a picket line should go up here.

Talks were continuing today in hopes of resolving the dispute.

The strike began at 2 p.m. Sunday and all union workers honored the picket lines.

Some non-union fishermen went to sea but they discovered the herring were not ripe for catching. The herring are caught for their roe (mass of eggs) which is shipped to Japan where it's considered a delicacy.

B.C. Nurse Strike Notice

British Columbia's 2,600 government-employed registered nurses will serve 72-hour strike notice Tuesday, union spokesman Jerry Miller announced today.

"We have no choice but to serve strike notice because the Government Employee Relations Bureau has rejected our request for binding arbitration," he said.

The nurses staff all the public health units in B.C. as well as eight major psychiatric hospitals, including Glendale Hospital in Saanich.

The strike notice is going to Mike Davison, chief negotiator for the Government Employee Relations Bureau by registered letter today and if received by Davison Tuesday, as expected, it would take effect in 72 hours, which would be some time Friday.

"This does not mean we will immediately go on strike," Miller said.

"We are repeating our request for binding arbitration and we are willing to meet Mr. Davison if he is prepared to sit down and begin serious negotiations. The key word there is serious. We have been in mediation for six months and nothing has been achieved."

The nurses sent Davison an ultimatum on Feb. 25 that they would serve strike notice

U.S. DEFICIT WORST EVER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States suffered its worst monthly trade deficit in history in January as imports exceeded exports by $1.67 billion, the commerce department reported today.

Cold weather, which forced plant closings and hampered the movement of goods, was the major reason for the record deficit, the report said.

Supertanker Law To Top Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Supreme Court today agreed to review a Washington State law limiting the size of oil tankers on Puget Sound and other inland waters.

The justices said they will study a ruling by a three-judge federal court in Seattle that the state law is pre-empted by federal statures and presents an undue burden on interstate commerce.

Governor Dixy Lee Ray and other state officials asked the court to reverse that decision to protect scenic Puget Sound and the Gulf Island's, described as "resource of priceless value."

The court's eventual decision could carry considerable impact for other states with major ports.

Aflantic Richfield Co., which owns and operates an oil refinery at Cherry Point of Georgia Strait, and Seatrain Lines, Inc., a shipbuilding and ship operating firm, successfully sued the state in a challenge of the 1975 law.

The three-judge panel struck down the law last November, but state officials won permission from the supreme court to continue enforcing it pending the state's appeal.

The lower court ruled that the state pollution protection measure, drafted to "decrease the likelihood of oil spills," is pre-empted by the federal Ports and Waterways Safety Act of 1972.

In its appeal to the supreme court, the state argued that the federal statute "does not express a clear and manifest purpose to pre-empt state regulation."

Seattle Blossoms with Our Daffodils

More than 2,000 Seattle residents were wearing Victoria daffodils today and 1,000 Tacoma citizens were due to get "pinned" Tuesday in a three-day Bloomin Blitz of Washington State.

Mayor Mike Young was up at 6 a.m. pinning daffodils on staff members at Seattle's Olympic Hotel, headquarters for the Victoria Chamber of Commerce tourist campaign.

At 10 a.m. he an Provincial Secretary Grace McCarthy strolled for three blocks handing out daffodils to pedestrians. At one point they climbed aboard a city but and shook hands with the passengers and offered flowers.

They attended a two-hour briefing session Sunday night, conducted by Ald. Helen Beirness and Dennis Eyolfson, in preparation for the flower blitz.

Eyolfson was up at 4:30 a.m. today organizing the early risers into teams to begin the flower assault.

First target, after the hotel staff, were the secretaries on their way to work. Teams of four went out at 8 a.m. and handed flowers to the secretaries, many of whom arrive for work at 8:30 a.m. The flowers contain a small banner reading: Victoria, Canada's best blooming city.

The teams went to major department stores at 9 a.m. to pin clerks on their way to work.

A series of television and newspaper interviews were being conducted featuring Young, McCarthy and chamber officials.

On Tuesday the team will head to Tacoma where an outdoor festival is planned to greet them at 10 a.m.

Bands and dancers will perform in honor of the visitors and organized by the Downtown Tacoma Association.

The chamber hopes the blitz will increase the flow of tourists, starting with the Victorian Days festival in May.

Old Age: For Many It's a Long Lonely Wait

By PAUL NICHOLSON
Times Staff

Victoria, retirement capital of Canada.

Victoria, Canada's geriatric ward

Victoria, God's waiting room.

The city has all these titles, perhaps with some justification when the facts are considered.

The statistics show one in every five Victorians is over age 65. Our ratio of old to young runs about three times the national average.

And in James Bay, where an estimated 4,000 of the area's 10,000 residents are over 65, the ratio is five times the Canadian average. The figures are based on the 1971 census.

The detailed breakdown from last July's census isn't in yet but there appears to be no reason to believe the pattern has changed, unless to show an even higher percentage of older people.

The wisecracks about Victoria's senior citizens, the snide comments, contain a kernel of truth that makes them ugly.

If the majority of Greater Victoria's 26,000 senior citizens are relatively happy, have spouses, other relatives, friends or some social contact, there are other — no one knows how many — who exist in isolation from the outside world.

They sit in their rooms alone and afraid: sit, some of them, alone and waiting to die.

Caroline Swanky has worked with senior citizens over the past few years as both a volunteer in Victoria NDP MLA Charles Barber's community office and as secretary of the James Bay Resources Board.

Born around the turn of the century; older brothers dying in the First World War holocaust, married in the 20s; a young growing family by the time the Depression strikes; a decade of hardship is followed by the agony of sending older sons off to another war.

The woman is mother and housewife. The father is income earner, handles all the business, and for the most part the social contacts are the ones he makes through his job and other associations.

Finally the family has grown, retirement comes and they are lonely. A decision is made to migrate to Victoria for peer friendship and a milder climate.

But Victoria, like retirement itself, often does not prove to be the long-sought dream.

Swanky says men usually die within five years of coming here.

And his widow, suddenly thrust into a new situation finds she can't cope. She will die soon after, usually within two years of her husband's death, Caroline said.

Women with a traditional background deeply feel the loss of useful function in no longer having a partner to cook and care for — skills which took a lifetime to refine and are no longer required, retired social worker Clare McAllister writes in her booklet Loneliness.

The new friends which took so long to cultivate are couples. Now the widow is shunned socially. How can you play bridge without a partner?

Other problems loom: How does a furnace work? A will? Who should she call when something goes wrong with the plumbing?

Many are susceptible to ruthless sales techniques especially the newly-widowed whose husband handled all the business affairs.

Money worries become tantamount. The cost of everything is rising, but the pension is suddenly cut in half.

Even the banking system may be an enigma. Many widows have never written a cheque.

At the death of her husband, she enters into a period of private mourning.

This time is critical, Swanky suggests, because the longer the widow isolates herself, the harder it is for her to take that first step outside to begin living the rest of her life on her own.

Some never make it. They are too afraid to venture out socially. It takes all the courage they can muster to go to the store.

They become afraid to even answer the door.

Last summer University of Victoria student Gail Woodburn worked for the B.C. Directories knocking on doors to see if the same people occupied the address as the year before.

"I was surprised at the number of times — door after door — where I would catch a curtain move, or hear a sound inside, but no one would answer my knock."

Gail is an attractive young woman, wore neat clothes and worked during daylight hours There is nothing frightening about her.

And yet the fear is so strong they are not willing to take a chance.

It doesn't occur very often, a veteran Victoria police sergeant said, but from time to time police get a call from a neighbor who hasn't seen old Mrs. so-and-so around for a while.

HANDICAPPED DEMONSTRATE

About 100 people — 25 of them in wheelchairs or on crutches — gathered outside the legislature this morning to protest the government's social assistance program.

The 30 handicapped people travelled to Victoria from Vancouver this morning to meet with Human Resources Minister Bill Vander Zalm, but instead got an unexpected meeting with Finance Minister Evan Wolfe

Protest organizer Bruce Erikson the Downtown Eastside Residents Association in Vancouver said he was told by Vander Zalm's secretary this morning that the minister was out of town and instead, a meeting with Wolfe had been arranged for later today.

The protesters are attempting to get an increase in the allowances of all persons covered by the controversial Guaranteed Annual Income for Need (GAIN) legislation.

Many demonstrators carried signs proclaiming "GAIN is our LOSS."

NDP human resources critic Rosemary Brown said Vander Zalm's refusal to meet with the group was disgraceful.

She told the crowd the Social Credit government had kept its promises to the wealthy through its mining legislation and repeal of succession duties.

"Now it's time for him (the premier) to keep his promises to you," she said.

Cremation Protest By Clergy

A circular letter to Vancouver Island funeral directors from the Anglican Bishop of B.C. asks for their co-operation in contacting clergy before proceeding with cremation

Bishop Roy Gartrell says in the letter that occasionally, particularly in certain areas, cremation takes place and the ashes are disposed of immediately after the body is released from hospital, with no committal and no relatives present.

Only then is a priest contacted about a memorial service, for which the time and date have already been arranged by the funeral director

"In my opinion this is going beyond the limits of courtesy a director should exercise and beyond what any minister can tolerate without protest," he states in the letter dated Feb. 23

The bishop says Anglicans and others who look to Anglican priests for ministrations "should be sensitive to our convictions about death and burial, and about ministrations to the bereaved."

He notes it is Anglican custom to officiate at the committal of a body for cremation, either at the conclusion of a church service or sometimes with only the relatives present, before a public memorial service.

"In either case, the committal is an essential part of our service, and is vital in dealing with the grief process. To avoid it can lead to difficulties later with which the clergyman has to deal. In the end bereavement must be faced."

Reactions to the letter today varied widely among Victoria funeral directors.

Graham McCall, of McCall Brothers, said the sequence of events described by the bishop does sometimes occur at the request of relatives, but agreed that "it really isn't too polite to contact the clergyman after cremation has taken place."

But Laverne Sands, of Sands Mortuary Ltd., dismissed the letter as "just poppycock".

Pamphlets of the type enclosed with the letter to funeral directors have been circulated by the church for 20 years, he claimed.

"In other words don't spend anything on the funeral, don't spend anything on flowers, just send a straight donation to the church," Sands said.

McCall said the bishop's comment about "difficulties" subsequently arising from early cremation apparently refers to relatives of the deceased having regrets or second thoughts about the haste involved.

His firm has experienced such cases, he added.

"Psychiatrists' offices all over the country are filled with people wondering whether Mother, Dad, wife or whatever really passed away," he remarked.

McCall said the problem is difficult to resolve, if the relatives specifically request immediate cremation followed, a couple of days later, by a memorial service where there is no body present.

"It isn't really fair to the clergymen. Certainly they should be taken into the picture," he agreed, "but we can't do much else but take the instructions of the family."

As a result of Gartrell's letter, McCall said, "we are going to be more careful."

David Murphy, Victoria manager for first Memorial Services Ltd., which is the undertaker for the Memorial Society of B.C., said the arrangements are made in accordance with the family's wishes.

Archives Body Future 'Bright'

The future looks nothing but good for the Greater Victoria Civic Archives Society, city archivist Ainslie Helmcken said today.

He said the first annual meeting of the society Sunday night was an "outstanding success," attracting more than 60 people and an array of talented and willing volunteers who wish to help in the task of preserving Victoria's colorful history.

Among those present was Victoria MLA Charles Barber, and Helmcken said only a bour of flu kept away Recreation and Conservation Minister Sam Bawlf.

Officers will be elected by the directors themselves, said Helmcken.

He said among the projects to be undertaken by the society will be a history of public school education in Greater Victoria. It will be prepared by English, a former superintendent of education.

Gunman's Takeout Order $226

Police said the man entered shortly after 10 p.m. and pointed a revolver at Cathy Pearson, 17, who was working behind the counter.

No words were exchanged, but Cathy handed over the cash.

The suspect fled on foot. He is described as being six-feet, two inches tall, weighing 180 to 200 pounds, 20 to 24 years of age, clean-shaven with shoulder-length hair. He was wearing blue jeans and a blue ski jacket.

GYPSY TRIAL WITNESS DIES

A post mortem and a laboratory toxological analysis will be conducted to determine the exact cause of death of 29-year-old Sharon Fleming, I-2500 Dowler Place, who died suddenly Saturday, Coroner Edmund St. Jorre said today.

Mrs. Fleming was a witness in the "Gypsy" Dhillon murder trial under way in B.C. Supreme Court.

City police said foul play isn't suspected.

Mrs. Fleming, a friend of Mrs. Dhillon's, was a witness at her wedding two days before she was found dead in Esquimalt.

YELLOW TARGET SUB

Canadian and U.S. naval vessels using the Canadian forces test range at Nanoose soon will have their very own yellow submarine too fire at.

The former USS Menhaden, a U.S. Second World War diesel electric submarine, is expected to arrive at Nanoose, north of Nanaimo in early March for Spring and summer training.

The submarine will be used as a target, being lowered and raised from a buoy system for non-explosive torpedo testing. The sub has been painted yellow to help with post-trial analysis programs.

The unmanned target has been used on the Americans' navy range in Washington and is certified clean of all materials that might injure the marine environment.

It will display navigational markers and lights at all times on the Nanoose range and have a Canadian tug as a tender.

Fire Costly

Smoke and heat caused $10,000 to $15,000 damage in a house fire at 538 Meredith at 5:30 p.m. Sunday, Saanich police said.

No one was home when fire broke out in the rumpus room of the house rented by Walter Tsumura. The home is owned by Gyula Karpati of 1770 Kenmore. Cause of the fire is unknown.

ON A BROILING SUMMER afternoon, two young men tramped side by side along a pasture fenceline. The two were deep in conversation, but they were not alone.

A television camera mounted on a dolly rolled on silent wheels down rails that paralleled their course. The soundman, headset snugged over his ears, crouched by his electronic box with fingers busy at its dials.

Stilt-legged lights and lightboards were spotted at strategic vantage-points in the pasture grass. The scene was set, the camera rolling.

"Cut!"

The actors ended their stroll. They looked inquiringly at Director Don Ecclestone. So did the cameraman on the dolly. Would this be yet another aborted effort added to the dozen that had preceded it?

"That got it," Ecclestone said. "It's a take." The sequence that had cost actors and production crew a toilsome hour had finally come out right.

The silence that prevails during shooting broke in a buzz of voices. There was a general relaxing, a drift toward the portable coffee and cookie bar that goes with a crew on location.

Another show in CBC-Vancouver's durable series, The Beachcombers, had advanced one more stage on the journey from writer's script to viewers' screens.

But before the script comes the idea; and as a writer learns to his sorrow, ideas that will carry a show don't dangle from every bush.

Months before that sunny day on location, an idea presented itself, though not to me. My wife popped it during one of our 'what-if' sessions.

"How about this?" Win said. "What if a Japanese Canadian boy from Ontario came to the coast looking for his father's old fishboat?"

"Great!" I said. "What if the boat's a beat-up old troller a long way from the water? A boat in a bottle, sort of?"

One outline and two tough drafts later, the Boat in a Bottle script was ready for production. It would not be the one-shot half-hour show originally planned, but a two-partner to run on consecutive Sundays.

Locations must be birddogged and pinned down. A fishboat of the prescribed sort and vintage must be found. Also, a Japanese Canadian actor right for the role of the young inlander who would resurrect his father's troller must be hunted out.

The hunt for a boat went better than well. At Roberts Creek, a searcher lucked in on a venerable troller, which had been owned and worked by a Japanese Canadian fisherman until he was caught up in the shameful Second World War expulsion of his people from this coast.

But the third requirement was someting else again. The casting director searched her lists in vain for an actor to fit the part.

With time pressing and no prospect in sight, an appeal went out on television. It brought a swarm of applicants for auditions, and a call from a mother in Steveston.

Her UBC-graduate son was looking for summer work that would help him finance post-graduate courses in engineering. No, he had never done any acting. But she thought he might be suitable for the role.

An audition was arranged. Paul Kuriya checked in, a poised and pleasant-spoken young man who did not share his mother's optimism.

Again, the luck was in: the audition made that abundantly apparent. Paul proved to be more than merely photogenic. He was that rarest of birds, a natural actor. With minimum coaching, he would fill the bill.

So to that summer day on an island farm when two young men who had taken to each other and worked well together sweated out a scene with the camera's eye tracking them.

The other was Paul — in actual life as well as in his television role, the son of parents once exiled from the coast.

The end of it?

Paul, the non-actor who could act, finished this stint and went on to pursue his post-graduate training. The show was filed away in a pair of film cans for later screening.

The old troller nuzzles a mainland float-string, while here in our fitfully-operative idea hatchery, Win and I test each new 'What-if' for its echoes.

FINALLY A HOME
BUILT FOR MILADY
Certainly a must see for the lady who maintains her own home and entertains. Architected by a woman, the interior incorporates a subtle separation of daily activity from entertainment areas. The family focal point, a 16x30 kitchen-family rm may be entered directly from the 2 car garage through the mud rm. In this cluster is the laundry rm and a 2 pce powder rm. Adjacent is the den and a 16x12 dining rm with separate access to 20x16 living rm. A mezzanine level provides all bedroom facilities, 2 guest each over 150 sq. ft., nursery and 4-pce. bath, plus the master suite comprising 21x13 bedroom with associated 4 pce bath, dressing rm, and sauna rm. $168,900. British Also Idi's Guests Wednesday

NAIROBI, Kenya — Ugandan President Idi Amin is apparently summoning Britons as well as U.S. citizens to a meeting with him Wednesday at Entebbe airport, reports reaching Nairobi said today.

British diplomats in both Kampala, the Ugandan capital, and Nairobi said they were checking reports that members of the 200-strong British community were ordered to attend with the 240 Americans

Britain severed relations with Amin's regime in August, 1976, but two British diplomats still handle British interests out of the French embassy in Kampala.

Amin earlier moved his projected meeting with the Americans from a conference hall to Entebbe airport, delayed it from today until Wednesday and warned the United States not to emulate its Israeli allies with an attempted commando rescue.

Meanwhile, a spokeman for Amin denied Sunday a Nairobi newspaper report that a Cuban military delegation had arrived secretly in Uganda last week to assess the country's military needs.

The Daily Standard said Saturday it had learned that a Cuban team headed by a Gen. Francisco Cabrera had gone to Uganda.

The Ugandan presidential spokesman said there is no truth to the report.

In Washington, President Jimmy Carter said the U.S. government is watching the situation "closely, trying not to upset President Amin, and trying to take advantage of his good wishes that he has expressed."

Amin said no U.S. citizens will be allowed to leave the country and ordered the meeting Friday, two days after he said the United States, Britain and Israel were involved in a plot to overthrow him.

The official radio also warned Ugandans to be alert for signs of an invasion. It said after the Israeli raid on Entebbe last July, the presence of U.S naval vessels off the Kenyan coast "must be taken seriously."

The United States said the nuclear-powertd aircraft carrier Enterprise and its escorts are cruising in the Indian Ocean off East Africa following a goodwill visit to Kenya last week.

In Dar-es-Salaam, Uganda's former president Milton Obote runs an intelligence service on Uganda and Amin. From what he's heard from spies and reports coming out of Uganda, he is convinced that Amin's tactic behind the gathering of the Americans is to create a smokescreen to conceal a massive massacre of Acholi tribesmen. FORGOTTEN AND ALONE . . . WAITING Statistics show that one in every five Victorians is over 65, three times the national average.

Most are relatively happy but there are many who exist in isolation from the outside world, lonely and afraid, sitting in their rooms waiting to die.

Many come to Canada's retirement capital hoping to find peer friendship. Instead, they find they are simply old people whose past accomplishments are unknown and forgotten, Times reporter Paul Nicholson reports on their plight in the first of a two-part series today on page 9.

Attempt On Queen

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (UPI) — An off-duty policeman overpowered a man with a loaded air rifle today shortly before Queen Elizabeth was due to leave Parliament House.

Police said off-duty detective Bill Hooper, who has signed off 30 minutes earlier to watch the Queen open the second session of Parliament, grabbed the 28-year-old man from behind as he pulled the rifle from a gun case.

Hooper wrestled with him while other police pushed their way through the crowd of an estimated 10,000 persons.

The man had taken up a position about 30 feet from the barricades outside Parliament House and about 65 feet from where the Queen was due to pass after leaving the building.

Chief Inspector Roger Cotterill, security co-ordinator for the royal visit to Wellington, said:

"The man had already been spotted by our surveillance headquarters and police were quietly moving toward him when Detective Hooper arrested him."

Cotterill said the man was carrying a .22 air rifle.

30% Pact IWA's Goal

VANCOUVER (CP) — The International Woodworkers of America has outlined 1977 contract proposals including a wage increase of $1 an hour which would mean a 30-per-cent package increase for 42,000 forest workers in B.C.

"We are going to negotiate in line with the economics of our industry," Jack Munro, the union's regional president, said after a three-day contract conference. "In our section, the economics are very good."

Munro said housing starts in the United States, a major B.C. lumber market, are improving and forest companies are showing more confidence.

He also said many union proposals such as pension benefits, health and safety and job reclassification are excluded from federal anti-inflation guidelines.

Other contract proposals include a master agreement for coast and interior adjustment improvements, guaranteed annual earnings, pension upgrading and a plan to allow research into health matters by the union.

The union also proposes joint investigation of industrial democracy — worker participation in company decisions.

Munro estimated the proposals amount to about $3 an hour. Under the agreements that expire in June, the average package hourly rate is $10.20, and the base rate is $7.01.

"If the industry is concerned about their employees I think the chances of a strike are pretty remote," Munro said.

The union leader said the master agreement, pensions and the guaranteed annual income are extremely important and the union will only accept a one-year agreement.

The IWA hopes to have the specifics of a guaranteed income plan worked out by the time negotiations begin.

Munro estimated that by levying a cent an hour from employers for health research, a $500,000-a-year fund could be created which would be administered by the union.

He said northern and southern interior negotiators will be asked to join the coast negotiations this year, rather than settle separate agreements as has previously been the case.

There was little immediate reaction from the employers.

Fish Packer Strike Starts

The United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union have declared a strike in a pay dispute affecting tendermen — although there is no work to be striking at this time.

Union president Jack Nichol said the herring season is normally under way at this time but because of a low roe content in herring, the season is at least one week away.

However, the fishermen will press their strike in hopes of a quick solution to the issue.

The union and the B.C. Fisheries Association have agreed on new rates for fishermen at $283 a ton for gillnetters and $143.50 a ton as the crew's share on seiners but the fishermen will honor all picket lines of 500 tendermen who have not yet come to terms. (Picture, Page 2.)

Tendermen, who handle the transfer of fish from the fishings grounds to canneries, are asking an interim increase before the major contracts are negotiated for the salmon season in April.

The union asked for a six per cent interim increase. The association countered with a three per cent interim increase offer but has pressed its view that the tendermen should wait until a master contract for salmon is negotiated in April.

Union canneries were picketed today in Vancouver but there were no picket lines at B.C. Packers in Victoria as of 11 a.m.

Nichol said he would be in Victoria Tuesday to see if a picket line should go up here.

Talks were continuing today in hopes of resolving the dispute.

The strike began at 2 p.m. Sunday and all union workers honored the picket lines.

Some non-union fishermen went to sea but herring are not ripe for catching in many areas. The herring are caught for their roe (mass of eggs) which is shipped to Japan where it's considered a delicacy.

B.C. Nurse Strike Notice

British Columbia's 2,600 government - employed registered nurses will serve 72-hour strike notice Tuesday, union spokesman Jerry Miller announced today.

"We have no choice but to serve strike notice because the Government Employee Relations Bureau has rejected our request for binding arbitration," he said.

The nurses staff all the public health units in B.C. as well as eight major psychiatric hospitals, including Glendale Hospital in Saanich.

The strike notice is going to Mike Davison, chief negotiator for the Government Employee Relations Bureau by registered letter today and if received by Davison Tuesday, as expected, it would take effect in 72 hours, which would be some time Friday.

"This does not mean we will immediately go on strike," Miller said.

"We are repeating our request for binding arbitration and we are willing to meet Mr. Davison if he is prepared to sit down and begin serious negotiations. The key word there is serious. We have been in mediation for six months and nothing has been achieved."

The nurses sent Davison an ultimatum on Feb. 25 that they would serve strike notice

U.S. DEFICIT WORST EVER

WASHINGTON (UPI) The United States suffered its worst monthly trade deficit in history in January as imports exceeded exports by $1.67 billion, the commerce department reported today.

Cold weather, which forced plant closings and hampered the movement of goods, was the major reason for the record deficit, the report said.

Supertanker Law To Top Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Supreme Court today agreed to review a Washington State law limiting the size of oil tankers on Puget Sound and other inland waters.

The justices said they will study a ruling by a three-judge federal court in Seattle that the state law is pre-empted by federal statures and presents an undue burden on interstate commerce.

Governor Dixy Lee Ray and other state officials asked the court to reverse that decision to protect scenic Puget Sound and the Gulf Island's, described as "resource of priceless value."

The court's eventual decision could carry considerable impact for other states with major ports.

Atlantic Richfield Co., which owns and operates an oil refinery at Cherry Point of Georgia Strait, and Seatrain Lines, Inc., a shipbuilding and ship operating firm, successfully sued the state in a challenge of the 1975 law.

The three-judge panel struck down the law last November, but state officials won permission from the supreme court to continue enforcing it pending the state's appeal.

The lower court ruled that the state pollution protection measure, drafted to "decrease the likelihood of oil spills," is pre-empted by the federal Ports and Waterways Safety Act of 1972.

In its appeal to the supreme court, the state argued that the federal statute "does not express a clear and manifest purpose to pre-empt state regulation."

Seattle Blossoms with Our Daffodils

More than 2,000 Seattle residents were wearing Victoria daffodils today and 1,000 Tacoma citizens were due to get "pinned" Tuesday in a three-day Bloomin Blitz of Washington State.

Mayor Mike Young was up at 6 a.m. pinning daffodils on staff members at Seattle's Olympic Hotel, headquarters for the Victoria Chamber of Commerce tourist campaign.

At 10 a.m. he and Provincial Secretary Grace McCarthy strolled for three blocks handing out daffodils to pedestrians. At one point they climbed aboard a city bus and shook hands with the passengers and offered flowers.

They attended a two-hour briefing session Sunday night, conducted by Ald. Helen Beirnes and Dennis Eyolfson, in preparation for the flower blitz.

Eyolfson was up at 4:30 a.m. today organizing the early risers into teams to begin the flower assault.

First target, after the hotel staff, were the secretaries on their way to work. Teams of four went out at 8 a.m. and handed flowers to the secretaries, many of whom arrive for work at 8:30 a.m. The flowers contain a small banner reading: Victoria, Canada's best blooming city.

The teams went to major department stores at 9 a.m. to pin clerks on their way to work.

A series of television and newspaper interviews were being conducted featuring Young, McCarthy and chamber officials.

On Tuesday the team will head to Tacoma where an outdoor festival is planned to greet them at 10 a.m.

Bands and dancers will perform in honor of the visitors and organized by the Downtown Tacoma Association.

The chamber hopes the blitz will increase the flow of tourists, starting with the Victorian Days festival in May.
